SINGULAR LIFE.

DEATH OF BARONET.

Body Found at Yuma Railway Station.

Sir Arthur Cowell Stepney Meets End as Mysterious Stranger.

Ordered Carriage for Drive But Was Lifeless When It Came.

Had Large Deposit in Los Angeles Bank and Was Visitor Here.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

YUMA, July 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Sir Arthur Cowell Stepney, an English baronet with large estates and a scientist of distinction, was found dead today in the train conductors' room of the Southern Pacific station. Among his papers was found a deposit slip for $13,000 in a Los Angeles bank.

Until a search of the dead man's belongings had been made his identity was a mystery, as he had registered at the hotel as W. C. Stepney of Seattle. His presence here is a mystery.

The address of a firm of London solicitors, evidently his representatives, was found among his papers and they have been cabled for instructions.

Stepney had ordered a carriage for a drive, but when it came could not be found about the hotel, and only an extended search revealed his resting place in the station. Life was extinct when a physician, who had been hastily summoned, reached him.

Gold and notes to the amount of several hundred dollars were found upon the dead man, and receipts and bank books among his effects showed him to be a person of large means. He carried a quantity of luggage and had apparently recently landed from a sea voyage.

Sir Arthur Cowell Stepney was the only instance of a wealthy English baronet publicly renouncing and abjuring, so to speak, an inherited honor of this kind, although many other titled Englishmen have dropped the prefixes to their names on coming to America.

The divorce suit of Stepney's wife, which was heard in London in May, 1903, was one of the strangest ever recorded in the English courts. The charge was desertion.

The marriage took place in 1875. There were during the first few months certain eccentricities on the part of the respondent to which Lady Cowell Stepney did not pay much attention. On the birth of their daughter, in September, 1876, he showed the greatest delight. On October 6, 1876, he left his home and had never since lived with his wife.

Certain allegations, which Cowell Stepney made at the time against his wife, were investigated, and were found to be baseless. They were the result of mental delusion, for which he was treated by Sir William Gull and Dr. Maudsley, which resulted in his being sent abroad with a doctor in 1877. In 1882 husband and wife met, and he showed then, as at all times, great affection for his daughter.

In 1890 he fell under the strange delusion that certain pictures of an impure kind were being made of his daughter, and he wrote to Lady Stepney to the effect that such portraiture would be damaging to the future welfare of their child. Lady Stepney said that the charges were the result of a mental delusion, and she said she had never allowed anything to which Sir Arthur might object to be brought before the court of chancery with regard to the custody of the child.

Cowell Stepney's baronetcy, which "dropped," according to his own account on his becoming an American citizen, was conferred upon his father in 1871 by the late Queen Victoria. His family was an ancient one, and Sir Arthur claimed descent on the Distaff side of his house from the Plantagenet kings and likewise from the old princes and chieftains of Wales. As he had no son by his English wife and as the latter, as well as the English courts,

AND NIGHTS, TOO.

BUSY DAYS AHEAD FOR BIG ATLANTIC FLEET.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

BOSTON, July 2.—A tentative programme for maneuvers of the great battleship fleet that will assemble in Provincetown next week for the summer drill, was announced today by Rear-Admiral Schroeder, who will command the largest and strongest aggregation of warships that has ever assembled in American waters. There are to be seventeen battleships, six fleet auxiliaries, the torpedo flotilla of twelve boats, the submarine flotilla, with six boats, and three scout cruisers.

From July 7 until late in August, the fleet will engage in elaborate tactical maneuvers.

An important matter in connection with the reassembling of the Atlantic fleet, is the addition of several new ships and the almost complete change in the fleet and division commanders.

The new ships are the New Hampshire, Idaho, Wisconsin and Mississippi. These replace the Illinois, Kearsarge and Kentucky.

The work laid out for the fleet will occupy every day and some of the nights and includes fleet, squadron and division evolutions, offense and defense against torpedo boats and submarines, anchoring and getting under way in all classes of formation.

The naval reserves of Massachusetts, Maine, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New Jersey and the District of Columbia will work with the regular officers and men from July 26 to 31, inclusive.

WIDOWS HOLD BIG REUNION

Forty-six Meet in Wilkesbarre Park to "Enjoy Each Others' Sympathy."

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WILKESBARRE (Pa.) July 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Forty-six widows, aged from 23 to 77 years, all from Berwick and vicinity, held their fifth annual reunion at Fairchild's Park today.

Each year the widows assemble to enjoy a day of mutual sympathy. There was not a man in the park. Not because they would not have been allowed so much as because they did not come.

The oldest member of the association, Mrs. Florence Harman, who is 83, was not able to be present, and it was decided to send her a bouquet and basket of fruit as a remembrance.

There are rumors that the widowers of Berwick will organize, and that next year there will be a joint picnic.

"GARRY" HERRMANN COMING.
HIS WELCOME ALL READY.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CINCINNATI (O.) July 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The "Garry Herrmann Special" of eight Pullman coaches leaves Cincinnati Monday night next for Los Angeles. There will be over 200 loyal supporters of the big candidate for Grand Exhalted Ruler aboard, many accompanied by ladies.

The party will include the most prominent Elks in Cincinnati, Newport and Covington, Ky., and Hamilton, O. The special goes to Chicago, thence to Omaha, Ogden and Salt Lake.

Arrangements have been made for a six-hour stay in the Utah capital, with an organ recital in the great tabernacle, and a bathing party in Salt Lake as features. From Salt Lake there will be no stops until Los Angeles is reached. Los Angeles lodge of Elks has sent word that it will give Cincinnati a great reception when the train rolls into the depot of the "City of Angels," Friday, July 9.

The Cincinnatians will be met in Los Angeles by the famous "White Squadron" of that city. They will be quartered at the Virginia Hotel, Long Beach.

TWO FAVORITE "DAUGHTERS OF THE CABINET."

Misses Julia and Alice Meyer, daughters of Secretary of the Navy, who have just returned from European trip to the family home at Hamilton, Mass., and who will be hostesses to many guests from the capital this summer.

SUMMER CAPITAL.

WASHINGTON READY FOR VACATION TREK.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, July 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The location of a summer capital on the Atlantic Coast, where high government and diplomatic officials might be gathered in some sort of proximity, is a subject of much animated discussion here. Oyster Bay gained a world-wide reputation during the administration of Theodore Roosevelt, but it was a purely Rooseveltian resort, so far as Washington was concerned.

Now the tide has turned toward New England, led by the selection of President Taft of a Connecticut home. Rhode Island and Massachusetts have been in favor with those who leave Washington for the hot months in preference to points closer at hand, and if a summer capital should be developed, as a matter of custom it will probably be in that region.

One of the social attractions of Massachusetts for the Washington summer colony is the location at Hamilton of the family of Secretary Meyer. The Meyers are leaders in both government and diplomatic circles, and their domicile always has a tendency to become the social vortex.

Mrs. Meyer and her daughters, Julia and Alice, have just returned from a visit to Rome, Naples and Milan. Hamilton is the family home, which the Meyers chose when they were Bostonians. They returned directly there on landing, and will be hostesses to many visitors from the capital before they return to Washington for next season.

The Misses Meyer are of widely contrasted types, but both beautiful and accomplished. Their mother is one of the most charming and graceful women in society. Their residence in Massachusetts is one of the factors that will add to the attractions of the Bay State for the location of the summer capital of this administration.

UNBEARABLE.

MANY FALL VICTIM TO BLISTERING HOT WAVE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ST. LOUIS, July 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Friday was the hottest day of the season, thus far, the mercury registering 96 degs. in the shade at 4 o'clock this afternoon. Three deaths and three serious prostrations were reported during the day, on account of the excessive heat.

Henry Guth, a painter, was killed by falling from a scaffold when rendered dizzy by the heat.

Mrs. Anna Randall and Mel Bechman died from heat.

Otto Ziegler, John Obermayer and John Barry were seriously prostrated. At 9 p.m. the mercury stood at 91 degs.

KILLS MADDENED STEER.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PRINCETON (Ind.) July 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A heat-maddened steer, which he was driving through the street, attacked Martin Fennel, a cattle buyer, this afternoon, knocked him to the ground and gored him. Before the animal could renew the attack Fennel leaped to his feet, grasped the steer by the horns, and by a tremendous twist threw it on its side and held it down. The animal died in a few minutes from over-heat and the force of its fall. Fennel will recover.

WEATHER BUREAU HOPES.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, July 2.—Three men, one of them a negro, died today as the result of heat prostration here yesterday. It was well over 90 today. The hot weather condition over the country is beginning to break up, and the Weather Bureau today predicted more nearly normal conditions in "the next several days."

SALOONS CLOSE AT DARK.

OMAHA (Neb.) July 2.—The unanimity with which the 263 saloons in Omaha obeyed the daylight closing law which went into effect at midnight last night was the feature of the first day's operation of the statute in Omaha. At 8 o'clock tonight every saloon in the city was closed. With the passing of the night saloon "free lunch" was dispensed with. All saloons which heretofore have served lunches without charge today posted placards to that effect.

FIRE GUTS COBALT.

Flame-Swept Ontario Mining Town Suffers Heavy Loss—One Dead, Thousands Homeless.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

COBALT (Ontario) July 2.—Fire swept through Cobalt today, causing a loss of $350,000 to $400,00, at least one death and the injury of six persons.

It is estimated that 2000 persons are homeless.

Starting in the kitchen of a Chinese restaurant, the flames swept both sides of the street clean for half a mile.

Dynamite was used to check the flames. An unknown foreigner, who rushed into a building just as a charge went off, was killed.

With the assistance of apparatus from Haileyburg and New Liskeard, the fire was finally controlled.

Not more than a tenth of the loss is insured.

PITIFUL.

BEGS COURT FOR BABY BROTHER.

"DON'T TAKE MY CHILDREN," PLEADS YOUNGSTER.

Thirteen-Year-Old Boy Tells Judge How He Has Cared for the Little Ones Since Their Mother Disappeared Six Months Ago—Family Is Separated.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, July 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] "Oh, please, please, Mr. Judge, don't take my children from me," pleaded 13-year-old Percy Nourse, as he sat on the witness stand in the Brooklyn Children's Court today, the arms of his tiny 2-year-old brother Eugene clasped tightly around his neck.

"Every day, since mother went away six months ago, Genie has had his bath and Charles and Leonard and Daisy have had the best of care. Only once I had to spank Daisy, when she threw her doll out of the window."

The five little children were all in court, and the four younger ones, who range from 2 to 11 years, were shining proofs of the big brother's applications of soap and water.

Neighbors living near the Nourse home, reported the case to the Children's Society, and Officer Charles A. Blood found that Percy had undertaken all the household duties since his mother disappeared. His father worked all day, leaving the household duties entirely to Percy. There was a pathetic scene in court today when the children were separated for the first time in their lives, the younger ones being sent to the Children's Aid Society until permanent action can be taken.

VOTES TO SPARE.

TAFT BILL CARRIES.

Senate Adopts Tax On Corporations.

Amendment Suggested by the President Has Large Majority.

Sudden Action Forced by the Opposition of Senator Cummins.

Aldrich Returns from Vacation and Meets With Easy Victory.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, July 2.—The corporation tax amendment, suggested by President Taft, drawn by Atty.-Gen. Wickersham and presented to the Senate by Chairman Aldrich of the Finance Committee, is an integral part of the tariff bill, as that bill now stands.

The Senate reached a vote on the proposition shortly before adjourning at 7 o'clock this evening, and the amendment was agreed to by the large vote of 40 to 11.

With all modifying amendments disposed of, many Democrats voted for the amendment, with most of the Republicans.

The test vote was on the substitution of the corporation amendment for the income tax provision, and on that vote, forty-five Senators cast their ballots in the affirmative and thirty-one in the negative. On this ballot, all the Democratic votes were cast in favor of the income tax, which also received the support of a number of the insurgent Republicans.

The income tax question disposed of, the Senate tomorrow will enter upon the administrative features of the tariff bill, probably taking up the maximum and minimum provision.

The reaching of a vote came as somewhat of a surprise to a large majority of the Senators, but not to Senator Aldrich and his intimate advisors. Mr. Aldrich expressed confidence from the time of his arrival in the Senate early in the day, after a brief vacation, that he would succeed in getting a vote before adjournment.

ANIMATED DEBATE.

The debate was somewhat more animated than yesterday, and there was a steady fire of oratory from the beginning of the session at 10 o'clock until 4:30. During that time Senators Heyburn, Hughes, Cummins, Newlands, Rayner, Brandegee, Root and Aldrich discussed all phases of the income tax question.

Of these, Mr. Newlands was the last speaker. Mr. Aldrich then asked for a unanimous agreement for a vote on the corporation tax amendment tomorrow at 11 o'clock. Mr. Aldrich had previously been conferring with Messrs. Bailey, Cummins, Borah and other opponents of the amendment, and it was generally supposed they had reached an understanding the vote should be reached tomorrow. When it was seen such compact was probable, Mr. Cummins made an objection. His objection to the unanimous vote had the effect of preventing the fixing of the vote for tomorrow, but of forcing it today.

With the assistance of apparatus from Haileyburg and New Liskeard, the fire was finally controlled.

The vote first was upon the motion to substitute the corporation tax amendment for the Lodge countervailing duty amendment, and this prevailed by a vote of 45 to 31. The affirmative vote was cast entirely by Republicans.

AMENDMENTS TABLED.

Before the vote upon the corporation tax provision upon its own merits could be reached, Mr. Bacon sought to obtain action on two amendments presented by himself, both of which Mr. Aldrich moved to lay upon the table, which was done.

The first of these amendments provided for an exemption of educational, charitable and religious institutions and the second requested the taxation of bonds.

Senator Heyburn lost no time at the opening in taking the floor in the Senate to present a technical objection to the income tax bill.

Business began with the presentation of petitions relating to the corporation tax, many of which came from the far Northwest.

From Spokane, Wash., 106 merchants appealed to the Senate for support of the tax as proposed by the President because, as they said, it safeguarded the private information of business institutions.

The Inman Poulson Lumber Company of East Portland wanted the "pernicious corporation tax" killed, while W. B. Ayer of Portland, considered the proposed tax as extremely unfair, "as it places the burden only on the great industrial life of the country."

There was also a protest from the Mutual Insurance Company of New Jersey, which insisted that such corporations were not the proper subject of taxation under the proposed scheme of taxing the corporations organized for profit.

HEYBURN'S OBJECTION.

Mr. Heyburn's objection was that the amendment was too indefinite to make it operative. The first provision of the bill fixes a tax of 2 per cent. on the net income of corporations. The Idaho Senator contended that under this language it would be quite impossible to determine the object of the bill or to enforce its provisions, be-

BIRD-LIKE.

WRIGHT MAKES TWO FIGHTS.

Slight Mishap Mars Success of Aviator.

Balky Motor Once More the Cause of Trouble.

Accident Will Entail Fresh Delay of Trials.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, July 2.—After making two successful flights today, the Wright aëroplane met with a slight mishap which will delay further tests until next week.

The machine, with Orville Wright at the helm, was on its way around the Fort Myer drill grounds for the ninth time in the second flight when the motor stopped suddenly, sixty feet above the earth.

The great bird-like machine came to a standstill, then glided to the earth without injury to its occupants, landing exactly at the same place where the fatal accident occurred last September. In gliding to a stand the machine struck a tree and swerved around with such force that the skids were broken and the right wing badly ripped.

After the mishap Orville said he would not be ready for another flight before Tuesday at the earliest.

The motor on the aëroplane had been missing explosions for some time before it stopped. Evidently some change had been made either in the sparker or the motor, as it was developing more power than on the previous day.

FLIGHTS SUCCESSFUL.

Despite the mishap the two flights today were the most successful that Orville Wright has made at the fort since his return to complete his trials.

On the first attempt he flew about the field twelve times in 11m. 30s., and on the second trial he had gone around eight and one-half times when the flight was terminated.

During both flights Mr. Wright went higher and faster than in the trials of the two previous days. It was estimated that his speed was about thirty-seven miles an hour on an average, although the machine probably exceeded forty miles when flying with the breeze.

Orville got away in splendid shape on the first trial, the machine traveling with greater steadiness than in former trials. Orville on the first flight landed within 200 feet of the starting tower and the aëroplane came down "as light as a feather."

SORRY FOR AUTOISTS.

"I would rather fly over that country in our aëroplane than ride over it in your automobile," said Wilbur Wright yesterday to a scouting party preparing to traverse the dusty, red Virginia roads between Fort Myer and Alexandria, along the course over which his brother was soon to fly.

The automobile did puncture a tire, and the stifling heat along the clay bottoms and through the woods was all but intolerable.

The course for the official flight begins at Fort Myer, across the river from Washington on a high plateau, and extends, somewhat east of south, five miles to the turning point on a hill west of Alexandria, which will be made visible from Fort Myer by a small, bright yellow balloon, marking its location.

OVER BROKEN COUNTRY.

The country between is broken and rather heavily wooded, but at intervals there are open fields offering landing places in case of emergency. This will be the first flight across broken country in heavier-than-air machines. Last evening's flight over the open, level parade ground at Fort Myer exhibited curious effects of buildings and foliage upon the atmospheric currents, and the conditions over an extensive and diversified area will be studied by the Wrights and the signal corps officers.

The highest altitude yet negotiated by the Wrights is 284 feet—Wilbur Wright making that height for a prize in France—but at one point in the Virginia course, if he maintains a level flight, he will be fully 300 feet above the ground.

The test is expected to demonstrate the value of an aëroplane in military service.

WILL BUY BALLOON.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

LOUISVILLE (Ky.) July 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] "Greatest thing in the world. I am going to buy a balloon myself. Splendid trip; just grand."

This was the exclamation of Cyrus E. Mead, capitalist, of Dayton, O., and one of the four men who at 10.30 o'clock last night left that city in the balloon Hoosier, spent the night in the clouds, passed over Louisville at 10.05 o'clock today, and landed in an open field on the farm of George Stukenberg, three miles southeast of the city on the Poplar Level road. The other members of the party are as enthusiastic about balloons and their trip as Mr. Mead.

The party was composed of Capt. G. A. Dumbaugh of Indianapolis, a licensed balloon pilot, who was in command; Dr. L. E. Custer, I. G. Cutler and Cyrus E. Mead, business men of Dayton.

The flight was taken merely as a pleasure trip and adventure. Mead, who is in the street-railway, gas and electrical business, talked entertainingly of the novel voyage.

The members of the party report that while passing over Louisville they experienced three different air currents. A downward current caused them to throw overboard about twenty-five pounds of sand, as the huge gas bag, which contained about 80,000 cubic feet of gas, floated over Floyd and Chestnut streets. The shower terrified the pedestrians. The balloon anchored with no difficulty.

TO TEST MONOPLANE.

THEN TO CROSS CHANNEL.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

CALAIS, July 2.—Herbert Latham, the French monoplane flyer, has decided to undertake a series of trial flights before attempting to cross the English Channel. These will delay his long flight for at least a fortnight.

POLAR POSSIBILITIES.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

BERLIN, July 2.—The proposal to reach the North Pole in a Zeppelin airship is regarded as feasible by Erick von Drygalski, the well-known geographer and polar explorer, who said today that the accomplishment of the project lies within the radius of action which Count Zeppelin already has demonstrated as possible for his craft. The dangerous and severe Arctic storms must be reckoned with.

EMBARRASS MR. DEPEW.

Senate Has the Laugh on Aged Senator from New York.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, July 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Senate today enjoyed a good joke at the expense of Senator Depew.

Vice-President Sherman left the chamber for a few minutes and asked Mr. Depew to take his place. At the end of about twenty minutes he returned and relieved Mr. Depew, who resumed his seat on the floor.

A few moments later Senator McCumber of North Dakota arose and said:

"Mr. President," seeking recognition.

"The Senator from North Dakota," Mr. Depew announced from his desk on the floor, forgetting he no longer had the chair.

Mr. McCumber began to talk, but he found that Senator Root of New York was speaking at the same time.

It was some time before the situation dawned on the Senate, and the laughter that followed actually embarrassed Mr. Depew.

Herr Von Drygalski regards the geographic and scientific aims of the expedition as fully justifying the venture, and the expense entailed.

PLANS FOR TRIP.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

KIEL, July 2.—Prof. Hergesell of the University of Strassburg has turned over to Emperor William complete plans for the proposed Zeppelin trip to the North Pole. He explained the idea also to the Prince of Monaco, who probably will give financial assistance.

Herring Wants More Time.

WASHINGTON, July 2.—It is understood that A. M. Herring, the aëroplane inventor, whose contract time for furnishing a flying machine to the government expired yesterday, will ask for an extension of time.

RAILROAD RECORD.

HILL FORGES ANOTHER LINK.

His Far-Reaching Plans Are Now Revealed.

Seeking to Connect Chicago With the Gulf.

Move Means Invasion of the Harriman Field.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, July 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A far-reaching plan of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad to extend its present system south of the Ohio River was revealed today through the announcement of the incorporation of the Herrin Southern Railroad at Metropolis, Ill.

This is said to be the first step toward the construction of a new line, 600 miles in length, connecting Chicago with the Gulf of Mexico by a direct route. The recent acquisition of the Colorado and Southern by the Jim Hill interests, which give the Burlington a connection with the Gulf from Denver, showed the intention to invade Harriman's field, in competition with the Southern Pacific.

A direct line from Chicago to the Gulf at New Orleans, Mobile or Galveston would bring the Burlington into direct competition with another Harriman line, the Illinois Central. This would be virtually paralleled by the Hill lines, throughout its entire length, from Chicago to Omaha, and from Chicago to the Gulf.

The Colorado and Southern line is principally useful as an outlet for the products of the Southwest to the Puget Sound region, where a short connection will suffice to connect it with the Great Northern and Northern Pacific.

Shortening Main Line.

SEATTLE (Wash.) July 2.—The Northern Pacific begun actual construction of the Lolo Pass cut-off, which will extend from Missoula, Mont., to Pasco, Wash., and shorten the main line between St. Paul and Seattle 100 miles.

AMBASSADOR PUZZLED.

Italian Minister to Mexico Not Sure of Prisoner Suspected of Slaying Petrosino.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

CITY OF MEXICO, July 2.—Minister Ranuzzi Segni of Italy questioned here regarding the possible identification of Carmele Alvaro, or Paolo Demonceo, held here as the slayer of Detective Petrosino of New York at Palermo, Sicily, said that he had communicated with the Italian authorities in an effort to determine the identity of the man. He said that he believed that Alvaro escaped from an Italian prison ten years ago while serving a sentence.

Minister Segni intimated that requisition papers would arrive soon.

PENDING HER DIVORCE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

RENO (Nev.) July 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Applications for alimony and counsel fees was made this morning by Fannie Weinberg of Baltimore, Md., the defendant in an action for divorce by Harry A. Weinberg. She is without means of support other than an allowance of $15 per week which the Circuit Court of the State of Maryland has ordered her husband to pay. She is compelled to support herself and three minor children. Mrs. Weinberg states that her husband is capable of a large earning capacity, and is a member of the firm of Siegel, Rothschild & Co. of Baltimore. The plaintiff is asking for a divorce on grounds of extreme cruelty.

Sacramento Butcher Provides for His Family in Unusual Manner.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, July 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] If the request of Amos C. Remick in his last will is carried out, his widow will be supplied with meat free of charge for the remainder of her life. Remick was a butcher and left an estate valued at about $12,000. A half interest in his butcher shop was owned by his son, Amos H. Remick, and the other half interest was bequeathed to him in the will. In the document, however, the father requested that the son supply the mother with meat for the rest of her life. The rest of the estate goes to the widow, with the exception of bequests of $100 to each of four children.

PRESCOTT (Ariz.) June 30.—From Flagstaff has come complaint that the order of the Forestry Department prohibiting the use of automobiles along the Grand Cañon is simply in the interest of a transportation monopoly at El Tovar. BRYANITE HOPELESS.

Mayor of Tombstone Reconsiders Vow and Has His Hair Cut.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

TOMBSTONE (Ariz.) July 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] There is excitement here over the fact that Mayor Wentworth has had his hair cut. Wentworth has been distinguished for many years in the Southwest by his flowing white locks, which deeply covered his shoulders.

In 1896, he vowed that the scissors should not again touch his hair until William J. Bryan became President, and silver was restored to a ratio of 16 to 1. Undoubtedly the Mayor has concluded that the statute of limitations has run against Bryan and the free coinage of silver. Mayor Wentworth is still a Democrat, though he has not followed the party in its extremes of platform construction.

FLAW IN DEED.

ASKS MILLION AND QUARTER.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

BISBEE (Ariz.) June 29.—A suit lately filed at Tombstone against the Copper Queen Mining Company of Arizona, by Dr. Thomas Winders of San Francisco, claims $1,250,000 as the value of a fourth interest in the Black Jack mining claim, from which it is claimed the company has taken ore valued at $15,000,000. The basis for the suit, it is claimed, is that the deed from Winders's father was not signed also by the mother, as required by the laws of Arizona.

Alderman W. N. Edwards of Bisbee has been convicted at Tombstone of extortion, in accepting money from the parents of two boys as hush money for a crime which was not committed.

Northern Sonora is suffering from the worst drouth known for years. Many mines and mills have been shut down for lack of water, and cattle are starving, owing to the distance between water and feed. Rains are about due, however, and a better state of affairs are expected very soon.

The Interstate Commerce Commission has decided that the El Paso and Southwestern Railroad Company may not charge more than $3.50 a ton on hay from Deming to Bisbee nor more than $4.50 from El Paso to Bisbee, and has been ordered to make restitution for amounts collected above this rate to complainants Darbyshire and Evans.

Harry Fields, badly burned last week by a gasoline explosion, has developed temporary insanity through his suffering and has had to be removed to the County Hospital.

RECOVER HIS BODY.

DROWNS THROUGH FEAR.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

SEATTLE, July 2.—Ensign McKain, heading a searching party from the United States armored cruiser Pennsylvania, now at Bremerton, recovered the body of A. Clark, a sailor on the cruiser, who was drowned in a peculiar manner in Angel Lake, a few miles south of Seattle.

Clark was sailing with two companions in a small boat on the lake. A sudden squall struck the boat, and fearing that it was going to capsize, Clark jumped into the water. The boat did not capsize, but Clark sank before aid could reach him.

Clark's home is at Bremerton. He is the second member of the Pennsylvania's crew to meet with accidental death since the cruiser came to the Sound the latter part of May. The other was Boatswain Alexander Hamilton, of Brooklyn, N. Y., who was fatally injured when the anchor chain broke as the ship was casting her anchor the night she entered the harbor.

ORDERED TO LEAVE.

UNCLE SAM DON'T WANT HER.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SEATTLE (Wash.) July 2.—United States immigration officers today arrested and took to the detention station Mrs. Vera De Noie, who arrived recently from Hongkong, charging that she is not entitled to enter the United States.

Mrs. De Noie arrived in San Francisco from China in April, bringing beautiful furniture, said to be valued at $30,000, which she sought to enter as household goods. In her controversy with the customs officers she claimed acquaintance with a number of United States Senators and a former Governor of an eastern State, whom, she said, she had entertained at her home in Hongkong.

The goods were admitted on payment of small duty, and Mrs. De Noie took up residence in a fashionable part of Seattle, where she soon was arrested for selling liquor without a license.

Yesterday the government ordered her furniture reappraised, and today she was arrested and held for examination and possible deportation.

JOKE, SAYS HE, CRIME, SAY FRIENDS.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

SAN JOSE, July 2.—J. R. Chace, manager of the Associated Oil Company, who, several days ago, received a letter threatening his life unless he deposited $1000 at a certain spot on the bank of the Guadalupe River, last Tuesday night, is inclined to believe that the letter is a joke, but his friends think differently. He followed the instructions, filling the canvas bag with iron washers, and two friends remained hidden near the spot all night, but no one approached the place. Investigation Wednesday morning revealed a boat moored just below, attached to which was a long line with a large grab hook at the end.

With this contrivance the boat owner could row above the spot where the bag was sunk in the water and remove it without bringing it to the surface. In the letter to Chace the author warned him that if he informed the police, he would be dynamited or poisoned.

Railroad Depot and Business Block Destroyed.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

RENO, July 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Fire, discovered shortly after midnight this morning, destroyed the building at Amadeo, occupied by the postoffice, depot and express office. In a few moments the entire structure was in flames.

H. C. Clayton, the railroad agent, with his wife and two young children, lived on the upper floor. Clayton and his wife were downstairs in the office the little ones asleep above. Clayton, who is a sufferer from rheumatism, rushed upstairs through flames and smoke to the bedroom.

Snatching the sleeping children, the father fled with his precious burden. Fire caught the night robes of the little ones, and terribly burned the rescuer about the head and hands.

Clayton was unconscious when picked up still clinging to his loved ones, who were badly but not seriously burned. Clayton will recover. The blaze started from a candle left in the bedroom, which set fire to some inflammable material on a table. The loss is estimated at $10,000.

TO HANDLE SOCIAL EVIL.

Portland's New Mayor Announces He Will Set Aside Restricted District for Element.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PORTLAND (Or.) July 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Declaring that the attempt to suppress the social evil has been a failure in Portland, Mayor Simon, who has just begun his term of office, has announced he will set aside a restricted district in which the undesirable element will be colonized. Simon has made it plain that Portland is to be a closed town, so far as gambling is concerned, but believes a change in the policy of dealing with the social evil will be beneficial to the city.

Mayor Lane, who preceded Simon, endevaored to drive this class of people from Portland, but the result was to scatter them among the business and residential districts. Even the reform element declares present conditions are unsatisfactory, and no opposition to Simon's new policy is expected.

BAPTISTS SELECT CHICAGO.

Next Annual Convention Goes to Lake Metropolis—Resolution on the Congo Situation.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

PORTLAND (Or.) July 2.—The Northern Baptist convention in session in this city, today selected Chicago as the place for holding the annual convention next year. The convention will be held in May.

A resolution dealing with the alleged deplorable situation in the Congo States was unanimously adopted, and the secretary was instructed to forward a copy of the resolution to President Taft. Some miscellaneous business and the president's address closed the convention.

DIVORCE COLONY ON OUTING.

Social Lights Among Mismated at Reno, With Loads of Trunks and Doctor, Go Fishing.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

RENO (Nev.) July 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Considerable interest was manifested in this city today in the departure for Lake Tahoe of a party of wealthy New Yorkers who are either visiting or residing here. They started from the fashionable Riverside Hotel with loads of trunks, fishing rods and other outfit that required three large automobiles loaded to the guards.

Among the party are several of the prominent eastern women, wives of well-known New York men, who are here for the purpose of securing divorces from their husbands. Mrs. Clara Dillon is one of them. Mrs. Dillon is the wife of a famous acrobat and was herself a well-known actress and singer with Weber & Fields. She is playing a conspicuous part in Reno social life. Her New York companion, Miss E. Parfitt, is with the party, as are also Mrs. M. E. Jenkins and Mrs. W. E. Jenkins. Dr. O'Niel, a local physician and social leader in the divorce colony, is with them. There are several others and they expect to extend the outing for several days.

DIVORCES ARCHITECT.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

RENO (Nev.) July 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Mrs. Kate Howland, a descendant of a famous Devonshire family of England, was today granted a divorce from Charles P. Howland. Mrs. Howland secured her decree because her husband has failed to provide for her since the date of their marriage, which took place in Los Angeles in November, 1898.

She has been compelled to earn her own livelihood and has been conducting a delicatessen store in this city for the past nine months. It was the second action filed for divorce by Mrs. Howland in this city. The first case was heard several months ago. The decree was then denied because neither party to the action had gained a residence. Howland is an architect in New York City.

HULL FIREMAN DIES.

Victim of Explosion on Destroyer Succumbs Very Suddenly to His Injuries.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

VALLEJO, July 2.—Benjamin F. King, fireman, second class, who was badly scalded by the bursting of a boiler tube aboard the destroyer Hull last Tuesday, died very suddenly at the Mare Island Hospital today. He appeared to be better in the morning and was allowed to talk to several friends who visited the hospital. Immediately after their departure, he swung himself over on his side and was dead when the attendant next looked at him. King was a native of Washington, D. C., and entered the navy from the city in 1906. His nearest relative is Mrs. Annie E. King, of Washington.

CALVIN HAS APPENDICITIS.

TO BE OPERATED UPON SUNDAY.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SAN FRANCISCO, July 2.—E. E. Calvin, vice-president and general manager of the Southern Pacific Railroad, who has been critically ill for ten days, will be removed from his home to the Southern Pacific Hospital tomorrow preparatory to an operation for appendicitis. Sunday morning. Mr. Calvin was stricken at his desk, June 21. His condition was such that the attending physicians deemed it unwise to operate on him immediately. W. R. Scott, assistant general manager of the company, stated today that Mr. Calvin had gained in strength and that no fear need be entertained regarding the outcome of the operation.

THERE will be an abundance of good reading in The Times Magazine the coming Sunday.

WANTS TO KILL BABE.

OAKLAND, July 2.—Giving a remarkable analysis of her own dementia, and pleading to be sent to an asylum for fear that she might not be able to restrain sudden impulses to murder her baby, less than a year old, Mrs. Stella Nelson furnished one of the strangest lunacy cases today ever heard in the local courts.

Mrs. Nelson, who is a beautiful girl of 19 years, explained to Judge Harris and two physicians, that at times all her natural instincts are suddenly overcome by a thirst for blood, and that during this peculiar aberration she has overpowering impulses to kill her child.

Last Wednesday she asked the attendants at the Emergency Hospital to lock her up, but appearing to be rational, she was advised to return home. The following day her fears were almost realized when she suddenly seized a butcher knife and attempted to cut her child's throat.

Judge Harris committed the woman to the asylum at Stockton, declaring that it was a most peculiar and pathetic case.

FOLLOWS SWEETHEART.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 2.—Raymond Lugo was found dead in his room in a Kearney-street lodging-house today with a revolver clasped in his hands, and all indications pointing toward suicide. In a note written shortly before he took his life, he made reference to Mary Gonzales, an employé of a Pacific-street dance hall, who committed suicide last night in the same manner. It developed that Lugo and the girl had quarreled and that both had determined upon ending their lives.

CHILDREN CREMATED ALIVE.

SAN LUIS POTOSI (Mex.) July 2.—Advices from Raton state that while making firecrackers Francisco Martinez accidentally ignited the powder with the ashes of his cigarette, causing an explosion which burned the house and cremated his two infant children.

AROUSED.

ASSASSINATION STIRS ENGLAND.

Land Horror-Struck by Murder of Wyllie.

Feeling Against Agitators Grows Acute.

Much Sympathy Is Felt for Lord Morley.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

LONDON, July 2.—The murder of Lieut.-Col. Sir William Hutt Curzon Wyllie and Dr. Cawas Lalcaca of Shanghai by Madar Lalof Dhinagri, an Indian student, Thursday night at the Imperial Institute, has stirred England in a manner unknown since the Phoenix Park murders.

It has been a subject for self-congratulation by Englishmen that Great Britain was immune from political crimes of this nature.

Great sympathy is felt for Viscount Morley, Secretary of State for India, the difficulties of whose position are greatly increased by the murder.

Strong feeling has been aroused against certain members of the House of Commons and others who have encouraged the agitation against the government.

It is understood that Scotland Yard has detailed detectives to follow Lord Morley and others connected with the Indian administration.

Newspapers of all shades of opinion urge the government not to swerve a hair's breadth in the direction of weakening the executive authority in India.

Two documents were found on Dhinagri. One was a confession of a desire to take the life of a high official because he was dissatisfied with the British rule in India, and the other a sort of political creed referring to Englishmen as tyrants, and having a suggestion of reward in heaven for any one getting rid of prominent Britishers.

The assassin's family is said to be well known at Amritsar, in the Punjab, where his father is a municipal leader.

One of Madar's acquaintances makes the statement in the Chronicle that the assassin was drunk with bhang (an Indian intoxicant). He contends that Madar visited some extremist club before going to the Imperial Institute, had his mind poisoned by a gang of conspirators to the point of committing murder, and was then drugged with bhang and weapons placed in his pocket.

The Daily Express calls loudly upon the government for measures to suppress the India House agitation in London, of which Krishnavarma is the leading spirit. He is now residing in Paris.

The Hindoo came to London from the Punjab some years ago. He belonged to the advanced section of the Indian Nationalist party, and he has been taking a course in engineering in the London University.

During the commemoration of the Indian mutiny he attracted attention by wearing a badge inscribed, "In Memory of the Martyrs."

Some of his fellow students taunted Dhinagri, who threatened to cut the throat of one of his most active tormentors. He was a hard-working student, but held very advanced political opinions. He was a frequenter of India House, the local center of the Indian agitators.

From statements made by students, it appears that he and Lieut.-Col. Wyllie had met once previous to the tragedy of last night. Dhinagri's brother who is a doctor in Calcutta, hearing of his association with the political extremists in India House, wrote to Col. Wyllie asking him to try to influence the student. Wyllie saw Dhinagri, but the interview appears to have only embittered the young man, who nursed his resentment pending a favorable opportunity for revenge.

VOLCANO SMOKING.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

CALCUTTA, July 2.—There is at present a recrudescence of political excitement in Eastern Bengal, and meetings to express sympathy with natives who have been deported are of almost daily occurrence. Arabindo Ghose, one of the most prominent of the Indian agitators, is traveling through the country in the interests of an anti-government campaign. He is preaching that the "Fiat of God has gone out to the Indian nation to unite and to be free and great."

SHAW SCORES ROOSEVELT.

Irish Playwright Uses Postal Card for Blistering Criticism of Socialism's Critic.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BOSTON, July 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] In the limited area of one ordinary-sized, open-face postal card, G. Bernard Shaw, the Irish playwright, has written to a Bostonian a blistering criticism of former President Roosevelt as an author on "Socialism."

Recently C. F. McCotter, of a publishing company of this city, mailed Mr. Shaw, at Ayot, St. Lawrence, England, a copy of the Outlook magazine, in which was marked Mr. Roosevelt's article on "Socialism."

Mr. Shaw sent his opinion of the article and of Mr. Roosevelt, as its author, back to Mr. McCotter on a postal card, which read as follows:

"A serious reply to Mr. Roosevelt's article on 'Socialism' in the Outlook cannot be written in this country. In England the article is only the noodles cater up to date. Its sentiments would be very proper and suitable for the sheriff of a district on the pioneering edge of a territory of the United States, but coming, as it does, from the pen of one who has been President for nearly eight years, it is a staggering revelation of how little an American President may know about his own business. He might almost as well be a king. Are you quite sure that Theodore is not pulling your legs in the first flush of high spirits following his release from the White House?"

GOOD ANGEL SAVES BOY.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ST. LOUIS, July 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Harry Grant, aged 16, of Chicago, as the result of the intercession of a retired St. Louis capitalist, through Attorney William E. Fitzgerald, was paroled today immediately after Judge Wilson A. Taylor had sentenced him to three months' imprisonment for obtaining money from wealthy West End women on fake telegrams he delivered to them. "I must decline to reveal the name of the gentleman," said Fitzgerald, in court. "The day after the newspapers published the story of the boy's method of obtaining money, one of the richest men in this city telephoned to me: 'I believe this boy is bright and can be saved. You are at liberty to draw on me for any sum necessary to relieve him and give him a start.'" When asked if the boy would return to Chicago, Fitzgerald replied: "I can't say; I know he will seek work here." Fitzgerald gave the boy his benefactor's card and told him to beat it, which he did.

BUCKET SHOP INDICTED.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

CINCINNATI, July 2.—The grand jury today returned indictments against the Western Union Telegraph Company and Bingham H. Morehead, the latter being charged with running a bucket-shop and the former with aiding and abetting, by the leasing of wires for the transmission of information and money. The indictment of the Western Union is an innovation in the fight of County Prosecutor Hunt to rid Cincinnati of alleged bucket-shops.

TRUNK EXPOSES SMUGGLER.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

CAPE GIRARDEAU (Mo.) July 2.—After posing for a week as a lieutenant in the United States marine corps, C. H. Harrington, recently arrived from the Philippines, last night tried to kill himself with chloroform, after confessing, according to the Prosecuting Attorney, that he was a smuggler and not a navy officer. Harrington's trunk was lost by a railroad and, after identifying diamonds, silks and bric-a-brac which it contained, he was arrested. He said he had brought the goods into this country free of duty by paying a bribe to a customs officer. Harrington is in jail on a charge of attempting fraud. He waived a preliminary hearing.

BANK OFFICERS IN TOILS.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

SUPERIOR (Wis.) July 2.—A special to the Telegram from Ironwood, Mich., says: "President R. F. Jahn, Cashier E. T. Larsen and Assistant Cashier George H. Meadow of the First National Bank of this city have all been bound over to the Federal grand jury, which meets at Marquette September 2. The charges against them are the outgrowth of the failure of the bank, which was closed last week by the Federal authorities. Larsen is in jail at Bessemer in default of $50,000 bail, while Jahn furnished $25,000 and Meadow $10,000 bail bonds. The bank had about $600,000 in deposits and the receiver has now in his hands about $100,000 in quick assets. It is not known what amount can be realized on other assets.

REFUSED TO FIGHT FIRE.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

MUNISING (Mich.) July 2.—For refusing to assist in fighting a forest fire, Amil Honka was sentenced to ninety days in the Detroit House of Correction. The case, which was heard in Justice Duffy's court here, is said to be the only one of its kind in the history of the State. A State statute, however, specifically provides punishment for a refusal to assist in suppressing a forest fire. Honka refused to join the fire-fighters organized by Deputy Fire Warden Frost when the fires were threatening to destroy the settlement of Coalwood.

FINED FOR BRIBERY.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

COLUMBUS (O.) July 2.—Judge Kinkead of the Common Pleas Court today fined Nelson Cannon, formerly agent of the Trinidad Paving Company of Cleveland, $500 on a plea of guilty of bribing members of the Board of Public Service in a street-paving scandal. Asa Thurbeck, formerly City Engineer, was fined $200 on a plea of guilty of accepting a bribe, and Henry Lang, formerly local manager of the Trinidad Company, was fined $500 on the same plea. The four indictments against M. F. Bramley, president of the Trinidad Paving Company, for offering a bribe, were nolled because he had assisted in the prosecution of other men.

BIG DROP IN IRON.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

CHICAGO, July 2.—Three iron girders, weighing together more than a ton, slipped from a hoisting cable at the sixteenth story of the Republic building yesterday afternoon, crashing to the street within a yard of four women on the sidewalk. A horse was injured, a sign was ripped from the front of a store and a deep hole was torn in the pavement, but this was the extent of the damage.

DEATH OF BARONET.

declined to recognize the divorce which he obtained in America, no son that he might have had here will be eligible for succession to the baronetcy.

Sir Arthur was a man of over 60 years of age, who belonged to two of the best and most exclusive clubs in London, Brooks and The Travelers. He owned large landed estate, was formerly attached to the Foreign Office, and served as high sheriff and as a member of Parliament for his own county, Carmathen. He was a Fellow of the Royal Geographical Society, and Lieutenant of Carmathen. He had made his home in America for more than a quarter of a century.

Lived Here Four Years.

Sir Arthur Stepney, Bart., a wealthy Englishman, came to America about five years ago. Piqued by some action of the British government, and fretted by domestic trouble, he sought a new home. Sir Arthur was very wealthy, possessing large estates in England, which he visited reluctantly about once a year, and an extensive sheep range in Australia, whither he went for brief visits about once in eighteen months.

He was formerly a member of Parliament, but resigned the office in favor of his son, whom he left well provided for when he came to America. He lived in Southern California for about four years, principally at the Westminster Hotel and at Coronado, but he left here about a year ago, having become interested in mining properties. He was tall and gaunt in body, and wore the regulation whiskers and mustache affected by Britishers of the aristocracy.

One of Sir Arthur's most salient characteristics was a horror of reporters. He had been living at the Westminster for many months when a newspaper man discovered him, and wrote something about a "real baronet" being in the city. Sir Arthur stormed and stamped out, going to another hotel. He was very fond of walking, and one of his favorite companions on these trips was Night Clerk Hogue of the Angelus, with whom he frequently tramped four or five miles in the country and back again.

Sir Arthur liked Los Angeles and Southern California better than any other place in the world, and frequently observed that he regretted that his business interests called him away at times.

SIGNS CENSUS BILL.

WASHINGTON, July 2.—President Taft today signed the bill, providing for the taking of the thirteenth decennial census.

AN ARTICLE by Prof. Wilbur Burchman on "Telephoning to Mars" will appear in The Times Magazine the coming Sunday.

TAFT BILL CARRIES.

cause of its vagueness. He also claimed the tax being levied on all corporations "organized for profit" included corporations that do no business except to collect rents, which, he said, would bring it nearly within the scope of the Pollock case, in which the income tax was declared to be invalid.

These objections provoked comment by Senators Aldrich, Root, Brandegee, Nelson and others. Mr. Aldrich suggested that the language called into question had been passed upon by many distinguished lawyers. Senator Root gave assurance that these objections would receive careful consideration by the Finance Committee although he said he believed the amendment as framed was such as to insure its constitutionality.

Saying he preferred voting for an income rather than a corporation tax, Senator Rayner declared he would vote for the pending corporation tax if he could not have his first choice.

"I believe," he added, "that this is an absolutely constitutional measure. This bill is unjust and inequitable but when I cannot obtain an income tax I will be forced to vote for this amendment or leave the government bankrupt."

INCREASE TOBACCO TAX.

The Republican members of the Finance Committee have agreed on a general advance in the tobacco schedule of the administration part of the tariff bill. The increase in the tax on cut and plug tobacco and cigars and cigarettes amounts to about 20 per cent. over the House rates.

The Finance Committee's subcommittee on tobacco today decided to prohibit coupons in tobacco and snuff packages.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPO

SAN FRANCISCO, July 2.—J Edward Cunningham, a laborer, confessed to the murder of Miss C line Brasch, cashier for Gray B Construction Company, who was and killed in the company's offices Wednesday. Cunningham surrend himself because another man was der arrest charged with the crime Novak, another laborer, suspecte the crime, was released.

Cunningham entered a newsp office last night and made his ori statement, which was later repe to the police. The detective de ment was not notified until early day, when representatives of the p delivered the man into custody, gether with a revolver, with which crime is said to have been commi and a wage check issued by Bros., which Cunningham declare have been the basis of a dispute ended with the shooting of Brasch.

The original theory as to the m for the murder is borne out by confession of Cunningham, but police, in the arrest of J. Novak, other laborer who had been emp by Gray Bros., were endeavoring fasten the crime on an innocent who chanced to be the victim of cumstances almost unparalleled.

NOVAK LEAVES.

Cunningham, according to his ment, entered the offices of Gray B just as Novak departed. Novak disputed with Miss Brasch a tri difference in his pay check, and ing to get satisfaction, went away anger.

Stepping before the cashier's dow immediately afterward, Cunn ham declares he renewed a wrangl several weeks' standing over his ch and finally shot the girl. The desc tion of his escape from the build and the conduct of the persons he countered impel the police to bel Cunningham, and no other, fired shot.

Cunningham, who is 37 years says he is a native of Scituate, R I. He has traveled about the country a common laborer, and in this capa entered the employ of Gray Bros. their Point Pedro quarry last Ma On April 27, he says, he left the pl and came to this city with a dem for $32.35, which he claims was a balance due him. On the occasion of first visit to the local office, Cunn ham declares, he had a dispute Miss Brasch over a difference of $2 and was unable to get his money. May 20, he says, he received checks in part payment, but claim there was still a balance of more $2 in his favor.

His last visit to the office was Wednesday.

AWAITS HIS CHANCE.

"I made up my mind that I wo get the money or kill her," he sa "I bought a revolver for $10 and sp $1.50 for cartridges. As I entered office, I saw a man who looked l a laborer. He was probably this m Novak. I did not pay any attenti to what he said, but waited a mom until he went away."

Cunningham then went on to rel the details of his last dispute w Miss Brasch. Somewhat to the s prise of the police, he declared t there were two girls in the cashi office, while all the employes of company have persistated in stating t the murdered girl was alone. It w at this point in his narrative that t man gave the only indication of bei irrational. He had drawn his revolv he said, and had ordered a check f the full amount made out.

"I thought one of these girls w trying to mesmerise me," he said, "a told her to get away. I think s dropped down behind the railing b cause I did not see her when I sh Miss Brasch. I had told her not walk away or go to her desk, and s was going away when I fired. I aim at the back of her head, and, I a sure I hit here there, because I am pretty good shot at that distance."

SICKENING DETAILS.

Cunningham gave a description, sickening in its accuracy, of how his vi tim crumpled up and fell, telling eve of the spasmodic twitchings—of h limbs as she lay on the floor.

With the smoking weapon in h hand, Cunningham ran into the corr dor and encountered two men wh gave already been located by the po lice and verified this part of the con fession. He ordered them back int their offices and hurried down thre flights of stairs and crossed the build ing once or twice, finally escaping b a rear entrance.

All day yesterday, while the police were hunting for the suspect, Cunningham declares he was wandering about the outskirts of the city, finally taking refuge in a forest. Toward evening he came into town, and in a Ninth-street restaurant saw an account of the ar rest of Novak. He said he felt pretty sure the police would "get" the man under arrest, and decided to save him by surrender and confession.

The police began an investigation of Cunningham's story as soon as he had repeated his statement.

P. F. Higgins, one of the two men driven out of the corridor of the Wells-Fargo building by the escaping murderer, positively identified Cunningham today as the man he had seen with a smoking revolver in his hand a few seconds after the shot was fired.

MURDERER HANGS.

PROTESTING INNOCENCE.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

SALEM (Or.) July 2.—Protesting his innocence to the last, Joe Anderson, who was convicted of the murder of Harry Logan in Portland in 1908, was hanged this afternoon. He died fourteen minutes after the trap fell.

STORY OF CRIME.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

PORTLAND (Or.) July 2.—Following is the history of the crime of Joseph Anderson, who was hanged at the penitentiary at Salem, today:

Joseph Anderson was convicted and sentenced to be hanged on a charge of having murdered Harry M. Logan, an engineer, here, while the latter was on his way home from work, October 17, 1907.

It is supposed that Anderson tried to hold Logan up and that the engineer resisted the robber and was killed. Anderson, under the name of John Betz, had purchased a raincoat from the Salvation Army industrial home, and this coat was found under a bridge on which the murder occurred. Its ownership was traced to Betz, or Anderson, with other circumstantial evidence, which led to Anderson's arrest and conviction.

Anderson has always protested his innocence of the crime.

COSTLY PRANK.

KILLED FOR JOKING.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

MAHANOY CITY (Pa.) July 2.—Stung to a frenzy of madness because he was obliged to have his mustache shaved off as the result of a practical joke, Espiano Tosta killed his cousin, Mariana Tosta, at Girardville yesterday.

A week ago, in a game of cards, Mariana reached across the table and besmeared chewing gum over Espiana's mustache. For several days he tried to cut out the sticky gum, but the operation was too painful, and it was finally necessary to have it shaved off.

He brooded over the loss, and when he met the perpetrator of the joke on the street he opened fire on him with a revolver.

SMUGGLERS SENTENCED.

GET SIX MONTHS EACH.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

CHICAGO, July 2.—Robert W. Stephenson, W. H. Clark and John Haltzell, the three railroad brakemen who pleaded guilty to the government's charges of conspiracy to violate the immigration and Chinese exclusion laws, were sentenced to serve six months each in the Bridewell today. The three testified for the government in the prosecution of Bob Leung, the El Paso Chinese merchant, and José Parra and Carlos Sevedra, accused of smuggling Chinese into this country from Mexico.

Leung was found guilty, and Parra and Sevedra were acquitted.

The last two left for El Paso today to stand trial there on a direct charge of violating the Chinese exclusion law.

DEAD IN BED.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 2.—Mrs. Mary Davis, aged 50 years, was found dead in her room in a Harrison-street lodging-house today and the police, basing their belief on a note found in the apartment, are convinced that the woman committed suicide. A wound in her head, which may have been caused by a fall, is to be made the subject of investigation, although the note, addressed to a friend, stated that the writer was tired of life.

CRIME BRIEFS.

Stabs His Son.

CEDARVILLE, July 2.—A man named Whitehead, during a saloon row with his son, Linear Whitehead, this morning, stabbed the latter, who will probably die. The assailant was arrested. The row was over moving some lumber.

Brings Murder Charge.

VALLEJO, July 2.—Chief of Police Stanford swore to a complaint today, charging Claude Camp with the murder of Martin Tiernan, who was shot by Camp on June 16, and who died June 29. Camp charges that Tiernan interfered in his domestic affairs. Tiernan's wife is in an insane asylum. He left seven children. Camp was the father of five children.

RUSSIA AND CHINA NEARING NEW CRISIS IN MANCHURIA.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

PEKING, July 2.—The Russian government has demanded a declaration from China, regarding the attitude of the government on the treaty of Aigun, especially in the interest of Japan and others, who seek the registration of vessels. Otherwise, Russia says, she will not consent to the opening of the Sungari River to international trade.

Gen. Horvath, the Russian administrator of Harbin, Manchuria, yesterday refused to recognize the Chinese maritime customs on the Sungari at Harbin, San Sing and Laha Suou.

CHINA STANDS PAT.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

ST. PETERSBURG, July 2.—A new course of conflict has arisen between the Russians and Chinese in Manchuria, affecting the right of foreigners to live outside the centers formally opened to foreign commerce. The Chinese show a disposition to follow up their victory in the Harbin administration question by holding the Russians strictly to treaty limits in their other privileges. At the town of San Sing, an important center of the grain trade in Northeastern Manchuria, which has for years been one of the principal points of call for Russian steamers plying on the Sungari, Russian merchants have settled, interpreting the right of navigation conferred by the treaty of Aigun, as conferring also the privelege of residence. The Chinese authorities have now ordered them to leave. The Russian Foreign Office has as yet no information regarding this, and, therefore, has taken no action.

A dispatch from Nicholaievsk reports that a small party of Japanese which landed on one of the islands of the Shanter group, off the north Siberian coast, is acting in a most lawless way, attacking and attempting to rob Russians and natives. One German and two Russians, who debarked there last autumn, have disappeared, and are thought to have been murdered.

WASHINGTON ALARMED.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, July 2.—That this government is not entirely satisfied with the agreement reached between Russia and China regarding the administration of the settlements along the East Chinese Railroad in Manchuria, and involving the government of Harbin, is officially admitted here. China has been informed that the United States probably will object to the agreement. The United States and various European powers having extra territorial rights in Manchuria are deeply interested.

The views of this country are said to be shared by England. One serious objection to the agreement, as now framed, is the apparent derogation of the right of extra territory which the powers now enpoy, though no less objectionable are those features which give Russia a predominating influence in Manchurian affairs.

Celestials Are Charged With Using Mails for Lottery Purposes—Postoffice Inspectors Plan Simultaneous Attack on Dives—Large Amount of Evidence Captured.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, July 2.—Charged with using the United States mails for lottery purposes, three Chinese shops were raided tonight and their proprietors arrested. In each place a large amount of gambling paraphernalia was found.

ARREST IN BALTIMORE.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

BALTIMORE, July 2.—Thirteen Chinese were arrested in four stores and restaurants here tonight by postoffice inspectors and held on charges of using the mails for lottery purposes. A considerable amount of evidence was secured.

The raid represented an effort of the Postoffice Department to reach the center of a widely ramifying Chinese lottery scheme. It was expected that it would be simultaneous with similar activities in other cities, and it was planned as a result of many days of careful detective work of postoffice inspectors.

Almost in the shadow of the dome of the national capitol, and with hawk-like swiftness, Inspectors Kean and Barcley, with a dozen detectives and policemen swooped down upon the places and threw the groups of Chinese into consternation.

The six alleged proprietors, Lee Hing, Lee Sam, Lee Huen, Lee Hong, Lee Yu and Lee Kim, were bundled into the police wagon and great stacks of supposed lottery tickets, printed in green, were seized in each place.

With apparent indifference to all that was going on, the crowd of Chinese who frequented the shops sat and looked on and denied knowing anything of such matters.

CHARGES ANSWERED.

MEAT IS FIT TO EAT.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, July 2.—The committee appointed by Secretary Wilson, composed of Dr. A. D. Melvin of the Bureau of Animal Industry, and George P. McCabe, solicitor of the department, which investigated the charges of J. F. Harms that the Federal meat inspection service at East St. Louis was "rotten and a farce," today reported that the inspectors there were honest men and performing their duties efficiently and that no meat had passed which was unfit for human food.

The report, which was submitted to the secretary and approved by him, declares that while there is absolutely no basis for the charges made by Mr. Harms, they undoubtedly will reflect injuriously on the foreign market for American meat food products.

The report concludes as follows:

"It is the belief of your committee that the men at East St. Louis station, from the top to the bottom, are absolutely honest and competent, that they are discharging their duty to the service and to the public in a conscientious, high-minded, efficient way, and that no meat is passed from the East St. Louis station bearing the mark of Federal inspection which is not in every respect fit for human food.

"The record shows that many of the employés at the East St. Louis station have worked overtime in their efforts to give an honest, efficient inspection and it is to be regretted that the word of a disgruntled, dissatisfied employé, irresponsible and answerable to no one, should be made the occasion of an attack on a service which is honestly conduced and which means so much to the American consumer of meat products and to the cattle, sheep and hog raisers of the country who are bound to suffer from any attack, no matter how uncalled for, which may be made upon the service."

As the result of the report, Secretary Wilson has ordered the summary dismissal of Meat Inspectors Harms and Bischof and Veterinary Inspector Michael.

VICTIMS OF "PLUCKING BOARD."

Five Captains, One Commander and Three Lieutenant-Commanders Named for Retirement.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, July 2.—Five captains, one commander and three lieutenant-commanders of the navy, the selection of the Sperry "plucking board," were retired today, under the Navy Personnel Act after approval by President Taft.

They include Capt. Edward F. Qualtrough, who was commander of the battleship Georgia during the trip around the world of the Atlantic battleships, and who was suspended from duty for six months, following a court-martial at Tangier on charges of intoxication and unbecoming conduct.

The other officers retired are Capt. Dennis H. Mahan, captain of the Puget Sound navy yard, Bremerton, Wash.; Alex McCracken, commander of the cruiser West Virginia; J. B. Collins, commander of the battleship Indiana, and captain of the Philadelphia navy yard, and W. S. Hogg, former commander of the supply ship Glacier; Commander Leo D. Miner, inspector of machinery at Mare Island navy yard; Lieutenant-Commander Glennie Tarbox, who has been under treatment at the navy hospital at Mare Island; William W. Bush, in charge of the navy recruiting station at Oklahoma City, Okla., and Charles T. Jewell, executive officer of the cruiser Chattanooga.

The captains are retired with the rank of commodore, the commanders with the rank of captain, and the lieutenant-commanders with the rank of commander.

These retirements create the forty vacancies above the grade of junior lieutenant, required each year by law. The voluntary retirements increased the number of vacancies made by deaths, resignations and other causes to thirty-one, making necessary the choosing of nine officers for compulsory retirement.

By the retirements, William S. Benson becomes senior commander; Frank Marble, senior lieutenant-commander, and Luther M. Overstreet, senior lieutenant of the navy.

WASHINGTON BRIEFS.

Needham Decoyed.

WASHINGTON, July 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Congressman and Mrs. Needham were surprised last night by a number of their friends, on the occasion of their fifteenth wedding anniversary. They were decoyed to the apartments of Congressman and Mrs. Smith, where Congressman Englebright made a speech of congratulation. Refreshments followed.

Raises Storm.

WASHINGTON, July 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Senator Perkins is in receipt of many protests from mercantile houses in California against the tax on corporations. He believes that as an administration measure it is sure of passage.

BURY "UNCLE GEORGE."

Oldest Member of Bohemian Club Is Laid at Rest in the Laurel Hill Cemetery.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SAN FRANCISCO, July 2.—With all the solemnity and impressiveness of the Masonic rites "Uncle" George T. Bromley, the oldest member of the Bohemian Club, and widely known throughout the State, was buried at Laurel Hill Cemetery today.

Many of the most prominent men in the city, including Mayor Taylor and other city officials, members of the Supreme and lower courts, and an escort of Knights Templar, followed the casket to the cemetery after an impressive service at Golden Gate Hall.

Semi-Annual $10.00 Suit Sale

White Canvas Oxfords and Shoes

Here in Time for the Elks

Styles for Men $1.50 to $3.00

You know white shoes are in the official uniform of the Elks, and white shoes are to be very popular with the men during July and August, and this Shoe Department is going to be popular, too, for these prices are meant to appeal to the popular taste.

Just the best sort of oxfords and high shoes, made in a good, dependable way. All the new lasts, in the narrow Royal toe, broad London toe; blucher cut; light weight, walking soles.

Women's White Oxfords, Pumps & High Shoes, 95c, $1.50 and $1.98

Cool, comfortable white shoes for women. Very smart pumps, with hand-turned soles and the white Cuban heels. These are the kind with wide silk ribbon bows and two eyelets.

The oxfords are made with white or brown Cuban heels, tips or plain toes; also school heels; all sizes. 'Way out of the ordinary values at 95c, $1.50 and $1.98.

Misses' and Children's New Ankle Straps

Patent and tan leather ankle straps for misses and children. They are in the new orthopedic lasts, designed to give plenty of room for the toes to wiggle. Natural lasts. Priced at..... 98c to $2.50

Sets a New Standard

"Let me compliment you upon the class of suits you are putting out at $10.00," said one customer who entered the sale. "The event is surely all that you could claim it to be." These words made a deep impression upon the writer, for that man hit the keynote of the success of this event.

It's no trouble for anybody to announce a $10 suit sale, but there would be to duplicate the values we are offering on this occasion.

Fully 90 per cent. of the customers who attended the sale were enthusiastic, and a great many of them came merely skeptics. That's a tribute to our advertising. That's a tribute to our $10.00 Suit Sale.

Think of 1656 Suits to Begin a Sale With

Then pause to consider that even under the very heaviest of selling in the two days that have gone, we couldn't have disposed of very many over 500. Now, then, that means that there are close to 1100 suits remaining; then take into consideration that there wasn't a suit in the sale that wasn't a big bargain a $10, and the great majority of them were marked from $15 to $25 in the regular way. Don't you see how this sale is going to grow as the days advance? It's just in its infancy now. If you haven't been here, don't overlook the opportunity today.

A Home Store

That's what some people term the Broadway, and isn't it a fact? It's a store for supreme value-giving, too. A party was heard to remark a short time ago, "Let us go to the Broadway and see what they have. I can always get the best bargains there, even though they are not advertised." When this remark was shown to the merchandise manager, he said, "I believe that; and I'm convinced that our stocks, dollar for dollar, are the cleanest, most up to date, and the best values in town, and you can quote me as saying so." There's food for reflection here.

FINE FIELDING PLEASES FANS.

Vernon Makes Up for Defeat by Great Grabs.

Martinke's Good Work Is Game's Big Feature.

Tozer Holds Hogan's Men Safe from the Start.

Los Angeles, 8; Vernon, 6.

Of course the usual blow that almost kills Father Hogan every day was expected again yesterday and when he got what he was looking for, no one was alarmed, but it goes both ways without saying anything that the 1200 fans forgot all about the losing streak when they saw the fielding stunts shown by some of the Perhaps. The exhibition was the best ever seen in this city and had Harkins been able to keep the locals guessing, there might have been a different result.

As but three of the Perhaps got as far as third base there is not much history to write, even about what they did not do, but in the fielding line they could make any bunch of fans rise up and gasp. Martinke seemed to be seized with the idea that he had to play both left and center and in carrying this idea out he made enough sensational grabs to last him for the next month.

In the second inning Smith poked out a Texas league fly back of third base that Martinke ran 100 feet for at top speed and hooked with his hands at his shoe tops. He did exactly the same thing at the opening of the third on Daley's short fly back of shortstop, while in the seventh he dashed far over into center field like a race horse to grab a long fly that Howard slammed out for the score board. Each one of these catches was a top-liner worthy of a raise in salary, and not to be outdone, Stovall made several almost as startling, while Daley stopped at least one run in the eighth inning by a beautiful running catch near the score board.

Delmas made a great assist to first base of Graham's grounder back of second base, and Harkins's putout on Beall's grounder to first base was a pippin. There were a dozen plays worthy of notice but the rich ones were so good that the fans had no time to think of those that were not freaks.

Harkins was about as easy as a rich man when he goes up against a get-rich-quick scheme that a poor one could not be bribed to look at. He was all right for four innings, until the Angels were warmed up and then before Harkins knew what had happened, they ripped him for four singles and four runs and then went back in the next two rounds for more.

Toser had it on them all the way and was never in any real danger except in the seventh inning, when, with one out, Beall let Stovall's single slip between his feet to the fence, allowing Stovall to reach third. Jess died on the bag, however, after Martinke fouled to Smith and Delmas made his great assist from back of second on Graham's grounder. With two out in the eighth and men on first and second, Daley stopped a tally with his great running catch of Brashear's long fly to the score board. It was a fine game for fielding, but too one-sided to be exciting.

Toser opened the 8th with a single to right. Daley followed with a bounce to Harkins, who tried to force Toser at second but failed. Both runners advanced on Ross's safe bunt to third and Toser scored on Dillon's little poke to right. This put Ross on third and he dashed in on Howard's sacrifice fly to center. Dillon went to second on the throw in and scored on Smith's hit to left. In the sixth Toser doubled to left, stole third, and scored on Kibler's drop of a ball thrown to the plate to catch Tozer. In the seventh Beall singled, went to third on Delmas's drive to left and scored on Orendorff's sacrifice.

Wisconsin, 9m. 22 4-5s.
Columbia, 9m. 26s.

This was Cornell's day on the Hudson, as decisively as yesterday was Harvard's on the Thames. Her crews made a clean sweep of the fifteenth annual regatta of the Intercollegiate Rowing Association, just as those of her association in New England won over Yale at New London.

In the 'varsity eight-oared competition, Cornell met a stubborn and unexpected contender in Columbia.

In the four-oared race, Cornell won easily, three lengths ahead, and in the freshman race won by a length, also from Syracuse.

MAY BE A MISTAKE.

The official time in this particular race would indicate that Cornell's lead over Syracuse at the finish was more than a length, and in the opinion of scores of observers an error was made, but there was no change in the time as originally given out by the officials.

The unofficial time in the freshman race was 9m. 14s. Thus Cornell lowered two records for the course, the four-oared race by 14 2-5s. and the freshman by 10 2-5s.

Syracuse made the best showing next to Cornell, taking second place in both the four-oared and the freshman race, and third place in the 'varsity eight.

Wisconsin had crews in but two races and finished fourth in each.

Pennsylvania's crews finished last in both the 'varsity eight and the four, and took third in the freshman race.

While Columbia proved strong in the big race, she could finish no better than fourth in the fours, and last in the freshman race.

At 5:18 o'clock the starting gun boomed on board the yacht Gretchen, the referees' boat.

Pennsylvania, for a brief spell, poked her shell in front, with Wisconsin and Cornell a foot behind, and Syracuse and Columbia close up. Then Cornell's eight went to its stroke and its shell shot to the front. Settling in a 34 stroke, Cornell began to gain.

At the first mile Cornell had a lead of three-quarters of a boat length over Syracuse, while Columbia was third by the same distance. Wisconsin was fourth and Pennsylvania last.

REAL STRUGGLE.

The real thrill came as the crews approached the bridge, which marks three miles. All the crews were rowing steadily and strongly and for a mile not a foot was gained or lost.

Suddenly Columbia's men increased their stroke and their shell shot through the water like a torpedo boat.

"Columbia wins!" "Columbia wins!" was the shout raised by enthusiastic Columbians.

Then the final spurt began. Without perceptibly any extra effort Cornell pulled away until a bare streak of open water separated the Cornell shell and Columbia boat. Syracuse came along two and one-half lengths behind, the same distance separating her from Wisconsin. Pennsylvania was last by a length. In this order they finished.

Two Umps Next Week.

Manager Berry of the Los Angeles team received a letter yesterday from President Cal Ewing of the Coast League, in which he stated that next week Toman and Van Haltren would be here to umpire, in place of McGreevy, who is to go to Sacramento. This will give the fans a chance to see the double umpire system tried, for the two umpires will remain here two weeks. Reports from the North say that old Van is a good umpire.

Leading Turf Winner.

NEW YORK, July 2.—W. K. Vanderbilt heads the list of winners on the French turf since the season opened on March 12 last, his horses having won $160,400 up to June 30. Maurice Rothschild comes next with $121,200. Baron de Rothschilds's horse Verndun was the greatest single winner, $110,000, including the $75,000 Grand Prix. Mr. Vanderbilt's Oversight comes next with $61,000 to his credit.

Crew of Ford, Which Won New York-to-Seattle Race Seek Additional Honors.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SEATTLE (Wash.) July 2.—F. H. Smith and James Scott, who drove Ford car No. 2, the winning car in the New York-to-Seattle automobile race, in a few days will start with the same machine for San Francisco, driving it over the road.

Leaving San Francisco, they will undertake the return trip across the continent, to report at the point from which they started. They expect to establish a new record for running time between San Francisco and New York.

ALL OFF.

JOHNSON GETS BIG TURN-DOWN.

DEMANDS TOO MUCH MONEY TO MEET SAM LANGFORD.

McCarey Will Not Pay Price Asked by Champion—Bat Nelson Will Come South Next Tuesday After Witnessing the Ketchel-Papke Fight.

Manager McCarey of the Pacific Athletic Club yesterday gave up all hope of securing Jack Johnson to fight Sam Langford here during Elks' week, for the big black asked more money than McCarey thought he could give for a ten-round bout. Johnson's telegram was not answered, and McCarey wired Langford's manager to call everything off.

Negotiations have been under way for several days, in the hope that the two negroes could be secured by July 16, but Johnson did not seem anxious to fight Langford, although he says he will fight Jim Jeffries, who weighs twice as much as Langford. Johnson backed and filled and hemmed and hawed so long that McCarey finally passed him up.

McCarey's first offer to Johnson to box Langford ten rounds was 50 per cent. of the gate receipts, or a guaranteed purse of $7500 to the fighters. This was later raised to a $10,000 guarantee, and Johnson wired back that he would accept such a purse for a fight with Tony Ross. This is the fellow Johnson beat so easily a few nights since, and McCarey evidently thought the Elks would want to see something better than a third-rater box here with Johnson. Mac wired back that Ross was impossible, and then Johnson asked $10,000 for his end to fight Langford. McCarey could afford to give $15,000 for a finish fight between the blacks, or 50 per cent., but not $10,000 for Johnson's part for ten rounds, and so the negotiations were called off.

When the scheme was first started some days ago, Langford wired he would fight any one, and no communication was held with him since the start until yesterday, when Sam was wired that there was nothing doing. Johnson expects to come to this city within the next month, and Langford may chase him out here. With the Johnson-Langford fight out of sight, the Elks' week scraps now in sight are Wolgast and Nelson for July 13 and Ketchel and Flynn for July 14.

Wolgast has started in to train at Venice for his fight with Bat Nelson, but does not intend to work himself to death, as he does not have to make any weight. "Hobo" Dougherty will assist him. Nelson is on his way to San Francisco to witness the Papke-Ketchel scrap next Monday, and will probably reach here next Tuesday. He doubtless thinks Wolgast easy money, and that one week of training will be all that is required to beat Ad.

Ten or fifteen local sports left for San Francisco yesterday afternoon to be on the ground early for the Papke-Ketchel fight. Another bunch will make the trip this afternoon.

Nelson on the Stage.

Bat Nelson is scheduled to appear in a new role next Tuesday night, when he is to explain the moving pictures of his fight with Hyland, at a local theater, and incidentally see with his own eyes how he did the trick of knocking out Fighting Dick. Nelson is in San Francisco to remain until after the Papke-Ketchel fight, after which he will begin training here for his battle with Ad Wolgast, July 13.

Gus Gardner Returns.

TERRE HAUTE (Ind.) July 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Gus Gardner of Cincinnati, who substituted for Jimmy Clabby of Milwaukee in the bout with Paddy Lavin of Buffalo tonight, was clearly outclassed. He was unable to reach Lavin with anything like an effective blow and his seconds threw up the sponge in the fourth round. Clabby sustained an injured shoulder this week and was unable to go on.

ON THE BRINY.

NAVY TROPHIES CAUSE RIVALRY.

LOUISIANA CREWS HAVE WON SEVENTEEN CUPS.

Crews of Atlantic Squadron Are Preparing for the Annual Regattas. Losers in Former Years to Make a Strenuous Effort to Wrest Honors from Unconquered Boat.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, June 23.—Keen is rivalry in the navy for the honor of winning one or more of the many challenge cups and trophies to be contested for in boat rowing, sailing and athletics.

The battleship Louisiana holds the majority of the challenge trophies and owns outright a number of others. Its boat crew has beaten every crew that has opposed it, capturing seventeen handsome trophies.

Sixteen of these trophies are of silver, ranging from six to sixteen inches high, all handsomely designed and engraved. The most highly prized of all the navy's trophies, now held by the Louisiana, is the Battenburg cup of solid gold, which stands about twenty-six inches high. It is a challenge cup which was presented by the enlisted men of the British second cruiser squadron which visited the United States in 1905, under command of Prince Louis of Battenburg.

It is contested for every three months by boats from ships of the Atlantic fleet, and crews winning the cup must defend it when challenged.

If a ship of the British navy is present when the race is rowed, an invitation may be extended to enter the race. In the event of a British ship winning the race, her name must be inscribed on the cup and then the trophy is returned to the commander-in-chief of the Atlantic fleet and held by him until again won by one of the ships of the fleet.

The race for this cup is with a twelve-cared cutter for three miles.

The British cruiser Argyll defeated the American crews in 1907, but the Louisiana's crew succeeded in winning the cup twice in Australia and once at Gibraltar against British crews.

The trophies belonging to the Louisiana are the Callao Cup, offered by the Callao Rowing Club, and presented to the Louisiana's crew by the President of Peru, after a race in which there were four Peruvian entrants and two American; the Chinese Cup, presented by the Chinese government during the visit to Amoy; the Thompson Cup, presented by Col. R. M. Thompson, to be pulled for by the champion boat crews of the American and Japanese fleets in Yokohama in 1905; the American Cup for gigs, presented by the Chinese government; the Seattle Cup for deck crews, for marine crews, engineer crews, and for picked crews, all presented by the city of Seattle, the San Diego cup for sailing launch and the San Diego marine crew cup, both presented by the city of San Diego, Cal.

SHOOTING ON DESERT.

White-Winged Pigeons About Phoenix Are Awaiting Slaughter.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

PHOENIX (Ariz.) June 25.—According to the Assistant Secretary of the Territory, R. A. Kirk, the sportsmen of Southern California are not aware of what they are missing when they fail to get down into Arizona for the summer shooting.

"I know the weather here is warm," said Kirk, "but weather cuts no ice when birds are as plentiful as they are around Phoenix. The other day, Fen Hildreth and I were out just two hours, and came back with 180 fine white-winged pigeons. Four men went out for a couple of hours and bagged 260 pigeons. No matter how many are killed, the supply keeps up, for the birds continue to come into the valley to feed in the stubble fields."

Owing to drought on the plains, the rabbits again are becoming a pest on the outer-lying valley farms and orchards. Several farmers have called to their help the Indians of the Pima Reservation, to whom rewards and food are offered for joining in rabbit drives.

GREAT TENNIS.

BELL AND BUNDY TO MEET SINSABAUGH AND BROWNE.

NO better tennis has ever been played in Southern California than was exhibited during the second day's progress of the Pacific States double championship matches at Long Beach yesterday. The pick of the southern talent battled across the nets through the third round and semi-final matches, and the closing games of the afternoon enthused the crowd of tennis fans greatly.

Bell and Bundy and Sinsabaugh and Browne emerged victorious through the severe struggles and will meet today in the deciding match. Both teams won only after very close matches in which all experience and mature strength of the players was tested to the limit. Monday the winners of today's match will meet McLoughlin and Janes, the defenders, in the challenge round, and with either of the local teams as the contenders the northerners will be assured of a royal match.

The appearance of George Janes, partner of Maurice McLoughlin, and sharer of the doubles championship honors for the Coast, created no little interest among the bevy of players and visiting enthusiasts. Janes arrived from the north shortly after noon, and after officiating as linesman for the Bell-Bundy and Wayne-Variel match, put on his "ducks" and got busy with McLoughlin. The pair batted the ball in singles for half an hour and then pitched up against Bacon and Young, the Duarte wonders.

GREAT PLAYING.

The exhibition of the northern pair was a revelation to the local followers of the game. Janes is fully the equal of McLoughlin in smashing the ball from a high lob. His drives possess wonderful power and accuracy, and his service very much resembles that of the champion. Apparently McLoughlin has been the pupil of the veteran Janes, and the youthful prodigy has absorbed all the fine points of his teacher.

The champions are in fine fettle for the challenge round, McLoughlin has fully recovered from his slightly sprained wrist, and being in splendid physical condition, seems to have the enduring qualities to stay the hardest kind of a match. The new court is just to the liking of the northerners, and both players are supremely confident of beating the challengers in short shift.

Perhaps the most surprising feature of yesterday's matches was the excellent playing of Wayne and Variel. The collegians put up classy tennis in two whirlwind matches, taking the measure of Freeman and Holmes in a five-set match, 6-2, 6-3, 1-6, 2-6, 6-3, in the morning, and giving Browne and Sinsabaugh a nip and tuck match in the afternoon, in a four-set affair, the score running 6-2, 7-9, 6-0, 6-3. In both matches the youngsters played the game strong in every department. Their veteran opponents were pushed to the limit, and the outcome was constantly in doubt.

The playing of the two teams was quite a reversal of the Thursday form. Variel and Wayne first encountered Galusha and Albright. Finding their opponents easy, the college sharks loafed, and gave away several games. Freeman and Holmes, on the other hand, played a very strong game against Mace and Herd, and they appeared sure victors over Wayne and Variel. The collegians started with a rush, however, lobbed, smashed and placed the ball beyond the reach of the vets, and piled up two sets against their opponents in short order.

TOOK A BRACE.

Freeman and Holmes braced in the third set, which went to the vets, at 6-1. The fourth set was almost a repetition, 6-2. The fifth and final set was a whirlwind exchange of terrific drives and net rallies that brought the fans to a high interest. Variel and Wayne were a bit faster on their feet. They won by 6-3.

Scarcely less spectacular was the afternoon match, when Sinsabaugh and Browne fought through four hard sets for the honor of meeting Bell and Bundy in the finals. The boys were a bit tired from their morning match, and were a trifle slow in following the ball. The vets slipped past many drives to the side lines, and smashed more tallies to the balk chalk. Sinsabaugh shone at the net, and returned the volleys to the far corners with telling results.

Bell and Bundy ran across a stiff proposition in Braly and Duncan. Jack played the game as never before. Every detail of his action was excellent except his service. Braly, however, easily made up for this failing, and sent across a puzzling curve, which often failed to return. Bundy and Bell played their usual strong game, Bell backing up the court, and Bundy excelling at the net. Bundy's reverse twist alone counted frequently for points. His terrific smashes from the net sent the ball high against the screen out of reach of return.

Noble and Dawson were counted from the lists in the third round, Braly and Duncan pulling down the match in four games, at 6-3, 4-6, 6-2, 7-5.

Two matches were played in the ladies' singles, Mrs. Bruce beating Miss Alice Scott in two sets, 6-1, 6-1, and Miss May Sutton shutting out Miss Florence Sutton with a love set and a 6-1 set. The Sutton-Sutton match proved the most interesting. Miss May kept her sister running a Marathon around the court, returning lobs, drives and smashes. Florence played well and ran many games into deuce, but May always rallied on the deciding point and allowed her sister but one game. To day Miss May will play Mrs. Bruce in the finals.

The feature of today's card is of course the finals in the men's doubles between Bunday and Bell and Sinsabaugh and Browne.

The consolation in the men's doubles will be played today, and two matches in the ladies' doubles are scheduled. Miss Shoemaker has consented to play with Miss Florence Sutton and the second match is thus assured.

THE RESULTS.

Men's doubles—Third round: Bell and Bundy beat Bacon and Young, 6-2, 6-4, 6-1; Braly and Duncan beat Noble and Dawson, 6-3, 4-6, 6-2, 7-5; Wayne and Variel beat Freeman and Holmes, 6-2, 6-3, 1-6, 2-6, 6-3; Browne and Sinsabaugh beat Woodbury and Canston, 9-7, 6-1, 6-4. Semi-finals: Bell and Bundy beat Braly and Duncan, 2-6, 6-3, 6-4, 6-4; Browne and Sinsabaugh beat Wayne and Variel, 6-3, 7-9, 6-0, 6-3.

Women's singles—Miss May Sutton beat Miss Florence Sutton, 6-1, 6-0; Mrs. Bruce beat Miss Scott, 6-1, 6-1.

Today's programme:

9:30 o'clock—Ladies doubles: Miss May Sutton and Mrs. Hickan will play Mrs. Farquhar and Miss Scott; Miss Florence Sutton and Miss Shoemaker will play Mrs. Bruce and Miss Mary Browne.

10:30 o'clock—Men's doubles; consolation matches: Bacon and Young will play Simons and Gay; Galusha and Albright will play Overton and Bumiller; Crawford and Jones will play Feltshans and Dietrich; Rogers and Rogers will play Mace and Herd.

2 o'clock—Finals, ladies' singles: Miss May Sutton will play Mrs. B. O. Bruce.

3 o'clock—Finals men's double: Bell and Bundy will play Sinsabaugh and Browne.

FEATURE SELLING PLATE.

Base Metal Takes the Race With Whitney's Filly Running Unplaced.

THREE-CORNERED MATCH.

Rifle Contest to Take Place at Santa Ana Sunday and Monday on New Range.

A three-cornered shooting match among the Los Angeles and Santa Ana teams of the Southern California Rifles' Association, and Co. L, N.G.C., of Santa Ana, is to open the new range of the Santa Ana Rifles tomorrow, and will be completed Monday.

The Santa Ana club has the only 1000-yard range in this end of the State, controlled by a civilian club. The members of the club have only had their rifles one week, and many of them have never shot on the 1000-yard range.

Individual matches will be shot on the 200, 300, 500 and 1000-yard ranges tomorrow, and on Monday the same ranges will be used for team contests.

Cause of Injury.

SAN BERNARDINO, July 2.—The autopsy held today over Senator Clark, C. L. Deryder's speedy pacer, which broke his leg Thursday and was shot, developed the fact that the bone was badly broken and shattered. Several splinters of the bone pierced the flesh causing internal bleeding. It is stated that the leg undoubtedly was torn while the horse was making an effort to take the lead at the finish. Diablo Mc, supposed to have been suffering from heart disease, apparently is well today. It is thought that in pulling up to avoid a collision, the check struck forcibly across the throat, causing temporary paralysis.

COMING BY THOUSANDS.

JACKRABBIT IS FAVORITE ENTRY IN VOTING CONTEST.

Thomas and Locomobile Close up, With Franklin, Lozier and Stearns Doing Well — Chalmers Seems to Have Little Car Place Cinched—Stoddard, Buick, Durocar and Cadillac Likely Runners.

WITH astonishing leaps and bounds the Apperson "Jackrabbit" has taken the lead in the great road race voting contest. The crack speedster heads the list with 1979. This comfortable lead is an increase of more than 300 over the number recorded yesterday. The Thomas holds a good second place and the Loco a comfortable third.

"Look out for the Chalmers-Detroit," is the slogan of those who are boosting this entry in the big event. The car is making a wonderful run and is climbing up the ladder steadily. The Stoddard-Dayton refuses to budge from fifth place, maintaining its rung stubbornly in spite of the repeated assaults from below.

The Franklin is seventh, but the Lozier has taken the place of the Stearns and that car has been obliged to drop down to ninth place. Huntley L. Gordon's car is making a good run and has a host of valuable friends who are voting consistently.

"Hurry a little, you Stearns boosters. Your car has a fine chance to win that big race."

Far and away ahead of the entire bunch in the small car race, the Chalmers-Detroit is holding a lead that seems likely to land it first at midnight, Friday. Bert Dingley's fast car has 2175 votes. More were received late last night.

FAST BUICK.

Following the performance of the Buick "White Streak" at the road race course yesterday morning the voters who are backing this little car to win should rally to its support. J. A. Nikrent sent the car over the course faster than any machine in the small race. The Buick is a likely entry and "Nick" expects to give Bert Dingley the race of his life.

Christopherson, in the Cadillac, is doing well. The car holds its place nicely in the voting contest. The many friends of the machine keep voting regularly and the tally clerk knows he will receive just so many Cadillac ballots each day. The machine which Lester Patee cannot drive is a favorite in its class.

Don't forget the Stoddard-Dayton and the Durocar. These machines are credited with more than a mile a minute on the straightaway. That is fast enough to win the little race. G. McKeague, the Duro driver, showed his class on the course yesterday. His car looks wonderfully well.

How they stand:

BIG CAR RACE.

GUESS WHO?

Which of the above-named cars will win the great cup road race to be run on the Santa Monica course July 10? What will be the record time made by the winning car in each class?

The Times desires to give its mathematical readers a chance to do a little figuring, and will reward those who come nearest to giving the correct answers, in a handsome manner as hereafter explained.

The distance to be covered is 202.417 miles.

THE PRIZES.

Prizes will be awarded as follows by a committee selected from the Automobile Dealers' Association.

(1.) For naming winner and making best estimates of record time in heavy-car class—$200 credit on purchase price of any car listed at $2000 or over sold by any of the following-named dealers:

BABY'S ITCHING WAS INTOLERABLE

Girl of Six Months had Fearful Attack of Eczema—Spread All Over Her Face and Eyes Began to Swell—Scratched Till Blood Came—Relieved in a Night and

CURED BY CUTICURA AFTER LONG SUFFERING

"When my little girl was six months old I noticed small red spots on her right cheek. I did not pay any attention to them but finally the spots grew so large that I sent for the doctor who said it was ringworm. He prescribed an ointment which I used for two weeks, but instead of helping the eruption, the ointment seemed to make it worse. Then I went to a second doctor who after examining the baby said it was eczema. He also gave me an ointment which did not help either. The disease in the meantime spread all over the face and the eyes began to swell. I became very anxious. The itching grew intolerable. I had to tie the baby's hands to the cradle to prevent her scratching. The cheeks were covered with blood and it was a terrible sight to see. I consulted doctors from September to December, but they were unable to cure the baby. I paid out from twenty to thirty dollars without relief.

"One of my friends told me of the Cuticura Remedies and I sent at once for a set which I began to use that evening. The next morning the baby's face was all white instead of red and you can imagine how surprised I was. I cannot find words enough to praise Cuticura and I do not know what would have become of my baby only for it. I used the Cuticura Remedies until the eczema entirely disappeared. The child is now three years old and quite well. I used three cakes of Cuticura Soap, two boxes of Cuticura Ointment and one bottle of Cuticura Resolvent and I never use any other soap. I always recommend them whenever there is a chance for doing so. I will send you one of her pictures which she had taken just after she was healed. Mrs. F. E. Gumbin, Sheldon, Ia., July 13, 1908."

Cuticura Soap (25c.), Ointment (50c.), Resolvent (50c.), and Chocolate Coated Pills (25c.), are sold throughout the world. Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Sole Props., 137 Columbus Ave., Boston. 32-p. Book of Skin Diseases.

Classified Liners.

Times Classified rates: The rate for inserting "Want" ads. in The Daily Times is 1c per word for each insertion; in the unday issue 1½c per word, each insertion; minimum charge, 25c; except under following classifications the rate for which is 10c per line, minimum charge 30 cents; "Society Meetings," "Personals," "Special Notices," Church Notices, Miscellaneous," and "Bath and Massage."

"Liner" (Classified) advertisements for Sunday insertion received over the counter or by telephone after 11:30 o'clock Saturday nights will be inserted under heading "Too Late to Classify."

Sunday real estate advertisements, to be classified properly, must be in The Times office before 10:30 o'clock Saturday night. Rates 1½c per word.

The Sunday circulation of The Times exceeds 77,000 copies, and more "liners" are regularly printed in its columns than in the five other Los Angeles newspapers combined.

Telephone your want advertisements. Ring up "The Times" any time of day or night and secure prompt and careful attention.

The Times cannot guarantee accuracy or assume responsibility for errors of any kind occurring in telephoned advertisements.

THE TIMES will not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion of any advertisement ordered for more than one time.

Advertisers should retain receipts given by The Times in payment for "Liners," as no mistakes can be rectified without them.

SPECIAL NOTICES—

NOTICE OF ASSESSMENT.

LA FRESA WATER CO.—Location of principal place of business, La Fresa Tract, Los Angeles County, State of California. Notice is hereby given that at a meeting of the directors, held on the 28th day of May, 1909, an assessment of 25 cents per share was levied upon the capital stock of the corporation, payable on the 1st day of July, 1909, to the secretary of said La Fresa Water Company, at his office on said tract, Los Angeles County, State of California. Any stock upon which this assessment shall remain unpaid on the 1st day of August, 1909, will be delinquent and advertised for sale, at public auction, and unless payment is made before, will be sold on the 1st day of September, 1909, to pay the delinquent assessment, together with costs of advertising and expense of sale.

W. M. MOAD, President.
EMILE FRIEDLI, Secretary.
Office: La Fresa, Stn.

TO "LINER" ADVERTISERS:

Dating from June 1, classified advertising in The Times will be charged by the number of consecutive insertions rather than at 1c per word in the daily issue.

Those classified advertisers of a period of several months, develop the fact that the average number of words in the line are a fraction over seven. This basis for charge, therefore, will prevail after June 1.

Cash "want" advertising has always been calculated by the number of words, regulation will not change the manner of handling it. The present "want" ad. rate has been in effect for many years. Though the circulation of the paper, now more than 80,000 daily and 100,000 Sundays, has trebled during this period. No paper in the United States has a rate approximated, compares with The Times for "want" and service.

FOR SALE—TO "LINER" ADVERTISERS: Dating from June 1, classified advertising in The Times will be charged by the word at the present established rate of 1c per word in the daily issue and 1½ Sunday. To cover this change, covering a period of several months, develop the fact that the average number of words to the line are a fraction over seven. This basis for charge, therefore, will prevail after June 1. Cash "want" advertising has always been calculated by the word, and this regulation will not change the manner of handling it. The "want" ad has been the basis in effect for many years, though the circulation of the paper, now more than 50,000 daily and 60,000 Sundays, has trebled during this period. No paper in the United States, rate considered, compares with The Times in "want" ad. service.

STRIKE THREATENS TO GROW.

Three Thousand More Tin Workers Will Probably Walk Out on July 15.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

PITTSBURGH, July 2.—The strike of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workersh against the American Sheet and Tin Plate Company, which started after midnight yesterday in practically all of the union plants of the United States Steel Corporation's subsidiary, will be extended materially, it is said, by a strike of the Tin Workers' International Protective Association. The wage scale of the latter organization expires July 15, and at New Castle 2000 additional men plan, it is said, to quit work. In the event the second strike is general the number of men affected will total nearly 25,000.

An order was issued here today by the local board of the United Mine Workers of America instructing the striking miners in the Kansas district, 8000 in number, to return to work pending the outcome of a conference of miners and operators. But few of the mines reopened today in response to the order, but it is believed all will start up on Tuesday next.

Dr. Wilkins Tells of Need for Relief Fund.

Los Angeles Project Meets With Success.

Easterner Doesn't Think It Warm Here.

Rev. Dr. J. J. Wilkins arrived from the East yesterday and will make a brief stay in the city.

"Glad to see you, doctor, but sorry you got here in such a hot spell," said one of his friends.

"Do you call this hot? Well, I just came from the East, and I don't," was the quick response.

It is just a little more than a year since the doctor resigned his position as dean and rector of St. Paul's Pro-Cathedral, and went East to take charge of the $5,000,000 clergy who returned to Los Angeles after year spent in traveling for clergy relief fund.

Rev. Dr. J. J. Wilkins,

relief fund of the Protestant Episcopal church, as general secretary and financial agent.

The movement to create this great fund for the pensioning of aged ministers of the denomination was the outgrowth of a resolution presented to the general convention in Richmond, Va., in 1907, by Dr. Wilkins, and he became the logical agency through which it must become a potent movement. It was with much reluctance, however, that Dr. Wilkins severed his connection with St. Paul's, but the pressure was great, and feeling responsibility for creating the emergency, he could do nothing but yield. While he has his headquarters in St. Louis, wherever his name appears in connection with the movement, it reads: "Dr. Wilkins of Los Angeles."

Bishop Johnson of the diocese of Los Angeles, was the originator of the plan to raise $5,000,000 for the purpose specified, and it was through his suggestion that the memorial to the Richmond convention was introduced in the local diocesean convention, also on the initiative of Dr. Wilkins, who was thereupon made the agent for carrying the memorial to Richmond.

"I have traveled 25,000 miles since last September," said Dr. Wilkins, "for during the summer months there was absolutely nothing to work on in the East, and it would have been much better had I begun the work right here where it originated, but it was thought to be 'the thing' to at once establish headquarters somewhere in the East.

"The fund has progressed finely, since active work was begun in September, and I have covered a large portion of the United States, from ocean to ocean, and on Sunday morning I will present the cause to my former parishioners in St. Paul's Pro-Cathedral.

"The important part taken by Bishop Johnson, in having first suggested the duty of the church to properly care for its aged and infirm ministers, has recognition in his being made president of the group of the general commission in charge of the western district."

In speaking of the need that calls for the creation of the fund, Dr. Wilkins said:

"The salary of the average clergyman in the Episcopal church is desperately meager. It is less than $500 per year in some dioceses, and in all of them is not more than $700. That is to say, the average wage of the clergyman is pathetically below that of the average skilled mechanic, and not seldom less than that of the average day laborer.

"He is, consequently, an expert in the art of being poor, an adept in low finance; always up against the problems of getting on. He is a sort of financial wizard, who makes ends meet on an income pitifully thin and lean. I have personal knowledge of one clergyman whose salary is the princely sum of $8 per week; of another who labors on in the enjoyment of the munificent income of $5 per week, and yet another who rolls in the luxury which $120 a year affords. I know of clergymen not a few, who, after a life of splendid service, have been retired on less than $250 a year.

"It is not alone the clergymen and their families who suffer by such a condition, but the church as a body. No army ever won a battle on an empty stomach; no banner carried by men constantly timid, foreboded and depressed, was ever victorious. Yet the church is an army that marches to war with empty haversacks, and with soldiers broken and dismayed by inadequate support.

"To correct this tragic condition, and to relieve the suffering, is the purpose of this $5,000,000 pension fund, by providing the clergyman with ordinary comforts and peace in infirmity and old age."

Rev. William MacCormack who succeeded Dr. Wilkins as dean of the Pro-Cathedral, is the head of the committee of the Los Angeles diocese to work in the interest of the fund.

RELIGIOUS BRIEFS.

ANNIVERSARY CELEBRATION.

The forty-second anniversary of the founding of the First Congregational Church will be celebrated, Saturday, by an outing at Balboa Beach. The Boys' Brigade of that church will be in camp at the same time, and will help make the event a notable one.

Rev. C. C. Pierce of Memorial Baptist Church has received the degree of doctor of divinity from his alma mater, Colgate University.

Commissioner Estill and staff of the Salvation Army are on a visit to this city, and special meetings will be held tonight and tomorrow night at No. 431 South Hill street.

Rev. Dr. William Horace Day of the First Congregational Church will start on his vacation the third week in July, and will spend a month in the high Sierras. His pulpit will be filled during his absence by Rev. Dr. Huget of Galesburg, Ill.; Rev. Willard B. Thorp of San Diego, and Dr. R. R. Meredith of Pasadena.

Rev. Dr. J. J. Wilkins, former rector and dean of St. Paul's Pro-Cathedral, will preach there at 11 o'clock, tomorrow morning.

EPWORTH LEAGUERS.

MISSISSIPPIANS COMING.

A carload of Epworth Leaguers from Mississippi will arrive here tomorrow morning at 8 o'clock, en route to the National Convention in Seattle. They will be special guests at a meeting in Trinity M. E. Church, South, in the evening, when an address of welcome will be delivered by W. O. Morton, to which response will be made by Rev. R. A. Clarke, one of the visitors. Special music will add to the interest of the occasion.

RAILROAD RECORD.

BUILDS TROLLEY PATH BELOW.

PACIFIC ELECTRIC BEGINS ON THE GRADING.

Double-tracking Is to Lead from Seventh Street Through Lots Owned by Company and Across Los Angeles Street Into Basement of Building at Sixth and Main Streets.

The Pacific Electric yesterday started grading for a double track leading from Seventh street into the lots owned by the railroad, thence across Los Angeles street into the basement of the station at Sixth and Main, where cross-over tracks will be laid. Officials say these are to be storage tracks for southern division cars to facilitate traffic and prevent the holding of cars on side streets, during times when Main street is blocked, as, for instance, when the Elks' parade will pass.

The work is of the most permanent character, and many believe the move is preparatory to routing all southern division cars via Seventh, removing them from Main street altogether, as indicated in The Times several weeks ago.

The putting of a large force to work on this particular trackage has again started the rumor, oft denied by Mr. Huntington, that plans are under consideration to eliminate Main street altogether as an entrance for cars.

It is asserted that plans were at one time drawn, and are still under consideration, looking toward routing southern division cars to and from the basement and northern division via San Pedro street, when that is widened, onto an elevated runaway along the strip of land owned by the Pacific company and extending as far as Ninth street.

The Pacific Electric has caused plans to be drawn, and will soon commence alterations in the Pacific Electric building, to cost $15,000, to eliminate the vibration caused by the passage of cars over tracks supported by the main pillars of the building. These tracks will be removed from the present pillars and placed upon foundations of their own to be built.

Randolph General Manager.

Following the organization of the Southern Pacific Company of Mexico, to take over the Harriman lines in Mexico, as mentioned in The Times yesterday, Epes Randolph, formerly president of the Cananea, Yaqui River and Pacific, has been appointed general manager of the new company, which will take over all the holdings in Mexico and systematize it under one management.

R. H. Ingram, general manager of the work heretofore, is made assistant general manager.

Foreign Line Changes.

William Stubbs, in the local office of the Wabash, has been made Portland agent of that road, and will leave in a few days to take up his new duties.

John A. Gill, Pacific Coast agent of the New York Central at San Francisco for the past twenty years, resigned July 1.

R. C. Short, commercial agent for the same line in this city, has also resigned, effective the same date. He will be succeeded by W. S. Sullivan of St. Louis.

Beach Traffic Heavy.

The trolley lines are having all they can do to handle the beach crowds these warm days. All Los Angeles-Pacific beach cars are running in three coach trains, and are jammed to the guard rails. Pacific Electric trains are all running two cars to a train, and record-breaking crowds are carried. Yesterday and the day before the beaches were thronged, all getting a fair share of traffic and many picnics helping to swell the throngs.

Extra equipment is being arranged for to take care of the increasing business.

THE INFERIOR COURTS.

Alleged Wife-Deserter Bound Over.

Woman Fined for Auto Speeding.

Chicken-Lover Caught.

Charged with wife desertion, Nell B. Derry, an electrician, was yesterday held to the Superior Court by Justice Chambers. Bail was fixed at $2500. The principal testimony was furnished by Mrs. Derry and Miss Elsie Barker, 20 years old, with whom the man left the city on June 16.

Miss Barker testified that she met the defendant in March; that he led her to believe that he was not married; that he induced her to promise to wed him, and that she went with him to Bakersfield to be wedded.

Mrs. Derry, who appeared in court with an infant in her arms, testified to her marriage in Erie, Pa., more than a year ago. She said her husband left her on the night of June 15 with the declaration that he was going to El Paso to take a position, and that he would send for her. She had then only $2.40 in money.

Woman Speeder Fined.

Mrs. E. P. Riggles was fined $15 yesterday by Justice Rose for auto speeding. Her counsel asked that the case be dismissed, because she is just learning how to run a machine and is unable to judge of speed. When, however, the justice learned that Mrs. Riggles was driving at the rate of twenty-eight miles an hour on South Flower street, he declared that the offense was much greater than it would have been if she had been an experienced driver, because of the danger to pedestrians and other vehicles.

Two Sacks of Pullets.

Max Galindo was accused in the Police Court yesterday of having entered the henhouse of Mrs. Maria Coleman of No. 1315 Channing street, and of having taken two sacks full of pullets. It was shown that he had served 150 days for petty larceny, and a charge of grand larceny was entered against him. He was held to the Superior Court under $500 bail.

THEY'RE OFF.

FORTY TOURIST TOURERS OFF FOR MEXICO THIS MORNING.

FORTY Tourist motor cars will leave Tenth and Main streets this morning on the second annual Tour of the Tourist. About 200 persons are to enjoy the tour, which will take the autoists to San Diego and on into Mexico, where a bullfight and Spanish barbecue are among the attractions offered. Volney S. Beardsley, manager of the Auto Vehicle Company, is in charge.

In addition to the two-score cars which are expected to start from this city, there are other Tourist machines which will join the run at Santa Ana and at San Diego. It is believed the number will be swelled to fifty or more before the tour is a day old. The cars will be absent five days and the principal points of Southern California will be visited.

It is a tremendous undertaking to carry so many inexperienced drivers over a 500-mile course, as great care must be taken to avoid accidents. The route has been carefully laid out and every precaution possible has been taken. The roads to be followed are as good as can be found in Southern California.

The cars today will follow the coast route by way of Oceanside, the noon control. San Diego is the night stop, and the judges will check the cars in at the southern city on their arrival there, which should be about 5 o'clock.

The tourers will rest tomorrow, and Monday the run into Mexico will occupy them. This portion of the tour is over splendid roads and is through an interesting country. All of the details of crossing the line at Tia Juana have been arranged and the Tourist travelers will not be inconvenienced.

Almost all of the occupants of the forty cars are from this city. Some of them, however, have driven cars for only a short time. The Auto Vehicle Company, under whose auspices the run is held, will send a number of experienced drivers on the tour to help the timid ones.

LETTERS TO THE TIMES.

[The Times freely publishes the views of correspondents without bonding itself responsible for writers' opinions. Be brief, write plainly, state clearly. Dust in the Yosemite.

LOS ANGELES, June 29, 1909.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I have just returned from a visit to the Yosemite, and from my experience I believe a brief statement may be of benefit to others who may desire to visit the Yosemite. And in giving this information, it is but fair to state that my experience has been the experience of every person, so far as I have heard, who has gone into the park during the last few weeks.

I went in by way of Merced, which is the easiest and the popular way of entering the Park. The branch road from Merced to El Portal is seventy-eight miles in length, and runs all the way by the side of the Merced River.

The moment you leave the hotel at El Portal your troubles commence. It is about sixteen miles of staging from the hotel to the foot of Yosemite Falls, where the Sentinel Hotel and Camp Yosemite, connected therewith, are situated. The road itself is of a reasonably good grade, but on account of the soil it has an average of two inches of floury dust, and in traveling this sixteen miles, the occupants of the stages breathe dust all the way. It takes four to six horses to haul these stages, and in going in, it being a steep up-grade all the way, the speed is slow and you get the full benefit of this dust. The same is true of all the roads in the main portion of the Park; that is, after you get into the Park proper. In returning from the Park, the passengers usually do not get the same amount of dust as they do in going in, for the reason that, it being down hill, the horses move faster and the passengers thereby escape some of it, but even then they get much more than enough.

The government has complete control of this park, and has two companies of cavalry within it that do police duty. The one thing that all of the people whom I met complained of was this dust, and this is a condition which could be easily overcome. The road runs along the river from where the river comes down from the Vernal Falls to El Portal, a distance of about twenty miles. The river last week was full of clear water, it having as much water as the Genesee this twenty miles of road, or otherand as much as the Columbia usually has in the summer time at Wenatchee, Wash. Consequently, it would be a very easy thing for the superintendent of the park to construct a pipe line, with convenient outlets, along the road and sprinkle it from one end to the other, and make it a pleasure instead of a danger to ride over it. This could be done with very little expense, as it would not be necessary to pass the water wagon along, as the erection of pipes would be much cheaper; but a better plan yet would be for the government to macadamize this twenty miles of road, or otherwise make it dustless. This could be done at a moderate expense, as the grade is properly made, and it would be the means of saving the government the lives of many mules, the wearing out of wagons, etc. Several of the drivers of the United States commissary department complained to me about the condition of the roads, being full of chuck-holes from one end to the other, and under the order of the quartermaster they were required to haul the same kind of loads as they would over a good road.

This is a national park, and benefits not only our own State but the people of the United States and of the whole world. I found many European tourists there, and, while they did not cross the continent on purpose to see the Yosemite, it was one of the inducements which brought them to California, and, without exception, every person who spoke on the subject declared he would never again go into the park except in winter, unless the dust was taken care of. The government is able to make a good road and keep it in a proper condition, but should there be any question about the necessity of the government making a large expenditure for the benefit of pleasure-seekers, then I suggest that, in order to keep the road sprinkled or to build a road that will be dustless, the government levy and collect a toll from each person going into the park, of, say, 50 cents or $1, or such other sum as may be found reasonable and use the same in making and maintaining a good roadway. If the entrance and exit of the park are made safe and pleasant, thousands of people will go in annually and remain for weeks, where now but a few go in, and, being in, are in a hurry to get out to escape the dust that is found everywhere on the roads, both in and out of the park. This is a national and not a State matter, and Congress should be informed. The government has wisely regulated all hotel, camp, team and conveyance charges within the park. It has prevented saloons from being operated in the park or near the approaches thereto. It prevents the taking of firearms of any kind into the park; it causes decency, law and order to be observed. The means of transportation and the hotel and camp charges, so far as I could learn, are altogether satisfactory to the visitors, and the only thing that any person can properly find fault with is the deep dust on all the roads within the park and those going to and coming therefrom.

This park being nearer the northern cities and being of greater benefit to them than it is to Southern California, I wonder that the Chambers of Commerce and the Boards of Trade and the Congressmen from the adjacent districts have not taken steps to remedy this fault. But as this is a national matter, I see no reason why The Times should not do something in this matter and stir up the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, the Board of Trade, our Congressman, Mr. McLachlan, and Senator Flint to take proper steps to have this park become one of the most desirable to visit in the world, instead of what it now is, the very worst.

My reason for writing this letter is that the complaint about this unnecessary dust and the unnecessary bad condition of the present road is general, and some one ought to bring it to the attention of Congress and the Interior Department; and I know of no better way to do it than to get the newspapers, Chambers of Commerce, Boards of Trade and other civic bodies in California to work, and I have no doubt but that Congress will be very liberal in taking care of this park because, other than the expense of keeping up this road and policing the park there is no expense.

J. L. MURPHY.

THE SOREST SPOT TODAY IN PERSIA.

BY MARY A. C. COLQUHOUN.

Azerbijan, the Persian province where most of the trouble between the Royalists and the Constitutionalists is taking place, is one of the largest, wealthiest and most interesting provinces of that ancient and interesting land.

It is the northwest province, and is separated from Russia by the Aras River, the "Araxes" of the ancient Greeks. Some ten years ago when Persia obtained a loan from Russia this province was largely given over to Russian rule.

Tabriz is the capital of Azerbijan, it is the commercial capital of the entire country and is second only to Teheran in size and importance. This city has the honor of being mentioned in "Paradise Lost" as indicating the distant Orient in the time of Milton. Tradition says that it was founded by Zobeide, the wife of Haroun-al-Raschid, and that she named it Tabriz (fever-scatterer) because she was cured of a fever there. It is true that there is little fever or malaria on this lofty plateau, and that it is one of the most healthful portions of Persia. It is not improbable that the wife of the renowned Khalif of Baghdad sought refuge from the heat of the river valley in some of the mountain villages of Northern Persia; but if we connect her in any way with Tabriz it must be merely because she enlarged and beautified the place, for it probably existed before her day.

Tabriz is, indeed, a very old city, and has been wholly or partly destroyed by earthquake several times. Earthquakes are common in that region. I shall never forget the first one that I experienced there. I had been in Persia but a few weeks when I woke one night to find the windows shaking, the stove rattling, the bed rocking. I awakened my companion and asked anxiously, "What is it?" In a sleepy, indifferent voice she replied, "Oh, only an earthquake."

The most conspicuous building in Tabriz is the ancient citadel, or rather the small portion of it which the earthquakes have spared. The height of this portion is 120 feet. It is the highest building in Persia. Casting criminals from the summit of this citadel used to be a favorite mode of execution. It is said that the life of one woman was saved because her voluminous skirts spread out and sustained her in the air, so that she alighted without injury, ran away and escaped her pursuers.

The Blue Mosque is less ancient than the citadel, dating only from the middle of the fifteenth century, but it is the chief ruin of Tabriz from an architectural point of view. It was once an imposing arched structure covered within and without with glazed tiles of various colors—blue and white predominating. Many of these contained inscriptions from the Koran, in the graceful, intricate Arabic characters.

Twenty years ago there was at least a fourth more of this mosque standing than remains today. It was then entirely unprotected, and was a convenient kennel for stray dogs. You could ride your horse all through it. As the tiles, loosened by time and frost, fell to the ground, any one was at liberty to pick them up.

The beginning of the ruin of this mosque was an earthquake which occurred in the early part of the nineteenth century; but as a mosque it was deserted long before that, because it had belonged to the Suni sect of the Mohammedans, while the Persians have for 500 years belonged to the Shiah sect.

The Persians also have no idea of the artistic value of this mosque and only recently have they learned the possibilities of making money out of places of interest. Now the mosque is guarded, not as a mosque of the Shiahs would be, because too sacred for the intrusion of a Christian, not as one of the greatest ruins of the Orient, not as one of the finest existing specimens of Mohammedan architecture—but solely for the purpose of obtaining "backsheesh" from curious foreigners, who, the Persians say, "have more money than brains."

Many other ruins of more ancient buildings are scattered throughout Azerbijan, among them the interesting and artistic tower shown in our illustration which is situated at the foot of Lake Oroomiah, near the ancient town of Maragah.

As we read of the destruction of Persian villages by the Constitutionalists, we are reminded of one peculiarity of these villages, namely, that they are made up almost entirely of the farming population. Persia has only about 9,000,000 inhabitants. In view of this small population Americans are often surprised at the great size of Persian cities and the large number of villages and towns; but it must be remembered that there is no country population. Such a thing as an isolated farmhouse is unknown. On acount of the lawlessness which exists, even in times of peace, people would not be safe in such a house, and the method of obtaining water is such that the expense could not be borne by one man. And so, because of the many difficulties and inconveniences which any other mode of living would bring, the farmers of one district all congregate in one village, which for protection is surrounded by a high mud wall.

I CURE

PILES

AND FISTULA

Without an Operation

By My Painless Dissolvent Method

For 25 years I have been curing diseases of the rectum and lower bowel. During that time my experience as hospital and railroad surgeon, as college lecturer and professor has enabled me to develop a method that is superior to all others. I Cure Without Any Surgery and my treatments will do for you what no other remedy, hospital operation, or family physician possibly can do, for I remove the cause of the trouble and the cure is permanent and sure. My patients never lose a moment's time from their business or pleasure, and are never detained in bed while taking my treatment.

I GUARANTEE TO CURE every case I treat, or I accept no fee for my services. If you are a sufferer you will be interested in my book, which I will gladly send you upon application. My book tells of my method of curing Rectal Troubles, and contains a great deal of valuable information. It also contains the names of many Southern California people whom I have cured and to whom you may write for reference.

LAND BELONGS TO THE CITY

Engineer of San Pedro Declares Fact.

Does It After Making a Survey at Terminal.

San Pedro city owns the Terminal Island frontage where the boat landing was torn out Wednesday night. Chief City Engineer Whitman of the harbor town yesterday after, making a survey of the premises where a gr was reported. The City Engineer declared that the piles recently place there by a driving crew are driven land owned by the city of San Ped under the dedication made to the ci of Long Beach.

After City Attorney Steiglitz of San Pedro had secured an order fro Judge Wilbur, temporarily restrainin certain railroad companies and oth defendants from entering or takin possession of the land, the City Engineer made a map and survey to b used in the case.

ARRESTS DRIVING GANG.

City Marshal Ben Baker of San Pedro arrested Amos Keith, foreman of the gang operating the pile driver, an eleven of his men yesterday on a charge of malicious mischief in removing the public landing at the foot o Fourth street. There is still some doub as to whether the gang was working for the Salt Lake road or the San Pedro Transportation Company, which claims some rights in the landin through a lease held by the Southern Pacific. Keith stated in court that he was working under orders of C. W. Frasier, a Salt Lake official.

The men were released by City Recorder Smith, to appear this morning. Efforts were made without success to get bail for the men, and they were released under their own recognizance under $10 bail.

OPPOSITION POORLY MANAGED.

The feeling in San Pedro that the campaign there against consolidation has been poorly managed is more and more noticeable. The last franchise grab on the east side has brought down the denunciation of scores of influential citizens who have been opposed to consolidation and who have hitherto been defending the city administration.

Even the saloon men are beginning to realize that it may be safer to trust their interests under the wing of the consolidated city than to have to be at the mercy of the "solid three" Trustees. Some of the more far-sighted ones, who realise that there is more business six days a week in a good live town where things are moving, than there is in some places in seven days, are beginning to peek over the fence into the consolidation camp. Some of them already say confidentially that consolidation doesn't look half so bad as they expected to see it.

It is known that two of the "solid three" Trustees are not feeling comfortable these days. Walton still weighs out the ice to the saloons as usual and Foot hauls the beer, but the pressure of public opinion has had its effect. Policemen in San Pedro have been wearing full cartridge belts lately. It is pretty well understood that there are at least two men in the town afraid of the dark.

Tilton is the only man of the "solid three" who is keeping his head up in the air. The spirit of the most crafty man of the triple alliance is the hardest to break, but it is a spirit that when once broken may be utterly crushed. The city administration revolves around Tilton as a pivot, and he has not yet given up.

BLIND PIG BOTTLES.

The delivery wagon of the San Pedro Wholesale Company of which Tilton is the manager, stopped as usual yesterday morning at the foot of the stairs a few steps from the main business center of town, and the driver made his regular trip up to a notorious house of prostitution on the floor above and carted down sack after sack of empty liquor bottles.

People in San Pedro are used to seeing this sort of thing, but in the face of the tremendous opposition to the "solid three" in San Pedro these days probably nobody but Tilton would have the nerve to allow his gaily-painted wagon to stop at such a blind pig resort in broad daylight even in San Pedro.

GET TEMPORARY INJUNCTION.

The allegation that some of the railroad companies had appropriated the Fourth-street landing of Terminal Island, brought out another injunction suit, in the Superior Court yesterday, and a temporary restraining order was issued by Judge Wilbur, returnable July 9 in Judge Bordwell's court.

The plaintiffs in the action are the City of San Pedro, by the Board of Trustees, and the defendants, the Southern Pacific Railway Company, the San Pedro, Los Angeles and Salt Lake Railway Company, and the San Pedro Transportation Company et al. It is represented that the city of San Pedro is possessed and holds for the public use certain waterfront lands, which constitute a valuable asset; that such lands are worth $350,000, and the complaint follows along the lines of the injunction proceeding of Wednesday.

It is further alleged that on June 20, 1903, the defendants agreed together to enter upon the lands, and have torn down and destroyed the public landing, driven piling along and across the municipal lands and threaten to inclose them with wharves; that the defendants have anchored a pile driver near-by and, unless restrained by order of the court, will proceed to construct wharves which will preclude the city of San Pedro from using the same.

The land sought to be appropriated by the defendants is a strip sixty feet wide, a continuance of Fourth street; also a parcel of land seventy-five feet wide and 200 feet in length along the lines of San Pedro harbor, and extending 150 feet on each side of the central line of the first tract and identified as Fourth street.

The prayer of the petition is that the defendants be restrained from entering upon or taking possession of such land; from driving any piling or erecting any wharves or interfering with the city of San Pedro in the control and jurisdiction over said lands.

The suit was filed by H. Steiglitz, City Attorney of San Pedro.

The interests favored Long Beach control and have had their attorneys investigating, with the result, it is said, that evidence is forthcoming to show that not only

CORPORATIONS INQUIRING.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

LONG BEACH, July 2.—It was reported on the street today that an attempt may be made by big corporate concerns interested in Terminal Island to test the legality of the three elections by which San Pedro secured Terminal Island and East San Pedro and over which she assumed jurisdiction after the Supreme Court ousted Long Beach from possession. The interests favored Long Beach control and have had their attorneys investigating, with the result, it is said, that evidence is forthcoming to show that not only was the election illegal, but in the three different annexation elections there is not one correct description of the territory involved.

Mayor Windham and City Attorney Long have been asked what Long Beach intended to do in the matter of asking for a rehearing, but they say that so far as the municipality is concerned there will be no attempt to dispute the ruling of the Supreme Court. The only hope for those who are opposed to San Pedro domination is an application to the Attorney-General to institute quo warranto proceedings against San Pedro, in which the legality and correctness of the descriptions could be judicially reviewed.

DIFFERENT VIEW.

STATEMENT BY SALT LAKE HEAD.

DETAILS ABOUT TERMINAL ISL. AND FRONTAGE.

Review of the Situation Relative to Ferry Landing and Other Matters as Made from the Standpoint of the Company — Explanation Concerning Provision for Boating Traffic.

Concerning the interests of the San Pedro, Los Angeles and Salt Lake Railroad Company in frontage on the inner harbor on Terminal Island, R. E. Wells, general manager of the company, made a statement yesterday, in which he said:

"In the early nineties the Los Angeles Terminal Land Company, a subsidiary company of the Los Angeles Terminal Railway Company, subsequently merged into the Salt Lake Railroad, conveyed to the Catalina Yacht Club a lot fronting on the inner bay of San Pedro. This lot fronted on what would have been Third street, if extended, of the plot of the lands known as 'East San Pedro.' Subsequently the Catalina Yacht Club conveyed this lot to the Southern Pacific Company, which, in turn, had leased it to the San Pedro Transportation Company as a ferry landing.

"Some two years ago the Salt Lake Railroad Company, desiring to close certain streets in this old plat, took up the matter with the City Council of Long Beach, which city was then exercising municipal control over the property in question, and it was arranged that certain streets should be vacated, the railroad company in turn deeding to the city streets extending through to the water front on the inner harbor, which had not at that time been established, but which was under consideration by the government officials.

"Third street was one of the streets to be closed, and it was arranged, after consultation with the city authorities of Long Beach, for the railroad company to deed a lot on Fourth street similarly situated to the one on Third street, which the Southern Pacific owned and which was and is the landing places for the ferry being operated between Terminal Island and San Pedro; the Salt Lake railroad company agreeing further to construct a suitable landing place for the ferry on the new site. The deed to the city of Long Beach for Fourth street provided that the company waived, so far as it was concerned, any objections to the construction by the city of a municipal wharf along the harbor lines when established, but expressly reserving, however, all rights pertaining to the property to be deeded to the Southern Pacific.

"All these transactions were completed except the actual moving of the ferry landing to the new site at Fourth street. The city improved Fourth street and at the foot thereof constructed a public landing or wharf the width of the street. At the time of the construction of this wharf the city authorities of Long Beach also constructed a float on which they anchored alongside their wharf, but which encroached upon the lot which the Salt Lake had deeded to the Southern Pacific; but this act was done by consent of the Salt Lake Railroad company and with the understanding that when it became necessary to construct the ferry landing on the new lot fronting on Fourth street the Salt Lake might remove the float. This work of building the landing for the ferry on the new lot deeded to the Southern Pacific was the work undertaken and to which objection has been made.

"Third street having been legally closed, it is absolutely necessary to move the ferry landing, and it is to carry out this end that the work now being undertaken was begun.

"All the land we own on Terminal Island we paid for when we purchased the Los Angeles Terminal Railway, and all the lands extending out to and beyond the harbor lines, as now established at the point in question, are within the patent lines of the San Pedro ranch, which has come down through mesne conveyances to the Salt Lake Railroad, for which we paid a good round price; so that it is not fair or in accordance with facts to apply the now popular term 'land grabber' to the Salt Lake Railroad, and particularly in this instance, when the work under construction is a landing for a public ferry, better than the one which it is intended to supplant, and more convenient and safe for the public to use."

VANDERBILTS TO LIVE APART.

Mrs. Belmont Fails to Smooth Differences Between William K., Jr., and His Wife.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

LONDON, July 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Despite efforts of relatives in Europe to smooth the differences said to exist between William K. Vanderbilt, Jr., and his wife, it is declared that the wife of the millionaire is determined to live apart from her husband permanently. "The Vanderbilts are trying to forget each other," declared an intimate friend of the family today.

It is said only the most formal correspondence has passed between Mr. and Mrs. Vanderbilt since she sailed from America. When she left, her husband was not at the dock to see her and her two children depart.

It was believed Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont, the mother of Vanderbilt, would reconcile them when she reached America, just before her daughter-in-law sailed, but there are no outward evidences that the efforts of Mrs. Belmont have been successful.

COTTON TAKES JUMP.

Advance of Forty Points Takes Place in Single Day and Market Is Feverish.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

NEW YORK, July 2.—Heavy buying orders flooded the New York cotton market when the government crop report was made public today.

Prices advanced sharply about forty points over last night's closing until the October option sold at $12. December at $12.06 and January at $11.96. This was equivalent to an advance of about $2 per bale.

The market was feverish and excited for some time. Heavy realizing sales followed the advance, but prices were well sustained.

CHANGE COMING.

SUFFRAGETTES PICK NEW YORK.

Headquarters Will Be Moved from Capital.

Large Sums Offered for Work by Gothamites.

Insurgents Accept Overtures of Leaders.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SEATTLE, July 2.—The American Woman Suffrage Association decided today to establish national headquarters in New York City.

When discussion of the removal from Washington was begun, some of the delegates objected on the ground of the heavy expense of maintaining headquarters in New York. They were assured, however, that plenty of money was obtainable in New York, and had been definitely pledged; that the suffrage movement was on every tongue in the great city, and had entered on a new era.

The split in the Washington State organization vexes the national officers, who are trying to effect a compromise. The insurgents, mostly from Spokane, are holding sessions in a hall opposite the church in which the national convention meets.

The national body voted today unanimously to seat two Spokane delegates, without vote, pending investigation of their protest to the national body. This concession the insurgents accepted, and took the two seats.

Tonight the National College Equal Suffrage League held a meeting in Plymouth Church, Rev. Anna H. Shaw presiding.

The speakers were Miss Caroline Lexow of New York, Mrs. Eva Emery Dye of Oregon, Miss Adelia M. Parker of Seattle and Prof. Frances Squire Potter of Minnesota.

The morning session of the convention of the American Woman Suffrage Association was devoted to reports of committees and officers. The treasurer, Mrs. Harriet Taylor Upton of Ohio, announced that receipts during the past year had been $15,420; disbursements, $14,480. For field work, the largest expenditure was in Oklahoma.

The States making the largest contributions were, in order: New York, Massachusetts, California, District of Columbia and Illinois. Henry B. Blackwell of Massachusetts, submitting the report of the Committee on Presidential Suffrage, contended that under a Supreme Court decision legislatures could, by a majority vote, give women the privilege of voting for Presidential electors.

Chairman Lucia Ames Mead of the Committee on Peace and Arbitration in her report said:

"Women, though hating war, quite as frequently as men, are deluded by the plea that peace can be insured only by huge armaments. It is a question whether woman suffrage would greatly lessen the vote for these supposed preventives of war. But there is no question that further reliance on reason and less on force would exalt respect for woman, and would relieve the objection that woman's muscular inferiority has anything to do with suffrage."

The feature of the afternoon was the report of Mrs. Florence Kelley of New York, chairman of the Committee on Industrial Problems.

GOVERNOR COMING SOUTH.

Will Reach Here in Time to Deliver Address of Welcome to the Antlered Herds.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, July 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Gov. Gillett will start next week for the southern part of the State. He will be at Santa Barbara July 10, to open the campaign for the adoption of the $18,000,000 bond issue for good roads in California.

A measure authorizing the issue was passed by the last Legislature at the request of the Governor. While in Santa Barbara the Governor will select a site for the new manual training school to be built there, by funds appropriated by Legislature.

He will pay a short visit to Los Angeles, and deliver the address of welcome to the Elks, from all parts of the United States, at the national convention. During the latter part of July he and his family will go to Humboldt county for a vacation.

NEW DOCK FOR HARRIMAN.

Steamship Company to Build Huge Wharves in Portland to Accommodate Growing Business.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PORTLAND (Or.) July 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] In order to handle the increased business of the San Francisco and Portland Steamship Company, the Harriman interests are soon to erect in this city a dock larger than any now in use here. The new dock will be built on the site occupied by the Ainsworth and Alaska docks, both of which are used by the Harriman boats, but which have done duty for several decades and have been weakened by their long use.

Definite steps toward the construction of this modern wharf are to be taken by R. P. Schwerin, manager of the company, who is to arrive in Portland within the next few days from San Francisco. Part of the site occupied by the Alaska Dock will be used by the new railroad bridge to be erected by the Harriman lines.

Girl for Ten Days Faced Death in Caved-in Tunnel Is Finally Rescued Alive.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

ST. GALL (Switzerland,) July 2.—A young woman, 19 years old, who ten days ago was caught in a cave-in of a railroad tunnel, was today dug out alive. She suffered agonies of cold and hunger during this period, but managed to sustain life by sucking moisture from her clothing on which water occasionally trickled.

She continued to call for help until she was heard and rescued.

RETURNING TO MESSINA.

MESSINA (Sicily) July 2.—The people of Messina, although still alarmed as a result of the earth shocks of yesterday morning are beginning to return from the country. The local authorities have adopted stringent measures to prevent anybody occupying houses that are not considered safe. The shocks continue today, but they are less frequent and of diminished severity.

VALLEY SCENES GIVE DELIGHT.

SAN JOAQUIN PICTURES DRAW LARGE AUDIENCE.

Stereopticon Lecture at The Times Branch Office Sets Forth Most Invitingly Wonders of a Section Once Home of Indians—Famed Orchards and Vineyards.

Considerable interest in the beauties and resources of the San Joaquin Valley is being created here, judging by the number of people who attended, last night, the second of the series of illustrated lectures given by the San Joaquin Valley Promotion Company at The Times branch office, No. 531-33 South Spring street. And the story told by the stereopticon was so attractive as to easily hold attention.

Clear-cut against the wall were shown the beautiful ranch homes of those who have taken up their abodes in that chosen stretch of wonderland. These are homes in the fullest sense of the word—homes where prosperity was the natural condition and happiness and comfort the rule, substantial and attractive buildings that would be ornaments on many city streets.

About the ranch homes stretched the fields, rich with the swaying grain, in which the ranchmen and their help could be seen working with the most modern and complete equipment, for things are always done thoroughly in the San Joaquin Valley. And besides the fields were the orchards and vineyards, which are famed all over the land for the excellence of their products.

Then, as if to give the audience a vacation from these scenes of agricultural activity, the lecturer swept up to the lofty mountain peaks, whence a magnificent panorama was unfolded. A new picture flashed upon the screen, and spectators looked upon cosy nooks in the lofty hillsides; hunting camps that have been made into modern summer resorts, gurgling brooks that leaped and danced in the sunlight, down to where the thirsty crops awaited them; cool forests of gigantic timber.

As one looked it was hard to resist the temptation to make straight for home, pack up and leave for the scenes the stereopticon showed so alluringly and yet so faithfully.

There were the mountain streams teeming with trout, the gamy fellows that will rise to the hook and then fight to take it away, and more than one wielder of the rod and line sighed when a great bunch of the fish was shown, held high by a successful sportsman.

The vacation over, it was back again to the valleys, where the tumbling waters of the Kings River learn to become docile in the vast ramification of irrigating canals and steal softly over the fields and orchards, bringing with them wealth and coolness for the happy men and women who live in this modern Eden. The spectators looked again upon scenes of fertility that would appear incredible to one who had never seen the San Joaquin Valley and its tributaries. Melons and pumpkins, apples and pears—these grow in abundance and unsurpassed in quality in this favored country.

Involuntarily, the mind reverted to the Indians who first held sway there, and one felt sorry for them. And there were many Indians in the San Joaquin at one time. Indeed, the red man could not well have overlooked so blessed a land, and relics of his stay there are to be found in abundance in the mountains. All these the stereopticon showed last night, for the white people never tire of Indian relics.

Interest in the scenes portrayed was made clear by the number of people who asked for special information after the lecture, and there was a quantity of literature distributed.

These lectures are free, and it is expected that they will continue to attract larger and larger crowds, for there are many in Los Angeles, even among those who have lived here for long time, who are not yet familiar with the story of the San Joaquin, and to these, as to all others, the information will be a source of pleasure, as well as of profit.

Mr. Adams, who is the head of the Adams Pipe Works, has visited every pipe manufacturing plant in the country and has made arrangements for a supply of unfinished piping at his plant in Los Angeles to be finished here.

BODY FOUND NOT LING'S.

New York Police Took Corpse of White Boy for Remains of Elsie Sigel's Murderer.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

NEW YORK, July 2.—The body, supposed at first to be that of a Chinaman, found in the Hudson River last night, was not that of Leon Ling, charged with the murder of Elsie Sigel. After an autopsy today, Dr. Thomas Curtin, coroner's physician, declared the body was that of a white boy not more than 16 years of age. The discoloration, following long immersion, gave the body the appearance of that of a Mongolian.

KILLED BY HORSE THIEVES.

DENVER, July 2.—A special to the Post today says:

White attempting to arrest George Jamison, charged with horse stealing, at his ranch near Chico, N. M., Deputy Sheriff J. R. Kent was killed and Deputy Sheriff Williams was perhaps fatally wounded at 2 o'clock this morning. A vigilance committee of stock raisers is now on its way to the Jamison ranch.

THE MARKETS.

LOCAL PRODUCE MARKET.

Three cars of cantaloupes arrived yesterday morning and failed to fill the orders that were waiting for them, even at the increased prices. Quotations jumped to $2.25 on standard crates as a result, and to $1.50 to $2 on jumbos. The lack of sufficient supply of cantaloupes has increased the call for watermelons, and these have gone back to 2 cents a pound, with the best melons for canning at that figure.

The warm weather has created another great demand, and that is lemons. The increased call for this citrus fruit was fully expected, and as a consequence packed lemons jumped to $2.25 a box. This is the highest price of the year on fancy lemons. Choice lemons sold at $2.50, choice $2, and culls, called juice lemons, among the trade, at $1.25. Last week culls were obtainable at 75 cents a box, while the best pack near by worth only $2 to $2.25.

Egg receipts were light, 261 cases. There were no changes in the market, and the demand of the day was very fair. Eastern fresh were sold sparingly.

Butter receipts were 30,885 pounds. Creamery extra sold at 28½ per 2-pound square, in a jobbing way. There were no actual price changes, though the market has warranted them.

Local cheese advanced. Anchor went to 19 cents, Young American to 20, and hand to 21 cents in the face of an easy eastern market, and weakness in some of the other varieties shipped in here in quantities. Receipts of cheese yesterday were extremely large—35,400 pounds.

Santa Ana, Burbank, Orange and other surrounding towns are shipping in potatoes by the carload. The railroad receipts of yesterday were practically four cars. Weakness was still apparent in the spuds. Onions remained firm with only 10 sacks received.

Beans were about all cleaned up, and there is a steady demand for pinks, limas and Lady Washingtons on the part of dealers whose stock has given out. There have been no higher prices, the ones prevailing at present being considered sufficiently high to hold the market until the arrival of the new beans at the end of this month.

Cherry receipts were a trifle heavier. As a result the price on them declined practically two cents. Apricots were worth no more than 50 cents. Peaches sold at $1 for clings and $1.25 for free stones. The first blacks, grapes and the season arrived from Imperial Valley, and the price on them was fixed at $1.25 a crate.

LOCAL OFFICE, U. S. WEATHER BUREAU, Los Angeles, July 2.—[Reported by A. H. Wollaber, Local Forecaster.] At 5 o'clock p. m. the barometer registered 29.89; at 5 p.m., 29.87. Thermometer for the corresponding hours showed 67 deg. and 77 deg. Relative humidity, 5 a.m., 74 per cent.; 1 p.m., 46 per cent. Wind, 5 a.m., east, velocity 5 miles; 5 p.m., southwest, velocity 11 miles. Maximum temperature, 87 deg.; minimum, 66 deg. Barometer reduced to sea level.

Weather Conditions.—The pressure has decreased considerably over the Pacific Slope since Thursday morning, and scattering thunderstorms with light precipitation are reported in Arizona. Otherwise but little change has occurred in the weather west of the Rocky Mountains in the last twenty-four hours. High afternoon temperatures continue over the interior of Northern California and in the Southwest. East of the Rocky Mountains thundershowers have prevailed in New Mexico, Texas, Arkansas and scattered portions of the South. Elsewhere fair weather continues. The pressure distribution over the Pacific Slope is favorable for fair weather with some cloudiness in Los Angeles and vicinity tonight and Saturday, probably with somewhat lower temperature.

Forecasts.—Local forecast for Los Angeles and vicinity: Fair, probably with somewhat lower temperature, tonight and Saturday; variable winds.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 2.—Forecasts:

San Francisco and vicinity: Cloudy Saturday, with fog; brisk west wind.

Santa Clara Valley: Fair Saturday; overcast in morning; light south wind, changing to brisk north.

Sacramento Valley: Fair Saturday; not so warm; light south wind.

San Joaquin Valley: Fair Saturday, with afternoon thunderstorms in mountains; moderate to west wind.

Los Angeles and vicinity: Cloudy Saturday; showers in mountains; moderate southwest wind.

TRIVIAL AFFAIR IN DEALINGS AND FLUCTUATIONS.

Coming Holiday Makes Speculators Indisposed to Take Chances of Accidents During Period—Undertone, However, Remains Very Firm. Strain of Settlement Tells on Banks.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

NEW YORK, July 2.—The stock market today was a trivial affair, both in the volume of the dealings and in the feeble fluctuations of prices. The imminence of a three-day holiday interval left the speculative element indisposed to take chances of accidents during that period. News developments received little attention. The undertone was very firm and the waiting attitude of the speculation was coupled with an apparent determination to cling to prospect stock holdings.

Discounts receded in London and Berlin quite today and the weekly statement of the German Imperial Bank showed the strain of the settlements. In Paris, however, the discount rate advanced, and the London exchange rate fell back. Call loan rates here were lower than yesterday.

Chicago Great Western sold as low as 1¼ The local traction stocks facing reorganization also made violent declines. The general market was comparatively undisturbed by this center of weakness, although some check to an earlier tendency was perceptible. The advance in Union Pacific was helped by the report that the company had sold its allotment of the new Southern Pacific convertible bonds to which it was privileged. There was a group of stocks of small bank-rupt railroads with reorganization plans being worked out which showed acute weakness and fell rapidly towards the point of extinction of values.

The new Southern Pacific bonds advanced today to 104, a record price. The Lacakawanna "memorandum" was assigned as the ground for the special strength in Reading. Copper rose in the London market today and gave some benefit to the copper industrials.

The market was in virtual stagnation at the end and closed easy.

Bonds were irregular. Total sales, par value, $2,616,000.

DUN'S WEEKLY REVIEW.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

NEW YORK, July 2.—R. G. Dun's Weekly Review tomorrow will say: Aside from labor difficulties at sheet and tin-plate mills, all reports from iron and steel are most encouraging. Wholesale departments are enlivened by the semi-annual clearance sale, at which the buying is steady enough to clean up most open stocks of staples. Cotton goods remain firm with some further advances noted.

BRADSTREET'S REVIEW.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

NEW YORK, July 2.—Bradstreet's tomorrow will say: Retail trade has been helped by steady hot weather, holiday preparations and clearance sales, but there are still not lacking reports from many cities that the spring and early summer turnover is below expectations. Jobbing trade is of a mid-summer filling-in order character. All western cities report fall bookings larger than last year, and some advices are of unprecedented sales for next fall.

In industrial lines the gains previously shown seem to be held. Iron and steel are active. Building is as active as heretofore and there are rather better reports coming from the labor trade, particularly at the South and in the Pacific Northwest. The shoe and leather trades are showing more activity. High prices rule in hides and in manufactured leather.

Business failures in the United States for the week ending July 1 are 215, against 234 last week, 236 in the like week of 1907, 135 in 1906, 134 in 1905, and 127 in 1903.

Wheat, including flour exports from the United States and Canada, for the week ending July 1, aggregate 1,210,998 bushels, against 1,600,542 bushels last week, and 2,068,565 this week last year.

For the 52 weeks, ending July 1, exports are 183,575,961 bushels, against 204,573,239 in the corresponding period last year.

Corn, exports for the week are 73,51[illegible] bushels, against 51,332 last week, and 12,549 in 1908. For the 43 weeks ending July 1, corn exports are 29,162,549 bushels, against 45,296,324 last year.

GENERAL EASTERN.

IDEAL WEATHER BREAKS PRICES.

NEW CROP IN SOUTHWEST IS NEARLY ALL IN.

Movement of Wheat from That Section Now Increasing Daily and Upward Revision of Estimates Becomes Necessary for Kansas Yield. Corn Turns Weak at Close.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

CHICAGO, July 2.—Wheat was heavy all day for the distant deliveries. Reports from Oklahoma claimed that the new crop is nearly all harvested and the movement is now increasing daily. An upward revision of estimates on the Kansas wheat crop was made by several conservative southwestern grain men as a result of the heavy yields shown, and the consensus of opinion was that the crop would not be less than 75,000,000 bushels. Corn was weak and at the close prices were off ½ to ¾.

Longs in general were liberal sellers and there was also free selling for short account. The market was bearishly affected by severe slumps at Kansas City and St. Louis, and by a break of 1 to 1½ in the cash grain here. July sold between 69¾ and 70¾. The close was at 69¾. Liquidation was general in oats and the price of all deliveries declined a cent or more from yesterday's close. The market closed weak at the bottom.

Provisions were firm early, but later on the slump in grain lost much of their strength. The close was 5 to 15 cents higher.

CHICAGO, July 2.—Cash quotations were as follows: Flour steady; feed or mixing barley, 60@62; fair to choice malting, 66@67; flax seed, No. 1 southwestern, 1.52; No. 1 northwestern, 1.62; timothy seed, 4.80; clover, 16.75; mess pork, per bbl., 20.42½@20.45; lard, per 100 lbs., 11.80; short ribs, sides (loose,) 11.20@11.30; short clear sides (boxed,) 11.62½@11.75.

Grain Movements.

CHICAGO, July 2.—Total clearances of wheat and flour were equal to 1,225,000 bushels. Car Exports for the week ending July 1 shown by Bradstreets, were equal to 1,211,000 bushels. Primary receipts were 308,000 bushels, compared with 364,000 bushels the corresponding day a year ago. Estimated receipts for tomorrow: Wheat, 1 car; corn, 235 cars; oats, 125 cars; hogs, 8000 head.

New York Cotton Market.

(By Private Wire to E. F. Hutton & Co., Members New York Stock Exchange, No. 111 West Third street.)

NEW YORK, July 2.—Even on a market where bullish sentiment has prevailed for weeks and prices had advanced 1 cent, the Government report figures published at noon created an avalanche of buying orders and sent prices soaring. Traders seemed to think that the report was indicative of nothing less than a disaster, and estimates were heard as low as 11,000,000 bales. As there was only three hours left for trading after the report came out before three days' holiday, orders simply poured in to buy cotton, and, notwithstanding the fact that there was very heavy realizing on the advance, offerings were readily absorbed and prices held strong at about the 12c mark.

Logan & Bryan's letter follows: "Today's government report, giving a crop condition of 74.6 is the lowest July condition report ever issued by the government, with one exception, in 1907, when the condition was 73, and the crop that year was only 11,800,000 bales. The condition this month last year was 81.2, and the acreage some 5 to 7 per cent. larger than this year. It looks as if 12¾c was inevitable for next week, and that the 15c level would be reached on or before the middle of August. These statements are based on the crop damage that has been done and not on the uncertainty of July and August weather, which might necessitate matters still further. Today's market found a few longs willing to liquidate and accept profits, but the market absorbed everything handed to it with apparent ease and price levels are some 50 to 60 points higher than yesterday. On next Tuesday, when we open after the holidays, we will run into one of the biggest cotton markets the world has ever known, which will likely continue throughout the summer of 1909."

Boston Copper Market.

BOSTON, July 2.—As intimated in our letter of yesterday, Superior and Pittsburgh became moderately active today and was very firm under an excellent close of buying. There was also a fair amount of activity in Giroux, with a tendency toward higher prices. Investors are gradually absorbing the floating stock in the better class of issues, and in our opinion as active and higher market is not far distant. Buy the good stocks on all depressions. THE CITY IN BRIEF

Heat waves!

NEWS AND BUSINESS.

Injured in Shops.

S. C. Turon, an employé in the Pacific Electric shops, was seriously injured yesterday by a brake beam falling on one of his legs.

Improvement Associations.

A meeting of the Federated Improvement Associations will be held tonight at Caledonia Hall, No. 118½ South Spring street, for the semi-annual election.

People's Theater Opening.

The People's Theater, which has been closed for some time, will reopen today, presenting the Nelson-Hyland fight pictures. These are said to be very good films.

City Rescue Mission.

The Good Samaritan Club and the Mission Aid Society will hold a meeting at the City Rescue Mission on East Fifth street tonight. An address will be delivered by Rev. J. R. Pratt.

Australasian Politics.

After a trip through New Zealand and Australia studying municipal government, Dr. George A. Gates will discuss "Politics and Public Life in Australasia" at the weekly luncheon of the City Club at the Westminster Hotel today.

Fun at Recreation Center.

A theatrical entertainment and minstrel show will be given at the City Recreation Center, St. John and Holly streets, tonight. The programme is entirely by local talent, and a feast of fun is anticipated. The proceeds are for the benefit of a fund to provide free entertainments.

For a Straight Ticket.

The Fifth Ward Republican Club met night before last, with sixty members present, and discussed the forthcoming municipal campaign. Sentiment strongly favored a regular Republican ticket, nominated through a delegate convention, and placed on primary ballot by petition.

Boys' Brigade Will Parade.

Ten companies of the United Boys' Brigade of America will go into camp at Balboa Beach on Wednesday. At 9:30 o'clock on the morning of that day the body of boys, 300 strong, will be reviewed in front of the City Hall by Mayor Alexander and other invited guests, uprior to their departure for camp.

Nowland Benefit.

A benefit concert will be tendered Eugene Nowland tonight at Hamburger's Majestic Theater. Participants in the musical programme will be Harry Girard, baritone; Harrison Williams, pianist, and Mrs. Beatrice Hubbell Plummer, soprano. The second part of the evening will be taken up by a repetition of "The Violin Maker of Cremona," with Miss Clara Williams, Eugene Nowland, William Harris and Sherman Bainbridge in the cast.

Murphy Temperance Meeting.

The Murphy gospel temperance meeting in Blanchard Hall on Sunday night will be addressed by William Murphy and Stephen L. Sullivan. Francis Murphy, Jr., and Mrs. Wayland Trask will sing. At the close of the meeting an opportunity will be given all who desire to do so to sign the constitution of the newly-incorporated Francis Murphy Association. The directors are: J. E. Carr, president; S. P. Mulford, vice-president; W. C. Patterson, treasurer; J. H. De la Monte, secretary; W. S. Bartlett, C. A. Elder, T. Weisendanger, Arthur Letts and Thomas E. Murphy of Philadelphia.

Fraternity Banquet.

Los Angeles Alumni Chapter of the Delta Chi Fraternity, an intercollegiate association of lawyers, gave its first annual banquet last night in one of the private rooms at Levy's, celebrating the receipt of its charter from the supreme chapter of the order at Cornell University. The organization is composed of men from Cornell, University of Chicago, Stanford, Chicago-Kent University, Union University and New York University. Myron Westover was toastmaster last night, and addresses were made by George Keefer, George W. Dryer, W. P. Mealey, R. W. Dole, A. M. Strong, S. N. Reed and S. H. Pardue. Roy Choate, Lucius P. Green, Earl Fier and Frank J. Baum.

BREVITIES.

To "Liner" Advertisers: Dating from June 1st, classified advertising in the Times will be charged by the word at the present established rate of 1c per word in the daily issue and 1½c Sunday. Close calculations covering a period of several months develop the fact that the average number of words to the line are a fraction over seven. This basis for charge, therefore, will prevail after June 1st. Cash "want" advertising has always been calculated by the word, and this regulation will not change the manner of handling it. The present "want" ad rate has been in effect, for many years, though the circulation of the paper now more than 50,000 daily and 80,000 Sundays, has trebled during this period. No paper in the United States, rate considered, compares with The Times in "want" ad service. The Times-Mirror Company.

Remember the slogan: "Buy and Boost Home Products." For daily references, see page 11, Part II, of The Times, containing list of wide-awake manufacturers under the heading "Made in Southern California." You will find there are manufacturers of necessities and luxuries here—manufacturers of things to eat and drink—things for the home, the factory, the office and the farm. Buy them! Try them! There are none better. Buy and Boost, and keep your money at home where it will do you and yours the most good!

PULLS HERE FOR FAIR.

Editor of "National Elks' Horn" Gets Telegram Announcing He Is Commissioner.

Norman M. Vaughan, editor of the National Elks' Horn of St. Louis, who is in the city, a guest at the Alexandria Hotel, received a telegram yesterday, announcing his appointment as special commissioner for Los Angeles, representing the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition at Seattle.

This appointment, Mr. Vaughan said, "is simply an honorary one for the purpose of attracting Elks attending the convention in Los Angeles to Seattle at the conclusion of the festivities and Grand Lodge meeting in this city.

"I have been authorized by the exposition management to have built a very handsome float to appear in the big parade of allegorical and floral events on July 16, and propose to show one of the most attractive of the kind. The float will represent the exposition, and I have secured the assistance of a number of representative Los Angeles people for the occasion.

"A special feature of the float will be the appearance thereon of three Los Angeles society girls, representing characters of the exposition. One, representing Alaska in the costume of the pioneer days, will hold in her hands a huge nugget of gold; another will be the girl of the Golden West, who will hold in her hands a railroad engine, representing transportation and progress; the third will be a Japanese character, holding a steamboat in her hands. These represent also the official emblem of the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition, and will show in part the idea being carried to completion by the management of the big show at Seattle.

"Hundreds of Elks, who are to attend the Grand Lodge meeting are interested in the exposition, and special efforts will be made to make Elks' Day in Seattle, July 28, one of the greatest events of the fair. It is hoped by having the float appear in the Elks' parade to renew the interest among brothers of the order, who are to visit Seattle and to attract others to this show of western progress and development.

"The Seattle Lodge of Elks will send a strong delegation to Los Angeles during the Grand Lodge meeting, and every one, I am advised, will come as a promoter for the exposition and Seattle.

"This means that the people of the Pacific Northwest appreciate the fact that Los Angeles is a natural rendezvous for tourists, globe-trotters and others, who may become future citizens of the country that is developing and expanding so fast—the cementing of the bonds of friendship between Seattle and Los Angeles."

SNAPSHOT WILD BEASTS.

Expedition That Is Now Fitting Out for Africa Will Use Balloon for Purpose.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

NEW YORK, July 2.—A novel African hunting expedition is being financed by W. D. Boyce, the wealthy Chicago publisher, and will leave New York on August 4.

The primary object of the expedition is to obtain photographs of game in British East Africa, where ex-President Roosevelt is now hunting, and to accomplish this, a balloon will be utilized.

George R. Lawrence, chief photographer of the expedition, and Charles A. Hughes, who is attending to the business details of the trip, are now in New York buying supplies and making arrangements.

Mr. Lawrence is having several cameras constructed which will enable him, while in the basket of the balloon, to take panoramic pictures of the wild animals as they may be seen in their wild state.

Besides Mr. Boyce, Mr. Lawrence and Mr. Hughes, the expedition will include Raymond Lawrence, 18 years old, and Ido Ramsdell, all of Chicago. The party expects to be gone a year.

THOUSANDS HOMELESS.

Flames Destroy Large Plant of Cobalt, Ont.—Break Out in Chinese Restaurant.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

COBALT (Ont.) July 2.—Fire, which broke out early today in the restaurant of a Chinaman on Haileybury road, caused a loss estimated at $100,000.

There is strong feeling against the Chinese, in whose section the fire started. Three thousand people have been rendered homeless, and the ehtire business section nort. of the square has been destroyed. One man was killed and three persons are missing. Six persons were injured.

SKULL CRUSHED.

AUTO STROKE QUICK DEATH.

Accident Costs the Life of Isaac L. Lowman.

Run Down on the Street, Neck Is Broken.

Chauffeur Is Surrounded by Angry Crowd.

Isaac L. Lowman, owner and general manager of Lowman & Co., haberdashers of No. 131 South Spring street, was struck and instantly killed by an automobile driven by M. C. Abrams at Seventh and Alvarado streets, shortly after 9 o'clock last night.

Isaac L. Lowman, who was killed by an automobile last night.

Lowman, in company with Dr. Z. Levin of the Alvarado Hotel, was crossing from Westlake Park to the opposite corner at the time of the accident. He was hurled to the gutter, death resulting instantly from a fracture of the vertebrae of the neck and fracture of the skull.

Immediately following the accident a crowd collected, and for a while Abrams, the driver, was the object of an angry demonstration. An effort was made to drag him from his car.

Friends of Lowman, who hurried to the scene, announced that they would kill the driver if they only had the weapons, and one of them struck at him several times. At the height of the excitement Patrolman James Neighbors appeared and forced back the men.

In a brief address he warned them that the frontier days were over and that there would be no hanging, but that the law would have to take its course in the proper manner. He then took charge of Abrams and locked him up at the City Jail, where he was booked on a charge of suspicion and held pending the Coroner's examination. The inquest will take place, probably this morning, at the Brosse morgue, where the body was removed immediately following the accident.

Lowman, in company with Dr. Levin, left his home at No. 3087 Wilshire boulevard in the evening. They walked about the park for some little time and then decided to go to Dr. Levin's apartments to talk over business matters.

WALKS TO HIS DEATH.

They left the park at the southeast entrance and walked cat-a-cornered toward the southeast corner of Seventh and Alvarado. They had passed the center of the intersection and were nearing the curb when a car driven at terrific speed shot past them. Abrams in his car was a short distance behind going at a slower rate. He swung his car, according to the statements of witnesses, to avoid a collision with the racing car, and in doing so turned it directly against the two pedestrians. Dr. Levin escaped by a quick leap to one side. Lowman was struck squarely and knocked down. He was killed almost instantly.

Abrams sent his car ahead to where Dr. Edward Jahns, in an automobile, was just entering a garage. He called to the physician, who returned and examined the body, but he was too late to be of any service.

Meantime, throngs of people in the park hurried to the corner. Dr. Levin, almost hysterical with grief, rushed toward the chauffeur, according to the statements of witnesses, but was detained by bystanders.

For a moment it looked as if Abrams would be harmed. The crowd pressed in closer and closer, some crying, "Lynch him! Lynch him!" They had surrounded his machine, and were trying to climb aboard when Patrolman Neighbors arrived and, with drawn club, forced his way through the mob and took the chauffeur.

Many of those who witnessed the accident state that Abrams was not going at high speed, but that on the contrary, his automobile was going at a moderate rate.

CHAUFFEUR'S STATEMENT.

At the City Jail last night the chauffeur gave the following statement regarding the accident:

"I have been driving cars for eight years, and am at present employed by Nash & Fenimore, automobile dealers, of No. 2430 West Seventh street. Last night I went to the office of Dr. Edward Jahns. I was driving a Lozier car, a fifty-horse-power machine. Dr. Jahns was some distance ahead of me, driving his car to the garage. I was going about eighteen miles an hour at the time of the accident. With me on the front seat was Harry Miller, an automobile supply dealer living at Washington street and Maple avenue. Dr. Levin was in the tonneau. Just as I passed the corner of Seventh and Alvarado streets I saw a car coming at a terrific speed. I was on the right-hand side of the street, and the car was coming on the left-hand side. I saw that it was going to hit me, and I turned my car to the right. The car struck me a glancing blow, and I lost control of my machine. It struck the curb and turned over. I was thrown out, and I remember nothing more until I found myself in the police station."

FOLLOWING UP ALTORRE.

Federal Grand Jury Supposed to Have Heard Additional Testimony Involving Other Charges.

The Federal grand jury convened yesterday for the express purpose, it is supposed, of hearing additional testimony against Orlando F. Altorre, who is already under indictment charging him with robbing the registered mail of $15,000. After hearing a number of witnesses, the jury adjourned until Tuesday morning, at which time it will probably be ready with a report.

Though all the Federal officials were very reticent about the nature of the evidence, it appears that civil service commissioners were summoned, in addition to several postal officials and inspectors.

As outlined in The Times yesterday, the government is believed to be in possession of strong evidence, tending to show that Altorre forged his civil service certificate and committed perjury in his affidavits.

It is reported that the Federal officials expect to be able to convict Altorre on the charge of forgery, perjury or both, even if the robbery indictment is not proven to the satisfaction of the jury.

As far as the punishment goes, Altorre will be no better off, even if he escapes conviction on the robbery charge, assert government officers. A defendant convicted of forgery or perjury in connection with civil service papers may be sentenced to a term of ten years in prison. If the theory of the prosecution is correct—that Altorre has concealed the missing $15,000—should the government succeed in securing a new indictment against him, it might result in his pleading for mercy.

Apparently confident that the Federal officers would never learn his past history, Altorre has maintained silence. It is possible he will be willing to talk should he be indicted on an entirely different charge.

TIMELY.

SCRAP OF PAPER SAVES LIVES.

PLOT OF DESPERATE MEN TO BREAK JAIL REVEALED.

Prisoner's Note Warns Official of Plan to Knock Him on Head, Take Keys, Overpower Deputy and Escape—Four of Seven Conspirators Under Prison Sentences.

County Jailer Gallagher has nipped in the bud a plot for a desperate jail break, and Thomas Garwood, sentenced to imprisonment for life at San Quentin, is now confined in a "blind" cell in the county institution.

Three of the seven men who had planned to "knock Gallagher on the head," have been sentenced to long terms in prison. Frank Meagher, who, with Garwood, was a leader in the plot, is under a ten-year sentence.

B. T. Ballards, a restaurant keeper of No. 1211 Georgia street, is reported to be the man who made known the conspiracy. He had been incarcerated on the charge of having passed a fictitious check, but has been released on probation.

Garwood, the desperate highwayman, who was convicted of shooting Grocer Frank H. Johannsen at his Temple-street store, Christmas Eve, and of robbing him of $100, with the assistance of two confederates, is alleged to have conceived the idea of putting Gallagher out of the way.

The conspirators were confined in D tank. The plan was to wait until the jailer made his rounds at 5 o'clock and to knock him senseless. It would then be easy to take his keys, make a rush to the lower corridor, overpower the deputy jailer, and escape. Then the men were to hide in the jungles of the river bottom above Griffith Park.

But Ballards, alias J. C. Sandstrom, smuggled out to Gallagher a scrap of paper with a warning. The jailer, with Deputies Norvell, Shehi and Strohm, went to the tank, and took the ringleaders to separate cells.

CAN'T DIAGNOSE DISEASE.

Veteran at County Hospital May Die. Pathetic Note Found in Coat Pocket.

J. C. Roberts, supposed to be a veteran, was found in the road near Fifty-third street and Long Beach avenue late yesterday afternoon, suffering from a malady physicians at the County Hospital have been unable to diagnose.

In his pocket was this note: "If anything happens to me, just bury me quietly and oblige a weary wanderer." The doctors say he may die.

LOOKING BACKWARD.

BRIBE-BAITER ONCE CONVICT.

More Disclosures in Cafe Liquor Case.

Patrolman Brown Admits He Was in Prison.

Seymour Has Fifty-Dollar Bill to Explain.

Because it was established yesterday that Patrolman Fred A. Brown is an ex-convict, attorneys for George P. Arnerich will use the information to discredit the officer's charges that Arnerich gave him $100 bribe money to "let up" on the prosecution of the café keeper for violating the city liquor ordinances.

Police officials declare, however, that the raking up of Policeman Brown's past will have no effect on the prosecution, as four other officers overheard the conversation between Arnerich and Brown when the bribe was arranged, and saw the transfer of the money from hiding places in the room where the transaction was made.

When Brown made application for a position in the police department about two years ago, he made affidavit that he had never been convicted of a crime. The defense will use this evidence of perjury in behalf of Arnerich.

CONFESSES, WON'T RESIGN.

When the police learned yesterday that charges had been made that Brown was an ex-convict, he was called into consultation by Chief Dishman. He confessed that when 17 years of age he broke into a freight car at Candia, Okla., in company with two other boys, and stole a sack of hams, which he sent to his mother.

When convicted of the offense he was sentenced to two years for burglary in the penitentiary at Lansing, Kan. After serving six months he was pardoned.

Later he married and established a dray business in an Oklahoma town, and became an alderman. His wife kept the books of the business. Overcharges were discovered, and Brown was arrested. He stood trial and was found guilty. Before sentence was passed it was learned that Brown's wife was the guilty person. A Superior Court order reversed the decision against Brown. His wife was not prosecuted.

Brown and his wife came West. One night Brown returned home, found her gone, and all the valuables in the house missing. It has been rumored that she eloped. Since that time Brown and his wife have not lived together.

Fred A. Brown,
patrolman, whose past as an ex-convict has been raked up in connection with the Arnerich bribery case.

PUT ON A BEAT.

After making his confession Brown was instructed by the Chief to report for duty in uniform, instead of in the plain clothes detail at which he had been working. He took a beat last night. Shortly before midnight Brown stated that he will not resign, though he has been advised to; that he will place his case before the commission, and that he will endeavor to show by affidavits from the city and Oklahoma that he has led a straightforward life since the boyish episode for which he was sent to prison.

Despite the disclosures as to Brown's past, the police and the District Attorney's office assert they have a good case against Arnerich.

The authorities say they have evidence that prior to the time Arnerich gave $50 to Brown as a bribe, Arnerich telephoned to his partner in business that there was no need to retain attorneys, as he had "fixed" the prosecuting attorneys and had been informed that if he would also fix the police "everything would be all right."

HANDS OUT A "FIFTY."

Deputy district attorneys stated yesterday that they have secured other evidence against Deputy City Prosecutor Joseph F. Seymour, Jr., beside that of Arnerich that he had given $50 to Seymour to quash the case for violating the liquor ordinances following the raid of his restaurant last Saturday night.

This evidence is that Seymour gave U. S. Marshal on Wednesday a $50 bill in presenting his application for membership in a lodge. Bank books which Seymour has presented to City Attorney Hewitt do not show that Seymour either deposited or drew $50 from his bank this week. It was a $50 note which Arnerich claims he left on Seymour's desk.

Seymour, after consulting with a number of friends yesterday, reconsidered his intention of resigning pending an investigation, and last night stated he will remain in his office unless removed by the City Attorney, with whom he has had no conference, but who, he says, he will meet this morning.

UNGOWNED PARTY.

HOSTESS AND GUESTS ALL DON PAJAMAS.

"NO, INDEED! We did not play leap frog or anything of the kind! We looked like boys, but we did not act like them. We met behind closed doors and we had the jolliest kind of a good time in perfect comfort."

Miss Lena Burke of No. 1305 West Thirty-fifth street blushed charmingly as she gave the foregoing account of her novel entertainment of a dozen of her girl friends at her home yesterday afternoon—the first pajama party ever given in Los Angeles, so far as the records show.

Twelve girls from 16 to 18 years of age were the guests of Miss Burke, and pajamas were de rigeur. Each of the guests brought her costume with her—the little pajamas. As the last of the giggling girlies arrived, the doors were locked and the key was concealed in the refrigerator or in some other secure place. Then came the transformation scene.

As they emerged from their dressing-rooms the guests, one and all, were coolly attired in pajamas. Skirts, lingerie waists, petticoats and a' that and a' that were tabooed, discarded, forgotten for the nonce.

Laymen might think that with everybody dressed in pajamas, the ensemble was lacking in variety, monotonous. But then laymen are noted for always thinking fool things and never understanding anything. There are pajamas and pajamas. Materials and designs vary, if the cut is always about the same. Some are polka-dotted and some are not, some are streaked this way, and some that. At a pajama party there is no annoying sensation of having one's gown critically surveyed from the back, no little sniffs of "Wonder where she got that dress?" Miss Burke's guests were too well bred for that sort of thing, anyway, and then, the pajamas are fitted so deliciously that there was no thought of the gowns that were not in sight.

Chairs were also absent. There was an abundance of cushions on the floor, great, soft fluffy cushions, but no chairs. Chairs are so hard and unbending that they should be banished forever and aye, anyway, and the pajama party would be a dismal failure with that sort of furniture obstructing the room. Occasionally a frolicsome guest may feel like chucking a cushion across the room in response to a witty sally, all of which would be quite appropriate, and, according to "The Little Bird," did occur once or twice at Miss Burke's party. But just think what would have happened if anybody had chucked a chair!

Miss Burke understood all this and so she had only cushions in the rooms. And hostess and guests made a delightful picture as they lolled at ease, sipping their tea and nibbling at their little biscuits and other goodies. In the center of the room was a big pond filled with Japanese flowers, and overhead long festoons of Chinese lanterns.

"Why, the idea! Of course we did not swim in the pond," exclaimed Miss Burke, under cross-examination. "It was not deep enough, you know," she added, after an instant's reflection, her bright eyes twinkling with mischievousness.

"Were any of the girls accompanied by their brothers or other girls' brothers?"

"Indeed not! That is just why we made it an afternoon tea; so the girls could come and go unaccompanied. It would have been awkward at night, you know."

"What suggested the pajama party to you?"

"Oh, I don't know; perhaps it was the warm weather, but I can tell you that it was bully fun and—and—well, maybe there will be others."

A clever programme of illustrated songs and musical romances helped to pass the time away after tea. The first prizes, golden spoons, were won by Misses Lillian Belcher and Ethel Joyce, while Miss Olive Davis of Pasadena and Gail Wehrle of this city were awarded the consolation prizes in the guessing contests.

SETTLED.

SETTLER GETS LOST RIGHTS

HOMESTEADER IS PROTECTED BY UNCLE SAM'S WORD.

Place Given Up Under Official Pressure Restored to Humble Ranchman in the Cleveland National Forest—Supervisor Declines to Explain His Side of Controversy.

F. M. Meek, the humble homesteader, whose little ranch in the Cleveland National Forest was about to be taken from him through the efforts of forestry officers, as he said, has been restored to all his rights by Commissioner Dennett of the General Land Office.

His relinquishment to his mountain ranch was filed in the local land office last January. In June Meek filed a petition in the same office, asking that the relinquishment be rejected on the grounds that he had signed the paper under a misapprehension of the facts.

The documents were forwarded to Washington by Gen. Prescott, Register. After a careful consideration of the evidence, the commissioner states: "This office will not accept a relinquishment and cancel an entry on such conditions as prevail in the Meek case. Said relinquishment is hereby rejected and the entryman is reinstated. The homestead will remain intact, subject, of course, to the homestead laws."

There is apparently no record of any defense made by Supervisor Marshall of the Cleveland National Forest Reserve to the allegations of Meek. Although asked to give a statement in regard to his side of the controversy, he has not done so. He still has a right to file a protest in the local land office, based on the alleged violation of the homestead law by the settler.

Meek will be given ample time in which to make the required improvements and show actual occupation of the land.

The forestry officers, as a rule, do not care to have homesteaders occupying land within the domain of the reserves, it is said, and this may account for the effort made to induce Meek to give up his little woodland home.

Commissioner Dennett, in giving reasons for his ruling, briefly reviews the case. "June 8, 1909, the Los Angeles register and receiver transmitted to me the application of Francis M. Meek for cancellation of his relinquishment," states the commissioner. "He said that it was procured by undue pressure and misrepresentaion by forestry officials."

The Commissioner refers to the allegation that the Los Angeles Land Office has received a number of verbal complaints, similar to that made by Meek. "It has been stated that several homesteaders in the forest reserve asked the register if they must relinquish their entries, being in fear of some penalty if they did not do so. These complaints being made verbally, could not properly be referred to this department."

"But from the statements made by the claimant in his petition, it appears that his relinquishment was secured under threat of the prosecution of his case in the local Land Office. It appears that his relinquishment was submitted only upon condition that he be allowed to relocate on other government lands and to remove his improvements thereto.

"It also appears at the time of the delivery of his relinquishment to the forestry officer, he reserved the right

PUBLIC SERVICE—OFFICIAL DOINGS.

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

The Mayor attended a session of the Aqueduct Advisory Committee yesterday and expressed confidence in the management, though still favoring an investigation to reassure the public.

The story of the $500 check forged by J. R. Veach, now confined at Patton State Hospital, is revived by the bringing of a suit by the Equitable Savings Bank against the Western State Bank of Los Angeles, to recover the money on a guaranty indorsement.

Margaret Ammann bequeathed a large part of her estate of $45,000 for the establishment of an old peoples' home in or near Los Angeles. Other sums are left to religious and educational purposes.

It was discovered yesterday that the late "Lucky" Baldwin left two wills, so that if his relatives broke one, they would have another to attack.

AT THE CITY HALL.

STILL FAVORS INVESTIGATION.

MAYOR THINKS IT NECESSARY TO REASSURE PUBLIC.

His Honor Attends Session of Aqueduct Advisory Committee and Leaves It Impressed With the Need of Enforcing the Desmond Subsistence Contract System.

The Mayor spent two hours yesterday morning at a session of the Aqueduct Advisory Committee, and after it had a new idea about the great water project and its subsistence department. Not that he abandoned his belief that an investigation, under a commission named by him, is advisable, but rather that he feels that the work is in splendid shape and that there may be little or no reason for complaint.

"I was urged to attend this meeting," said His Honor, "and I am glad I did. The committee urged me to attend all meetings in the future and I will do so as often as I can. The officials explained all the details of their great work and particularly their side of the subsistence dispute and I must say that I concur in the theory that outsiders cannot be permitted to compete with the subsistence contractor. The men must be fed and there must be one great system in order to insure its being done. And I have absolute confidence in the man at the head of the aqueduct, too.

"But I still believe an investigation, conducted by some of our best men, should be made to reassure the people that the food and sanitation are all right. The time to stop a prairie fire is when it begins. I am sure if an investigation discloses the good condition the aqueduct officials claim, it will satisfy all."

The aqueduct officials have never objected to an investigation of any kind. "We welcome any investigation by the proper authorities," said Lieut.-Gen. Chaffee, who is chairman of the Advisory Committee, yesterday. "There is no wish on the part of the officials to avoid it."

The request of the Council for a report on the Desmond contract was received by the Board of Public Works yesterday, and it was arranged that Gen. Chaffee should furnish the report and the full text of the Desmond contract. Gen. Chaffee says he will cover every phase of the question in order that the Council may have the fullest knowledge.

If an investigation is made it will doubtless be by order of the Council, though this will depend largely on what the Board of Public Works reports. Some members of the Council favor asking the Mayor, the president of the Chamber of Commerce and the president of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association to compose the commission to make an investigation, or if these officials cannot go to nominate persons to go in their place. But there is no sentiment that an appropriation should be put in the Mayor's hands to finance an expedition of recall politicians into the field.

Reasons for the order of the board excluding all competitors of the Desmond contract from the aqueduct were made known yesterday by officers of the Wholesalers' Investment Company, composed of 100 creditors of D. J. Desmond, the contractor. It is announced that Desmond was financially embarrassed last May and asked some large wholesalers for financial assistance. They made an investigation and found his assets to be $363,000 and his liabilities over $360,000. His profit in nine months had been but $2200. They also report that they found his business in satisfactory condition, so far as system and supplies were concerned, and that there had been good management and good messing, but that the profit depended on the number of men fed and that to maintain the system the exclusive order was necessary.

Consequently the wholesalers organized the investment company, with $100,000 paid-in capital, to advance Desmond the money needed to carry on his business. Already $80,000 has been advanced him. There was no assignment of the contract. Officers of the company say they were satisfied with Desmond and his management and wanted to insure themselves the business, protect their accounts and at the same time save the Board of Public Works from the probability of its having to assume the subsistence or prevent interruption of it. If the subsistence failed it might seriously check the work, that has been gaining tremendously in the past few months.

The investment company is officered as follows: President, H. Finlan (M. A. Newmark & Co.); first vice-president, Karl Steinlein (Haas, Baruch & Co.); second vice-president, A. B. Barnet (Stetson-Barret Company;) treasurer, I. B. Newton (Harper-Reynolds Company;) secretary, Alfred K. Care (Cudahy Packing Company.) These constitute the directorate, with the following names added: J. D. Simpson (Frank Simpson Fruit Company,) George E. Burr (Los Angeles Creamery,) Henry Morris (Holbrook, Merrill & Stetson,) and W. T. Craig, attorney.

The Desmond salary roll amounts to over $22,000 a month and it is the belief of the wholesalers that he cannot make any profit unless the number of men fed is greatly increased.

SEWER PROTEST.

MAIN-STREET LATERAL.

Because the Board of Public Works is planning to assess the cost of a storm drain in Main street, north of Sixth street, against a district, property owners have protested. The protests were made by O. T. Johnson, Adolph Ramish and the Thom estate on the ground that the lateral should have been built out of the bond money voted in 1903.

This bond issue was for a storm drain winding from the Arroyo de los Reyes, near Echo Park, to the Los Angeles River near Seventh street, and a number of lateral branches, one of which was the Main-street. With the completion of the laterals in Broadway and Spring street the city changed its policy, because the bond money had been insufficient to complete the scheme, and determined to build the remainder by assessment districts. Alameda street's lateral was built in this way and others are being planned.

The contention of the protestants is that the city should build this Main-street lateral out of the public funds and not by assessment. Its cost will be less than $10,000.

Quarrel Over Hay.

Baled hay for the fire department horses provoked a dispute between Councilman Dromgold and the members of the Supplies Committee yesterday morning as to whether there is a hay trust in existence. Dromgold said there was and that it was trying to prevent D. P. Florey and Company from getting the contract for the fire department for which, he declared, it was the lowest bidder. The members of the Supplies Committee, Councilmen Wren, Yonkin and Healy, resented Dromgold's allusion to their trying to "job" Florey and ordered him to keep out of the committee's business. It is said hay furnished by Florey when he was with another house was not satisfactory and this was being weighed against him. Dromgold says he will see that Florey gets the contract under his low bid or that all bids are rejected.

Engstrum Gets Contract.

Receiving written authority from the Council yesterday to make contracts for the new Fifth-street engine house, the Board of Public Works awarded the general contract to the F. O. Engstrum Company, and several incidental contracts. The building will cost $50,446, and will be provided for in the annual budget.

City Hall Brevities.

City Engineer Hamlin was instructed yesterday to take a traffic census of the Third-street tunnel. He will note the persons and vehicles using it from 5 o'clock in the morning until 9 o'clock at night for seven days. The count will not be begun until after the Elks' convention.

Police Surgeon Quint in his annual report for the city's fiscal year, says 2145 persons were treated at the Receiving Hospital. When the new quarters in the building on Hill street, adjoining the Police Station, are occupied, he says the hospital will be prepared to handle serious and major surgical cases, which now must be sent to a private hospital.

The Board of Health at a special meeting yesterday appointed Frank White, formerly Mayor's messenger, janitor in the health department, in accordance with the action of the Council last Tuesday.

AT THE COURTHOUSE.

NOT TO JOSS DID THEY GO.

YOUNG WIFE TAKEN TO A QUESTIONABLE HOUSE.

On Showing Made by Her Concerning Conduct of Husband Judge Promptly Grants Decree of Divorce. Woman Restrained by Marital Partner from Leaving Home.

Nervina A. Solomon was granted a decree of divorce from Elias J. Solomon, on the ground of extreme cruelty, by Judge James yesterday. The story narrated by the wife on the stand told of a husband's depravity. The Solomons were married in 1906, and the wife is now but 22 years of age. She testified that about a week after they had been wedded her husband asked her if she would like to make a trip through Chinatown, and see the real Chinese Joss. She agreed to accompany him and with them went Miss Agnes Daugherty.

It turned out that he did not take them to a Chinese neighborhood at all, but introduced them at one of the well-known sporting houses in the city. The women were thoroughly frightened, and left the place as soon as they discovered the character of the establishment.

"Did you remain at your home with your husband that night?" asked the court.

"We got home about 10 o'clock, and I told him I was going to leave," he declared that I should not, and we sat up all night, I trying to get out of the house, and he restraining me. The next day I went to the home of a friend, and have not lived with my husband since."

Her story was corroborated by Miss Daugherty, and there was no delay in granting the separation.

BANK SUES BANK.

CASE INVOLVES BAD CHECK.

Another chapter of the varied crooked financial transactions of J. R. Veach, who, several weeks ago, was committed to the State Hospital at Patton, was written in the records of the Superior Court yesterday. The Equitable Savings Bank brought a suit against the Western State Bank, to recover $500, alleged to be due for cashing a fictitious check, a transaction that caused Veach's arrest and conviction before a jury in Judge Willis's court.

After being found guilty, it was averred that Veach was insane, and he was so pronounced by physicians named by the District Attorney to make an examination. His present stay at Patton is his second confinement in that institution.

The signature forged to secure the money was that of J. R. Ford, who had for many years been a depositor at the Equitable Savings Bank. It is alleged in the petition that on August 8, 1908, Veach drew a check bearing the name of J. R. Ford, and that Veach indorsed the name "M. Payne" on the back of the instrument, as payee thereof; that the plaintiff believes that "M. Payne" was a fictitious name used by Veach; that below "M. Payne," he wrote "Harry Stickle," also believed to be a fictitious name, assumed by Veach as his own.

It is further alleged that Veach presented himself at the Western State bank, representing that he was "Harry Stickle," and saying that he desired to open an account in the bank, that the officers of the bank received the check and accepted Veach as a depositor under the name of "Stickle." Afterward the defendant bank indorsed the check thus: "Pay to order of United States National Bank of Los Angeles, previous indorsement guaranteed—Western State Bank of Los Angeles, Emanuel Cohen, cashier."

The check was delivered to the United States National Bank, a member of the clearinghouse, for collection, the defendant bank not being a member of such association. It is alleged further that the Equitable Savings Bank paid the forged check of $500 on the faith of the guaranty indorsed on the back by the defendant bank. It is also charged that the Western State Bank was grossly negligent in the matter in that it did not inquire as to the status of Ford's account, and in other ways, and prays for a judgment for the amount of the forged check, $500.

WILL IN RESERVE.

PRECAUTION OF "LUCKY."

That "Lucky" Baldwin left a second will in reserve for use in the event of the other one being broken was developed yesterday when, on petition of Attorney Bradner W. Lee, representing the estate of the dead horseman, the sale of four lots belonging to the property was confirmed by Judge Rives. One will was offered for probate, the other reposed in the safe in Attorney Lee's office. It was evident that Baldwin feared a contest and knew that, if the one offered for probate was broken by the heirs, there would be another in existence for them to fight. It would require five or six years to break one and meantime they might change their minds about fighting any instrument. Will contests cost money. While the contents of the first will, drawn about ten years ago, are unknown, it is believed that its features follow closely along the lines laid down in the will that was quietly admitted to probate.

Attorney Lee said yesterday that he hopes to make a new record in the settlement of the Baldwin estate, closing it up within ten months of the decease of the testator.

THOUSANDS LEFT

TO RELIGIOUS PURPOSES.

The contents of the will of Margaret Ammann, filed in the Probate Court, were made public yesterday. By its provisions an estate valued at $45,000 is distributed. The husband, Conrad Ammann, is given a house and lot in Decatur, Ill., and the executors are authorized to sell the remainder of the real estate holdings in Illinois and California.

To the Old Peoples' Home of the German Methodist Episcopal Church, Quincy, Ill., $1000 is willed, and to the Orphans' Home of the German Methodist Episcopal Church, Warrenton, Mo., a like amount is given.

Fifteen thousand dollars is bequeathed for the purpose of creating a sinking fund for the benefit of the Central Wesleyan College of Warrenton, the interest to be used to assist indigent students in the theological class, this fund to be in memory of John Oamer.

Relatives in the East are remembered and most of the balance of the estate is to be used to buy or build an old peoples' home, in or in the vicinity of Los Angeles, to be known as the Pacific Old Peoples' Home of the German Methodist Episcopal Church. If this home is not bought or built within five years after the death of the testator, then the $15,000 shall be divided equally, one-half to the home missions of the German Methodist Episcopal Church of Southern California; the other half to the foreign missions of that church. The will was executed April 30, 1909.

BANK OFFICER WRITES.

EXPLAINS ABOUT PROBATION.

The case against Ernest W. Sundin and George Allen Beatty, who have pleaded guilty to burglarizing the First National Bank of Monrovia December 14 last, was called in Judge Willis's department yesterday for the judgment of the court, but, in line with general expectations, the consideration of the matter was again postponed, this time until July 30. In the absence of Judge Willis Judge Davis presided. Meantime the efforts of the attorneys to have the men released on probation go on.

This course on the part of the court will defer action in the Sundin and Beatty cases until after the complaint against C. S. Martin is disposed of, now booked for July 12. A communication from John H. Bartle, president of the First National Bank of Monrovia, indicates that that institution will keep hands off the proposition to allow Sundin and Beatty their freedom under the probation law. In a letter to George P. Adams, the legal representative of Ernest W. Sundin, concerning what would be the position assumed by the bank officials in the matter, President Bartle says that the suspicion cast upon the officers of the bank by the robbery has been a source of great anxiety to them, and they believe that they should take no active part in the movement to secure immunity for the accused.

It is understood that the programme of the District Attorney is to use both Sundin and Beatty to secure the conviction of Martin, who gave his pals the combination of the safe and then went to Santa Barbara to establish an alibi. When Martin first appeared to plead to the charge, H. H. Appel was his attorney, but that lawyer quit the employment, and George Pearson is now making the legal fight in behalf of Martin.

ASKS COURT'S ORDER.

TO PROCURE THE WILL.

A petition was filed in the Superior Court yesterday asking for the probate of the will of George Miller, who died recently at the Stockton Insane Asylum, but the will itself was not in evidence. It is alleged in the petition that the instrument is in the custody of Francis M. Walker, Register of Wills, at Newcastle, Del., and an order of court is asked for the production of the paper, as that official refuses to surrender it.

The total value of the estate is $74,000, made up thus: Personal property in Los Angeles, $45,000; real estate, $1000; personal property in Delaware, $9000; real estate, $6000; real estate in Kansas, $13,000.

Miller was committed to the institution at Stockton in 1890. The will was drawn in December, 1887. John W. Wood of Pasadena is the petitioner who asks to be appointed executor.

FOR CHURCH LOAN.

PETITION TO MORTGAGE.

The trustees of the San Fernando Methodist Episcopal Church filed a petition in the Superior Court yesterday asking for leave to mortgage lots 15 and 16, Block T, and lots 7 and 8, Block U, of McClay's addition to the town of San Fernando, for $5500. It is said that the money can be secured from the Pacific Mutual Life Insurance Company and the San Fernando Valley Bank. The trustees are J. E. Wheat, C. W. Paine, F. A. Kidder, G. E. Waite, A. H. McClay and H. C. Hubbard.

Judge Wilbur yesterday granted the petition of the Church of Christ, Hollywood, to mortgage part of block 3 for $1500.

The same judge also allowed the rector, warden and vestrymen of the parish of St. Paul, Pomona, to sell lots 5 and 6, block 92, Pomona, for $2300.

COURTHOUSE NOTES.

BREVITIES MISCELLANEOUS.

CRIMINAL MATTERS. Judge Davis yesterday sent Frank Sierra, who pleaded guilty to burglary, to Whittier, to remain during his minority. The lad is now 19. The case against John Lunt, also charged with burglary, was continued until July 20, to await information from the parents of the accused, who reside in Guatemala.

ALLEGED MISREPRESENTATION. R. A. McCoy has brought suit against the Puritas Coffee and Tea Company, asking for a rescission of a contract involving the sale of a coffee and tea route to the plaintiff. He says that he paid $500 for the property, and that the defendants misrepresented it in order to induce him to buy.

INCORPORATIONS. Papers for the following incorporations were filed in the office of the County Clerk yesterday: California Business Men's Insurance Association, by J. I. McLaughlin, J. T. Cleary, Arthur Crabb, E. P. Warner, C. M. Stone, M. H. Potter and C. G. Toland; Cleghorn Mining Company, capital stock, $75,000, by C. O. Goldman, George C. McMurty and George B. Rowell; Walter E. Smith Company, capital stock $50,000, by Walter E. Smith, G. E. Long, D. M. Sutherland, M. Adams and C. Atkins; Towell Investment Company, capital stock $50,000, by Josephine E. Towell, Addie T. Friesner and Louise T. McFarland; Burroughs-White Trunk Company, capital stock $10,000, by A. L. Burroughs, M. R. Burroughs, John White, E. O. Miller and Frank Jackson; Citron Jewelry Company, capital stock $10,000, by M. Citron, Uri Citron and Isidore Citron.

MONEY FOR MASSES. The will of Joseph H. O'Reilly was offered for probate yesterday. He leaves an estate of $6700. Of this sum he bequeaths $500 for masses for the repose of his soul. The balance of his holdings is given to his wife, Mattie F. O'Reilly.

WANTS HIS FEE. Justice H. A. Pierce brought an action in the Superior Court yesterday, asking judgment for $510 against Peter Hasck, for services as an attorney alleged to have been performed by the plaintiff.

ASK DAMAGES. Sarah J. Campbell and her husband, D. C. Campbell, filed papers in a suit against the Los Angeles Railway Company yesterday for $2585 damages alleged to have been sustained May 7 last, at the corner of West Ninth and Hope streets, by being thrown violently to the ground from a weakened step, when the car stopped with a sudden jerk.

PARTNERSHIP TROUBLES. C. B. Robison alleges that he was a member of the firm of Robison & Robison, and he brings an action against J. W. Robison, charging that the defendant has been converting money of the firm to his own use. A dissolution is asked for and also a receiver for the property. The firm dealt in harness and farm implements.

VERDICT FOR PLAINTIFF. A jury in Judge Monroe's department, presided over by Judge Moss, returned a verdict for $5000 in favor of the plaintiff, in the action brought by Percy Gifford against the Los Angeles-Pacific Railway Company, by reason of injuries suffered by being struck by a car at the crossing of Sixteen and New Hampshire streets, October 3, 1908. Gifford sued for $15,000. A jury in the same court, with Judge Monroe presiding, is hearing the evidence in the case brought by Fred Rich against the same defendants, for $5000, on account of an accident on the Sunset boulevard line, with a West Olive-street car. Rich was an employé of the company.

TOO VOLUBLE. Mrs. Bertha Kuhn, the "pawnshop bride" of the old Glendora rancher who recently secured a divorce from her, made her appearance in the Township Court of Justice Stephens yesterday in connection with her suit to recover $400 worth of furniture in a rooming-house. She has just finished a thirty-day sentence in the City Jail for calling the justice names. Yesterday she talked too much and after announcing her opinion of men in general and judges in particular, she was escorted outside the legal precincts and warned to stay away.

WAS AN ACCIDENT. Filipe Alastra was given a preliminary examination before Justice Summerfield in the Township Court yesterday on a charge of assault with intent to commit murder for shooting little Robert Chapman, 9 years old, in the face with a load of shot. The shooting took place on June 17 at Calabasas. The evidence was all in the favor of the prisoner and it was shown that the shooting was entirely an accident. The charge was dismissed and Alastra started back with Joe Hunter, "King of Calabasas," for the ranch.

CHEWED HIS WIFE. William McGowan of Long Beach Boulevard was charged before Justice Ling in the Township Court yesterday with assault upon his wife. He pleaded guilty and will be sentenced this morning. He was accused of chewing his wife's arm in the course of a fight in which she blackened his eye. There was a battle with kitchen utensils in which McGowan came out second best and his arrest followed.

FINED FOR CRUELTY. Justice Ling yesterday fined Walter Luther of Norwalk $30, and imposed a sentence beside of seventy-five days in jail for cruelty to a horse, which he beat unmercifully because it was an "outlaw." The jail part of the sentence was suspended, but will be imposed if he is ever convicted of cruelty to animals again.

DIDN'T PUT IT OUT. E. C. Pitzel explained to Justice Ling yesterday, that he thought he had put out his camp fire in the San Gabriel Cañon but he didn't and there was a blaze. He was fined $50 for the offense, but the fine was suspended for six months. The justice stated that it will be enforced the next time the defendant comes before him, if ever for such an offense.

NEW PRESIDENT. At the first meeting of the new County Board of Education yesterday George A. Boden of Pasadena, a hold-over member, was elected president to fill the position held by Birney Donnell, whose term expired last Thursday.

CHARGED WITH THREATS. B. Yonan, manager for the Hungarian restaurant on South Spring street, swore to a warrant before Justice Summerfield yesterday, against J. Allen charging him with threats to murder. It is stated that when Allen went to get something to eat the service was unsatisfactory, words followed and then threats.

GOES FOR PRISONER.

Deputy Sheriff Leaves for San Diego to Bring Back Man Accused of Auto Embezzlement.

Attorney Samuel T. Mock of this city will have to pay $25 reward for the arrest of his once best friend, Joseph Bell, Jr., whom he accuses of stealing his half of an automobile which they jointly purchased, but failed to divide.

Bell was arrested in San Diego yesterday, according to word received by Sheriff Hammel, and Deputy Sheriff Sepulveda started for the southern city to bring back the prisoner. It is alleged that Bell sold the machine in San Diego and received a check. When he tried to cash this the bank notified the Sheriff's office.

Bell was later arrested at Hotel Coronado. He will be brought to Los Angeles on a charge of embezzlement.

NOTICE TO ARCHITECTS OF SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA.

Competitive plans and specifications for a Chamber of Commerce building will be received up to August 1, 1909. No compensation will be allowed on any plans submitted, unless formally accepted and adopted by the Board of directors. For particulars address SECRETARY CHAMBER OF COMMERCE, San Bernardino, Cal.

Brown has only recently secured sev eral good properties at Courtland an is said to be negotiating for others i the Turquoise district.

Smelter for Johnson.

The Arizona United Mines Company as the reorganized Arizona Consoli dated is known, owning the Republi and Mammoth mines in the Johnso camp, Arizona, has resumed and wi shortly start work on a 125-ton smelte to cost $50,000. Material and machin ery has been ordered and a par shipped. The plant will be erecte near the Republic shaft, the expecta tion being to have everything runnin by August 15. In addition to devel oping the Republic and Mammoth double shift has been put at work o the Socorro.

For some time the two first name have been among the principal ship pers of the Johnson-Dragoon district Prior to resumption a short time ago they were idle for something like a year and a half.

Many Los Angeles companies are op erating in this district.

Inspection Trip.

A small party of local stockholders in the California Gold and Copper Company have returned to the city from an inspection of the mine and plant, the company is erecting at Von Trigger. Those who made the trip are Ray Hall, E. C. Park, R. I. Short, C. F. Hetzel and others.

In Eldorado Cañon.

George Freeborn, manager of the El Dorado-Searchlight Mining Company at Eldorado Cañon, has purchased a three-stamp mill of thirty tons' capacity, a fifty-ton cyanide plant and set of pumps for his property, which he is opening after years of inactivity. It was chlorided some twenty years ago by "Chloride" Hughes, a pioneer character, who took out and shipped quite a quantity of $600 rock, working to sixty feet depth, then abandoning the ground. Mr. Freeborn has put the mine in shape and claims to have 5000 to 7000 tons of $9 rock in sight and one three-foot vein, extending sixty feet, of $80 ore.

The Daly Mines Company, a local corporation, has let a contract to sink a 125-foot shaft on the Hat claim of the Vulcan group, eight miles south of Bouse, Ariz. The work will be under direction of Ernest A. Haggott, consulting engineer.

The Daly is capitalized at $1,000,000, par value $1, with 800,000 shares in the treasury. It controls sixteen lode claims in the Plomosa range, in a rich copper zone. According to its officials, it has plenty of water and timber for fuel and mine and excellent surface ore indications. The outcrop is large, the veins asserted to be strong and persistent. Something like $30,000 will be spent for equipment and for sinking two shafts. The first, the "Hat," is to be started at once. Approximately $12,000 will be spent at this time.

JOKER FOR FISHER.

While He Tramps Many Weary Miles for Angling License Another Eats His Luncheon.

When Percy Wilding, fruit broker, returns from his vacation at Matilija, he will be greeted with a merry "haha" by his business associates. Edwin A. Curtis, formerly general manager of the California Vegetable Union, who returned yesterday after three weeks in the Ventura mountains brought with him an account of Wilding's purchase of a hunting license to allow him to fish for trout.

Wilding, according to Mr. Curtis, started out at 4 o'clock one morning to do some angling. He had promised to wait for Curtis, but his enthusiasm carried him away and he forgot. When Curtis found this out he hit upon a plan of revenge. Curtis first had to "fix" the camp keeper and then he started out.

Four miles upstream he came across Percy angling and asked if he carried a license to fish. Wilding, bewildered at the idea of the thing, immediately assured him that he had never thought of procuring one and wanted to know whether it was really necessary.

Curtis then drew out an old hunting license, green with age, and showed it to the doubting Wilding, assuring him at the same time that without the license serious consequences might be expected in the way of a fine. Wilding begged him to take care of his fishing tackle and luncheon while he returned to the camp to secure the necessary piece of paper, which Curtis glady acquiesced to.

He then started back to camp. Curtis meantime proceeded to enjoy a siesta. Also a luncheon unexpectedly supplied. Late in the afternoon, he was awakened by the thoroughly tired out Wilding, who had returned finally, after a tramp of eight miles, carrying with him the coveted hunting license, for which he had paid $1 and which he will find out is bogus, when he arrives here.

THE OIL INDUSTRY.

NO DIVIDENDS NEXT MONTH.

ASSOCIATED WILL NOT MAKE ANY PAYMENT.

Company Not in Position to Disburse Money While Seeking Funds to Build Pipe Lines—Talk of Such Started When the Plans Were Not Formed.

Those who have been expecting an Associated dividend in August, relying upon the positive statements of a director who was quoted last winter as saying that there would be such a payment, will be disappointed. There will be no dividend; that can be stated positively on the very highest authority. When there will be is a matter of doubt, and only waiting will tell. At present the Associated is thinking more about raising money to build its two pipe lines than about paying what cash it has on hand. When the talk of dividends was abroad, the pipe-line project, so far as known, had not taken definite shape and there was no such over-production to be handled as came about within ninety days after the first of the year.

The Coalinga-Port Costa pipe line will commence very shortly. The McKittrick-Gaviota line will wait for a time. Plans here are still a little indefinite and the sale of more bonds is first necessary.

It is frankly admitted without reservation by insiders of the Associated that the company is not in condition to pay dividends.

FIELD OPERATIONS.

The Associated's field policy, as far as outlined, will be for the present largely along the line of drilling along the edge of such adjoining properties as are pumping heavily close to the line. For some time the Associated's drilling at Kern River has been very light, and at several points work is becoming necessary for self-protection aside from any necessity for more production. To some extent development will be made to "kill two birds with one stone." At present only two strings are in operation at Kern River and four at Coalinga on 36, with one on the Shreeves. Two strings are busy in Cat Cañon and a well ought to come in within the next thirty days. On the Buell rancho near Los Alamos the 2200-foot hole will be abandoned and another started, as the present work is in very bad condition and it is less expensive to move than to straighten it. The Recruit's wildcat well north of Santa Barbara on the coast will be abandoned very shortly unless immediate encouragement is found. It is down some 3800 feet, without result.

Railroad Land Title.

Much interest is shown in the attempt of Edmond Burke, a San Francisco attorney—well known here, by the way—to contest the Southern Pacific's title to lands in Coalinga and the West Side fields of Kern county.

That the railroad does not fear the result seems to be strongly indicated by the fact that it has spent a million or two developing some tracts and has wholly neglected others. If the title be invalid and not validated by improvements, the money spent is wasted; if, on the other hand, improvements validate the title, it would have been the first principle of common sense to have improved every section to a limited extent rather than to concentrate efforts on some and overlook others. And the railroad commands the very best legal talent there is to be had.

While the best lawyers sometimes may fail to forecast accurately decisions, they seldom fail to see the chances of trouble and to find out ways to reduce to the minimum the losses or the chances of any loss. It is thought very improbable that the railroad's legal department could be so ill-informed as to the law as to put the company into the ridiculous position involved if the locators' claims are well founded. So reason some who have talked of the case.

Again, it is thought strange that it has taken so long to discover the defect. Among those operating in oil for years are a number of lawyers standing very high in their profession, yet they never attempted any such doings as this, or questioned for an instant the railroad's title.

There is not the slightest suspicion of fraud. Patents were issued years before oil was thought of and when the land was legally classified and supposed by every one to be non-mineral. Good lawyers, too, argue that the statute of limitations has long since taken effect and validates the title even if there were any flaws before. If the railroad title can be overthrown after years of possession, honorably obtained, what title is safe? is being asked.

As to the Kern River lands that have been filed on, they have passed into the hands of innocent purchasers who have spent hundreds of thousands in development. They do not seem to be at all alarmed over the new claims.

SPENDING MONEY ON TEXAS MINES.

INCREASING OUTPUT FROM THE TERLINGUA DISTRICT.

Development Work of Great Value Being Pushed on Quicksilver Properties in Lone Star State—Americans Locate Many Claims on Mexican Side of Rio Grande.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

ALPINE (Tex.) June 30.—The quicksilver output of the cinnabar mines in the Terlingua district, about ninety miles south of here is being greatly increased by the renewal of development work upon some of the properties which had been inactive for some time. The Texas Almaden mine, which is owned by Sanger Brothers of Dallas, Tex., upon which much work has already been done, has again entered upon a period of production after a shut-down of more than a year, due to the flooded condition of the lower workings. It is stated that the water is now under control and that the output of the mine promises to be very large. According to report, more than $30,000 have already been expended in development work upon this property.

The Chisos Mining Company is preparing to operate its cinnabar mine in the Terlingua district upon a more extensive scale than ever before. This property has a record of bringing to its owners a net profit of about $15,000 per month for several years. A forty-ton furnace was installed about a year ago. The workings extend to a depth of more than 400 feet, and the ore increases in richness with depth.

The fact that the Terlingua district is ninety miles from the nearest railroad point and that the trip to the remote locality is full of discomforts has retarded the quicksilver development there very much. Another factor that has impeded the opening up of new mines is that every alternate section of land in the district is owned by the State of Texas. In the absence of an adequate mining law there has been very little prospecting done upon these State sections, although many of them are believed to be rich in cinnabar ore and probably other precious minerals.

Americans have done some prospecting for cinnabar on the Mexican side of the river, and it is stated that a number of promising claims have been opened up, but the lack of transportation facilities has so far prevented much development work being done upon them.

Marathon, a town situated twenty-five miles east of Alpine on the Southern Pacific Railroad, is to be made a shipping point for the ores from the rich Boquillas mines owned by Carlos Moser. These mines are located close to the Rio Grande, but across the river in Mexico, and are 100 miles from Marathon. Moser is now installing an aërial tram, six miles long, to convey the ores across the river from the mines.

WELL DONE, SENATOR!

The Times takes pleasure in recognizing ability and in commending a faithful public servant who does his duty by the people. It is our privilege to do this in speaking of the junior Senator from California, who has undoubtedly surprised his friends as well as those not friendly to him.

Frank P. Flint went to the United States Senate very much of an unknown quantity. His relations with this journal had never been close. In fact, The Times did not favor his election. Had the opposite been the case we might not be so prompt in calling attention to the admirable way in which he is taking care of the interests of the State.

It is four years since Senator Flint took his place in the Senate, one of the youngest men ever elected to that high office. His record is remarkable. From the first he took a prominent place among the effective men in the Senate. Today he has few who stand above him in the active Senatorial councils. President Roosevelt at once learned to rely on Flint when hard work was to be done, and the Senator's relations with President Taft are quite as cordial.

But Flint's greatest distinction has been won by being intrusted by that grizzled veteran, Aldrich, to take charge of tariff affairs in the Senate during the recent absence of the Rhode Island Senator from the chamber. To place so young a man, so recent an accession to the Senate, in so responsible a position is almost unique in the history of that very conservative body.

Senator Flint will not be lightly forgotten by the people of California. He has been of inestimable service in gaining recognition for every claim the State made in the fixing of the tariff schedules. Fruit growers, plain farmers, those interested in manufacturing industries in California, all owe much to the hard, persistent work and diplomatic, conciliatory manner of Senator Flint, by which ample protection to all our interests is likely to be secured.

Flint is not an orator, does not pose as an agitator. He is level-headed, says little and that to the point, does much, showing untiring zeal in the performance of every public duty. His ability is of the first order as a legislator, and his faithfulness to his clients is admirable.

SOLID INDEED.

The headline struck the happy word to place at the top of the article on the local banks on the financial page of The Times on Friday morning. In the phalanx figure thirty-two banks making detailed statements. There are five others whose status is estimated by the compiler.

The column which attracts first notice is that which shows the deposits. The people have almost $96,000,000 in these local banks, an increase of nearly $7,000,000 in the six months of the current year. The sum of deposits is close up to the record figures of the great boom days of 1906-7.

When we read the second column of figures we must give due heed to all its features. The loans total over $81,000,000 out of nearly $96,000,000 deposits, showing a gross reserve of about $15,000,000. But there are nearly ten savings banks in the list, one of them with deposits of almost $23,000,000 and another with over $11,000,000. These banks loan their funds down to a narrow margin, as their deposits are generally not subject to check. If we should segregate the commercial banks we would find the most conservative care taken to keep the cash reserve high. Not one of these would run to the legal limit of national banks in large cities, 25 per cent., and some of them usually carry in the cash reserve 40 to 45 per cent. of their deposits.

These heavy deposits and the absence of all excitement in business have reduced interest rates materially. One of the large savings banks during the week made a heavy loan on gilt-edged security at 5½ per cent.

The ease in the money market has a marked effect on that for real estate. Prices are firm and the demand for actual investment and use is fairly good.

UNAPPROPRIATED OPPORTUNITIES.

We are making much progress in Southern California, but we are only at the start. There are opportunities here for profitable development which only a few are beginning to think about, and of which most of us have no conception.

Go to New England, go along the Hudson River into the Fishkill highlands and the Catskill Mountains, and note what shrewd, enterprising people are doing. Resorts for summer idling crown the sightly tops of the hills in dozens. Visit the Minnesota lakes and you will see the same enterprise. So in Wisconsin and along the lake shores of Michigan. As a person long versed in the science of catering to the public said a few days ago, "They make so much of their opportunities at the East, and we make so little of greater opportunities here."

It is now vacation time and thousands of our people are hieing to resorts. Some go far away to find what should be at our own gates. We have made a good deal of our beach opportunities, which are almost limitless, and the beaches claim the greater portion of those who get away from the city. Southern California beaches are good resorts all the year round. They are enjoyable in December or January, and are delightful in the summer season.

But what about our mountains, where opportunities of the greatest promise are calling to men of enterprise? There are a few resorts open in the mountains and some of these are well equipped and managed. But there is room for more. Properly conducted, the mountain resorts, like those along the beaches, should find patronage all the year round.

There is no question about their attractiveness in the summer. The air is so clear, so pure, so fresh up among the woods that the days are passed there in ecstatic comfort. The sojourner returns to the lowlands invigorated in body and relaxed in mind.

It is a fact well known to physicians that the mild climate of California tends to enervate some systems, and therefore those complaining of lassitude are often ordered away to cold climates for a winter. In the Northern States the extreme cold saps the vitality and patients are sent to warm regions to recuperate. Those dwelling in tropical regions are sent north to get fresh health in cold winter atmosphere.

The beauty of Southern California is that we have all climates in easy reach of all. There is no need of going over 100 miles at any time to get any climate, any temperature desired. In a few hours we may pass from the city and the plains about it to where the breakers roll in music on shining sands, or to the mountain heights where the winds whisper in the pines, chilled with the snows almost within reach. We may, if we wish, go into the snows themselves, where the temperature is below the freezing point. There are dells of indescribable beauty at hundreds of points where the sun's rays hardly penetrate, and there are dense woods where the ferns are dank. At a few places, such as Bear Valley, there are broad sheets of water, artificial lakes created by the orange growers in the valley far below.

Here are opportunities for capital and energy. The "camp" is all right for some tastes, and the "cottage" appeals to others. But there are hundreds of persons who want more than the camp or the cottage. They will not go where luxury is not to be had. People of these tastes patronize the Catskills and the White Mountains. They are found at magnificent hotels on the shores of the Great Lakes and by the small ones in the Northwest.

Take Mt. San Antonio. Here the snows linger all the year. The San Gabriel Cañon, by which the heights are reached, is full of picturesque interest. There should be a good road constructed from the point where the stream enters the valley at Azusa to the snows. There a fine hotel should be built. Think what a place a good hotel up there would be for week-end frolics! A party might leave here at noon and reach the hotel by night. With moonlight on the mountain top the snow would glisten like millions of diamonds, and as the sun rose in the morning a snowball party would give zest to the breakfast appetite.

A SEASONABLE HAND-OUT.

"EMANCIPATION" OF WOMEN.

We have often stated that whenever a representative number of all women in this country desire to vote, they will be permitted to do so. But that will not be the emancipation of women, nor a step toward it. There are other things that women need and which will do them much more good than being permitted to vote at the polls with men.

The "bondage" of woman is older than Homer, and the farther you get back the more tightly were the fetters of slavery fastened upon her body and soul. "Emancipation" has come to her in many ways by slow degrees as civilization has progressed. But we must say the emancipation of women has not kept pace with the march of civilization.

One of the worst fetters ever fastened upon woman's physical being was the making of her a household drudge. The man worked and got the wages; the woman drudged and received a little dole of money scarcely capable of buying pins. Much of the emancipation has come to woman in the most recent times by her entrance into the avenues of gainful occupation. It used to be that marriage was almost a necessity for any woman who wished to live a decent life. It is our unwavering and unshakable conviction that the intentions of nature are never violated without the violators suffering wrong, and therefore we believe marriage, the bearing and bringing up of children, to be in the long run and as a broad rule the happiest condition for woman. But she is not obliged to marry, nor to wear the ring which is a symbol of her yoke, unless the conditions justify her taking the step.

In education woman has been held in semi-subjugation by her lord and master, mere man. Until quite recently what was called the education of woman was something that fitted her for household duties and little else. To be a useful drudge in the household or an ornament at the head of the dinner table or in the parlor at the piano were the main features of the curriculum in girls' schools. It looks as if she was kept in utter ignorance of the ordinary business forms on purpose.

As one stands by the window of a bank and watches women drawing or depositing money it is forced upon the mind that the education of our sisters is defective. Perhaps three out of every five of them are incapable of drawing a check or filling out a deposit blank. Well-dressed, attractive-looking women, apparently intelligent, turn to the men by their sides, often strangers, and beg for instruction as to how to draw a check. Our system of education is imperfect that permits young women to go through all the grades of the public schools, including the high school, without learning how to fill these business forms. It would require but little time and care to instruct both girls and boys in the public schools how to perform these little tasks incident to life. It would be vastly more useful to the average boy and girl to acquire these little details than to master any one or all of a dozen little educational frills on which they spend their time.

It is of common occurrence in the daily newspapers to read of some woman being cheated out of her money, if not out of her eyes, simply because she is ignorant of the most common business transactions in the handling of money and the transferring of real estate. Now, there is nothing occult in the making of a check, the filling of a deposit blank, the comprehending of the nature of a deed or of a mortgage. The time spent in acquiring these details so useful in everyday life would not be large, and therefore would not infringe upon any other part of the school curriculum. And what would be more advantageous to the ordinary woman than the thorough understanding of these business forms and business details?

Another little business detail which women might learn with great advantage is the use of the escrow office. We venture the statement that, taking the whole population of Los Angeles, nine out of every ten women in the city are ignorant of what an escrow is. Its uses are utterly lost upon them. Yet if they go to a trustworthy bank or fiduciary institution and put through a deal in real estate, whether it is the purchase or the sale of property, or the borrowing of money on mortgage or lending it, it is the easiest and safest way to perfect the transaction. The branch of education in the higher grades in the schools where ordinary banking, the transferring of property and the borrowing of money on property are taught should include an escrow department.

HOROSCOPE.

Saturday, July 3. 1909.
BY COZETTE.

Favoring blow the breezes o'er the main
To swell the trader's sails and bring him gain.

On this 184th day the moon is full and has Uranus in ecliptic conjugation, an aspect that speaks with unusual favor for enterprises and undertakings out of the common routine.

This night the earth will be in aphelion. The dog days begin.

Jupiter, in trine with the moon, is in benefic aspect and showers benefit and favor on the merchant.

The day is marked as one of extraordinary favor for opening new places of business, especially if there is an original or new idea behind them. The sign is good, also, for removals or enlargement and improvement of habitation or business.

Jupiter's aspect is such as always has been held favorable for traders, salesmen, manufacturers, merchants and bankers.

There is danger from reckless and idle persons this day.

Bakers, cooks, caterers, waiters, restaurant and hotel employés should find this day highly auspicious.

There is a good sign over cooking, especially over fowls.

Uranus is in a position indicating favor for antiquarians, geologists, ethnologists, astronomers, collectors, sculptors, lecturers, teachers and others practicing trades or professions out of the common run.

Both Uranus and Jupiter look favorably on journeys undertaken for health.

Women and men with this birthdate should find opportunity during this twelvemonth to draw out of their present limits and enter broader relationships and wide interests. They must take heed against too great a love of social pleasure.

Children born today are under governing signs that promise deep love of country and of kindred. They should be encouraged in being very frank and direct, as this is a trait of those born under their signs.

UNCLE WALT, WARBLER.

BY UNCLE WALT MASON OF EMPORIA.
Where Grows the Sunflower.

When a tiresome Chinese statesman bores his queen or overlord he receives a little package that contains a yellow cord, and the statesman realizes that it is no use to roar, so he hangs himself in silence to the nearest sycamore. Let us borrow from the wisdom of the rulers of Cathay! Let us put this grand old custom into common use today! Let the President distribute samples of the saffron string to the statesmen who have bored us since the early days of spring with their figures and statistics and their buncombe and hot air, and their misfit oratory which won't lead us anywhere. We might all, perhaps, be rescued from an ordeal that's abhorred, if Big Bill would send the talkers twenty feet of yellow cord!

"Well," replied the husband, grabbing the pup, "I just like to carry out good intentions."—[Yonkers Statesman.

He Learned Too Much.

"Did you really care for me when you accepted me?" asked a fond husband of the lady to whom he had been married for a year. "That is a great comfort—to think I didn't urge you against your wishes."

"James," was the reply, "how could you ever doubt my affection? Have I not told you that I had proposals from men who were brilliant, handsome and talented—and, passing them all by, James, I chose you?"—[Tit-Bits.

A Deep Water Condition.

TO GET WATER FOR COLONISTS.

HALF-MILLION TO BE SPENT ON PUMPING PLANTS.

Contracts to Be Let Early for One Hundred and Fifty—System to Be Established Within Year on Land Upon Which Mennonites Will Settle Near Bakersfield.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

BAKERSFIELD, July 2.—Estimates are being received here by Henry J. Martens, who is to place from 5000 to 10,000 Mennonites in a colony on lands already purchased, northwest of this city, for the installation of 150 pumping plants to supply the colony with water.

The plants will cost in the aggregate $500,000, and some of the wells will be equipped with pumps by early fall.

Martens declares that the contracts for the entire number of pumps will be closed in the near future, and that wholesale drilling of wells will enable the establishment of a water system within a year.

TULARE IMPROVEMENTS.

Work Starts on New Bank Building. Business Block Is to Be Remodeled.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

TULARE, July 1.—The foundation for the new building being constructed by the First National Bank and R. Linder is under way. This is to be one of the best-built and handsomest business structures in Tulare.

The Beckwith-Anderson Company, which recently purchased what was known as the Jauchius building on J street, is having plans drawn for extensive remodeling. It is a brick building, on the principal business block, and the interior will be partitioned off for real estate offices.

At the last meeting of the Trustees, U. G. Cottle was chosen Trustee from the First Ward, to fill the unexpired term of W. F. Ingwerson, resigned.

The government work of constructing roads and trails in the Sequoia National Park will begin at once. A number of the young men who graduated this year from Tulare High School will take employment there, thus making their summer vacation profitable financially as well as otherwise. Much work has already been done toward opening up the park to travel, and it is expected that unusual progress will be made this summer. The Sequoia Park is becoming famed for its scenic beauty and grandeur, and the number of visitors is increasing annually. It contains the giant forest, the largest grove of "big trees" in the world, and these monsters are now easy of access.

Tulare's grain crop is being harvested, and the yield is most gratifying. While rust has invaded a wheat field here and there to the west, in the lake region, it is only in spots, and the harvest is abundant. Barley is doing phenomenally well. It is common to hear of thirty-five and forty sacks to the acre.

The Board of Trade at its last meeting agreed to pay $25 per month toward maintaining the course of lectures, with stereopticon accompaniment, projected by Mr. Bledsoe, and to be delivered in a room of The Times Branch Office, Los Angeles. The purpose of this enterprise is to promote the settlement of the San Joaquin Valley. Rev. F. L. Platt will give the lectures, while Mr. Bledsoe will manipulate the lantern, showing magnificent panoramic views of the valley.

At a meeting held at Poplar, a little town lying southeast of Tulare, a committee was appointed to secure right of way and other concessions for a proposed motor road between Tulare and Porterville, and passing through Woodville and Poplar. The committee recently sent out circular letters asking property owners along the proposed route what they would be willing to do, and the answers have been and are still coming in. The favorable letters will serve to eliminate the necessity for calling upon the writers, and therefore the work of the committee, so far as a personal canvass is concerned, will be lessened. The members of the committee appear to be quite hopeful of tangible results.

CORCORAN.

CORCORAN, July 1.—The Corcoran Creamery has been sold to the Tulare Cooperative Creamery Association, the business passing into the hands of the new management today. A fifteen-horse-power electric motor is being installed to replace the gasoline engine now in use. A new 300-gallon cream ripener and a pasteurizer will also be added.

N. J. Correll has purchased R. M. Carr's home place on Chittenden avenue.

A party of five Stanford University boys are spending their vacation on the H. J. Whitley ranch near this place in a manner which combines recreation and practical business experience. Under the leadership of Ross E. Whitley, the boys are painting the large ranch buildings, gardening, etc., interspersing their work with fishing and swimming, horseback riding and other diversions. The party expects to leave for a trip to Mt. Whitney in a few days. The members of the squad are Ross E. Whitley, W. E. Zerrell, W. C. Ferguson, E. L. Hertel, H. C. Ferguson.

MISS LOFTUS WEDS.

LONDON, July 2.—Cecilia Loftus, the actress, was married June 9 in the Kensington registry office to Dr. A. H. Waterman of Chicago. On her return from her American tour, Miss Loftus is going to take up legitimate drama and Dr. Waterman intends to practice in London.

PERSIANS ATTACK TURKS.

ST. PETERSBURG, July 2.—A dispatch from Urumiah, Persia, says the Nationalists there recently attacked the Turkish Consulate, and were repulsed with a loss of ten men killed and wounded. The Turks had one man wounded. The attack is ascribed to resentment on account of the entrance of the Turkish troops into Urumiah and pillaging by the Kurdish irregulars accompanying them.

SUNDAY, JULY 4.

Acts xv, 36; xvi, 15: "Paul's Second Missionary Journey."

THE CONNECTION.

After a few lessons from the epistles, we are back in the book of Acts, on the swift, stout current of history. Following the conference at Jerusalem Paul and Barnabas proposed another missionary tour over the field of the first one, but Barnabas wanted to try his kinsman, John Mark, again, while Paul stoutly determined not to depend on a man who deserted them once at a critical time. A little feeling arose between them over it, which was further colored by some vacillation that Barnabas had shown under the influence of Judaising brethren from Jerusalem. They parted with rather warm blood. Barnabas going over the line of the former journey, Paul striking through Asia, taking Silas with him. After picking up a young convert named Timothy, at Lystra, his course is marked by the unseen hand guiding him to the continent of Europe.

THE LESSON.

I.

"Working in Western Asia." (Verses 6-8.)

"And they went through the region of Phyrygia and Galatia, having been forbidden of the Holy Ghost to speak the word in Asia; and when they were come against Mysia, they essayed to go into Bithynia and the spirit of Jesus suffered them not, and passing by Mysia, they came down to Troas."

(1.) Paul's Plan of Campaign.

Paul had a plan of campaign in his mind. That plan was revived from headquarters as he proceeded; and we might say it was enlarged. He must have started somewhere and it seems most likely he was making his way to the southwestern provinces of Asia. His ideas were good—as far as they went; they did not seem yet to have reached Europe. Christ must have Europe. The Holy Spirit guides them to Europe. He closes up one way, as they pass through Galatia and Phrygia and keeps them from the southwest, and especially from a large Roman province on the coast called Asia.

(2.) The Spirit's Plan.

They then try the northeast into Bithynia, but are again turned away by the spirit of Jesus. From three points of the compass they are shut out; only one course is left—westward. Westward then they go without restraint till they reach the old city of Troas.

In thus guiding Paul, the Spirit is revising and using his previous judgments. Paul goes out to where the lost dwell; the Spirit leads. Paul's ideas in general are westward; the Spirit makes them wholly so. Paul's sympathies are already large; the Spirit makes them large. He goes, as he supposes, to the most profitable; the Spirit shows him the most profitable. The Spirit's guidance is distinct from Paul's own judgment, controlling it, purifying it. In some clear way He forbade him to go in one direction and gave His approval to another.

The Spirit had an objective point for them. And it seems strange at first that He should have kept these eager men ignorant of the work He would place their hands upon. He kept saying, "Don't go there," and that was all.

Paul and his companions found the Spirit's guidance by trying the various paths that seemed open, not by waiting and refusing to try; yet be tried them, not with final decision to enter them, but as a means of getting the mind of the Spirit. While he waited for light on the right path, he waited, with eyes open, with feet ready, with trials here and there of the various paths. After a long journey afoot, and in utter uncertainty as to where they were to go, and yet in perfect certainty of being led to the very right place, they reach the city of Troas, near to the spot where ancient Troy stood. There the preachers found a lodging place and went to sleep, with the everlasting arms underneath them.

II.

"The Call to Work in Europe." (Verses 9-10.)

"And a vision appeared to Paul in the night; there was a man of Macedonia standing, beseeching him and saying, 'Come over into Macedonia and help us.' And when he had seen the vision, straightway we sought to go forth into Macedonia, concluding that God had called us for to preach the gospel unti them."

(1.) His Receptive Mind.

At last the question of where he was being led is answered. At last the Spirit is guiding by positive as well as negative methods; by vision as well as by restraint. Paul had often thought of taking the gospel to Europe, we cannot doubt—to the people from whom had come the literature and the widespread culture in which he had been brought up, and to the people from whom emanated a word-wide rulership—to Greece and to Rome. Perhaps he had his mind full of the thought when he lay upon his bed that night at Troas. For, just a cross the Aegean Sea was Macedonia; the upper part of Greece, and he was probably gazing out toward it longingly that day; here where he stood were suggestions of Europe—the battlefield of Greece and Troy, the point from which Alexander of Macedon marched to the conquest of Asia; the city itself was a free city independent of Asia. The place he was in, the sights he saw, the history that flowed in upon his trained mind, the singular way he had been directed to this spot, all prepared his mind to receive the disclosure of the Spirit's purpose.

A larger work awaits the workers, and the workers are made ready for it by yielding obediently to the previous restraints, which were not understood and were perhaps sometimes irritating to an ardent temper.

(2.) The Curious Vision.

The Spirit's purpose is revealed at exactly the right time, after the lesson of patience and obedience is learned, and when all the powers of the man will be wakened to his task. The vision was not a dream; it was more. The vision waked all his sympathies. What he saw was the needs of Macedonia, not in formal, theological statement, but quivering with pain, in human form. The man was not any one person, but the embodiment of the country's needs. He represents Europe as well as Macedonia. The needs had not been felt; Macedonia did not know her awful plight. She did not knowingly send for Paul. But God saw her needs and put them into human form and let them stand before the vision of His servant. Paul understood; his heart leaped. His sympathy sped on lightning wings to the help of the lost, and His body followed on, the next day. Paul's mind had been full of thoughts and ambitions which this vision answered and made coherent.

(3.) The Eager Response.

Paul took his companions into his thoughts, consulted them about the meaning of all these things. All of them reached the conclusion that God had called them to preach the gospel over there.

A new person comes into view—the writer himself, Luke. He says "we" for the first time. All we know certainly is that he was with them at Troas and went over to Macedonia with them. Then there were four—Paul, Silas, Timothy and Luke. About Luke? Had he been with them all the time? Possibly; and his silence about himself is not surprising. Or, being a physician, was he converted at Troas to give up his practice for the work of a missionary? Possibly. Was he a native of Macedonia, living over in Troas? Quite likely. We cannot be sure.

It is interesting that they started immediately for Macedonia. When they are kept in doubt, they can wait; when the command is given, they go with tremendous energy. The hour of hours spent waiting for a vessel, destined for Neapolis over on the opposite shore, seemed a long time.

III.

"First Work in Europe." (Verses 11-15.)

"Setting sail therefore from Troas we made a straight course to Samothrace, and the day following to Philippi; which is a city of Macedonia, the first of the district, a Roman colony; and we were in the city tarrying certain days. And on the Sabbath day we went forth without the gate by a river side, where we supposed there was a place of prayer, and we sat down and spake unto the women which were come together. And a certain woman named Lydia, a seller of purple of the city of Thyatira, one that worshiped God, heard us; whose heart the Lord opened, to give head unto the things which were spoken by Paul. And when she was baptized, and her household she besought saying, If we have judged me to be faithful to the Lord, come unto my house and abide there. And she constrained us."

(1.) The Starting Point.

The gospel is on its conquest of Europe. Alexander of Macedonia crossed over from Europe to conquer Asia, beginning at Troas; Paul of Tarsus crosses over from Troas in Asia to conquer Europe, beginning at Macedonia.

Philippi was a good place to begin; it was the "first city," geographically; it was the "first city" probably in importance, though Amphipolis was the capital; it was a colony, that is, a miniature Rome, and had special privileges; it was famous as the decisive battlefield between the imperial party under Augustus and Antony and the Republican under Brutus, and was settled by Roman veterans who preserved much of the spirit of Rome. Yes, this is the place to begin; the shot fired here will be heard at Rome.

(2.) The First Sabbath.

The Sabbath was the day to begin the warfare; and the preachers while waiting for it, get employment or at least study the situation. There is no synagogue in which to open their mission, and they find the next best place, a spot set apart by the few faithful Jews and their proselytes, who were usually spoken of as "Those who worship God," instead of their former heathen gods, for prayer and scripture reading—an outdoor synagogue. Paul knew it would most likely be found by the side of the little stream Gangas. But there were only women; the men were very few in that military town. Those women could pray, however, and encourage each other. The most prominent one it would seem was a proselyte, who had come from Thyatira, over in Asia, to sell the Philippians, whose military spirit made them fond of royal purple, the purple goods, for which Thyatira was so famous. The name Lydia might have been given her because her native city was in the province of Lydia. She was ready and "the Lord," that is Jesus, pressed open her inquiring heart, till the truth made its way in, and she was a disciple of Christ. Her baptism followed, it would seem, at once. Her household consisted of her employés or others. They, too, accepted by faith the Christ who was preached and became disciples, as Meyer, the great German commentator, says: "They could and did confess their faith in Jesus as Messiah; for this was the universal, absolutely necessary qualification for the reception of baptism." The preachers yielded to her insistent hospitality and abode in her house.

Thus had the gospel begun its conquest of Europe.

WHAT THE MASTERS SAY.

In Paul the church came to Europe with its order of government and its sacraments. It came to a continent which was to become the chief field of the church's history, the greatest exemplification of the expansive and extensive powers of Christianity. In Europe especially it met the Aryan (or Japhetic) branch of the human hace which in Greece and Rome had already secured the lead in the march of human progress.

To this world, that called for new adaptations of the gospel to new needs, came the most adaptable of the apostles (I Corinthians ix, 19-23,) and probably the only one who ever entered Europe. He could speak to the Greek love of grace and beauty, to the Roman passion for law and social order, and his military instincts, to the Teuton's sense of loyalty to leaders. Beyond all the apostles his words have been the gospel of the West, and through his eyes it has seen the Savior of mankind. Augustine, Anselm, Luther, Calvin, and Wesley, all alike, have been the disciples of Paul of Tarsus.—[Thompson.

The first convert was a woman; at the first Christian service held on European soil, the heart of Lydia was opened to receive the truth; and the change which passed upon her prefigured what woman in Europe was to become, under the influence of Christianity. In the same town of Philippi there was seen, too, at the same time an equally representative image of the condition of woman in Europe before the gospel reached it, in a poor girl possessed of a spirit of divination and held in slavery by men who were making gain out of her misfortune, whom Paul restored to sanity. Her misery and degradation were a symbol of the disfiguration as Lydia's sweet and benevolent Christian character was of the transfiguration of womanhood.—[Stalker.

PERTINENT QUESTIONS.

(1.) May the disagreements of good men be overruled for good?

(2.) Do visions guide us to our work in these times?

(3.) Why was Paul the one selected to interpret Christ to the European mind?

(4.) What significance is there in the first convert being a woman?

(5.) Why does Christianity make one more patriotic?

(6.) Why does self-centered Christianity die and produce moral stench?

WRECK ENDS LONG RIVER TRIP.

St. Louis Boys Upset on Journey from Denver to Pacific Ocean by Boat.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

DENVER, July 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Battling for their lives with the turbulent waters of Green River at a point about seventy-five miles south of the town of Green River, Wyo., Thomas Martin and J. W. Woodward of St. Louis, prominent members of the Missouri Athletic Club and Mound City social favorites, were shipwrecked.

It was only a few weeks ago that Thomas Martin and J. W. Woodward left Denver to start on a 2000-mile journey of adventure and exploration down Green and Colorado rivers to the Gulf of California and out to the Pacific Ocean in an eighteen-foot boat.

Down the Green for about fifty miles from the starting point the voyage was pleasant and uneventful. But at this stage many rapids and whirlpools were encountered. To be ready for any emergency, they stripped to a light swimming costume. Shoes were cast aside; they wore knee trunks and light sleeveless undershirts.

A huge rock in the middle of the stream upset the boat, splintering the bow. Martin and Woodward were struggling in the foam-lashed waters. Money, supplies, clothing and equipment all washed away. The only thing left to do was start back for Green River afoot. The storm made the night exceedingly cold and the boys nearly froze. Finally they reached Green River.

LOOT HALF-MILLION.

LONDON, July 2.—The robbery of jewels valued at $500,000 from a Regent-street restaurant, has been reported to Scotland Yard by a traveler named F. Goldschmidt of Paris. The loot, which was in a hand-bag, consists of ten pearl necklaces and a number of loose pearls and diamonds.

Christian Endeavor.

A LIFE FOR THE LAND.

Terse Comments Upon the Christian Endeavor Topic for July 4, "Patriotism That Counts." Neh. iv, 6, 13-18.

By William T. Ellis.

All patriotism that is patriotism counts. If it does not count it is not patriotism. If the virtue of patriotism exists, it reveals its life by its fruits. This high and holy passion—one of the three noblest sentiments implanted in the breast of man by his Creator—does not always display labels and badges and flags, or in any wise noisily proclaim its existence; nevertheless, it is effective in the determination of ideals, in the regulation of conduct, and in the inspiration to public service. Like the qualities of honor and temperance and love, patriotism effects its first results in the fiber of the character.

Any person who would defraud the nation by evading customs duties, by shirking public tasks, by falsely representing his liabilities to taxes, or by rendering less than full market value in every transaction with the government, must be enrolled somewhere outside of the rank of patriots.

In the enjoyment of liberty's prizes men are tempted to shrink liberty's pain. For the great rights which this western world possesses under the law may be maintained only at the cost of watchfulness and service. The peril of self-government is the indifference of the majority to the obligations of citizenship. Men who would be among the first to leap to the defense of the land against foreign invasion view with indifference the usurpation of their rights by professional politicians and by unscrupulous corporations.

Love thou thy land with love far brought
From out the storied past, and used
Within the present, but transfused
Thro' future time by power to thought.
Love thou thy land.
—[Tennyson.

The man who throws a banana skin upon the sidewalk is a distant cousin of the capitalist who steals a public service franchise.

The poet is often a more useful patriot than the major-general.

To help the children achieve a happy, healthy and wholesome life is to perform one of the far-reaching ministrations of patriotism.

Party "regularity" is responsible for most of the present political irregularities which do hurt to the city and the State.

The reformer-for-revenue-only belongs, not in the rank of patriots, but in the file of branded corruptionists. The fundamental treason is to put self above the common welfare.

The stress which Christian Endeavor has laid upon good citizenship has been of incalculable influence in the creation of the new and livelier sense of civic obligation which prevails in this our day. A strong body of young men have taken up the duties of citizenship in a quiet, careful, thorough-going manner that has affected results. Some of these have gone into public life; all of them have made themselves a force for righteousness. So they may fairly be rated as one of the distinctive achievements of the Christian Endeavor movement.

The flag is stained by every dishonorable life beneath it.

The best patriots are they who serve their time in most helpful ways. There is no higher expression of citizenship than the inculcation, in a neighborhood or in a nation, of those great ideals of individual character and social service which we group under the name of religion. The Canadian churches have proved their loyalty to the flag as well as to the cross by their imperial conception of ministry to the newer portions of the country. They have set themselves, in noblest man-fashion, to the task of carrying the offices of the church to the very limits of pioneer settlement. Wherever runs the law of the land, there also goes the sweet and upbuilding message of the Gospel. In so doing, the nation is helping to conserve the Canadian type, and to mould the expanding populations into the characteristics of reverence for law, for order, for thrift, for education and for religion.

The new patriot is not a jingo. His horizon has broadened. To him, interest in all the nations of the earth is an expression of his patriotism. For he knows himself to be not only a son of his own land, but also a brother of all men.

The battle which the twentieth century patriot must fight are harder than those waged on bloody fields. For he has to go forth against entrenched greed, inert ignorance, deadly class hatred, and complex and difficult social problems which tax the best-trained brain and the stoutest heart.

News and Notes.

The Moody Institute, Chicago, recently dedicated a new men's building.

Baptists throughout the country are displaying considerable interest in the call of Rev. Dr. Cortland Myers of Brooklyn to succeed Rev. Dr. J. P. S. Henson as pastor of Tremont Temple of Boston.

The McCormick family of Chicago have increased their gift to the Presbyterian theological seminary which bears their name, to the extent of $14,600 a year for ten years to come.

The Japanese government has given recognition, which means official standing, to all the mission kindergarten training schools in Japan. The famous Hiroshima Girls' School of the Southern Methodist church, which is the scene of the book, "The Lady of the Decoration," has also been given government recognition.

In a recent issue of the Interior of Chicago, George W. Lauttit, formerly first reader of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, at Fort Wayne, Ind., makes the specific charge that the Christian Science leaders in Boston purpose to keep secret the death of Mrs. Eddy, and to declare that she has been translated, like Christ and Elijah.

A curious by-product of the Chinese revival is reported by Dr. Woodbridge, editor of the Christian Intelligencer, a Southern Presbyterian paper printed in Chinese at Shanghai. Native Christians are writing articles upon the revival, and one article submitted had twenty-five thousand Chinese characters. Another article was fourteen feet long.

The formation of a Canadian Presbyterian Brotherhood is under consideration in the denomination. It was recommended by a large conference of Presbyterian men who gathered in Toronto in connection with the national missionary congress. The Assembly's Committee on Moral and Social Reform was urged to arrange for a brotherhood convention next year.

An Austrian Presbyterian preacher in Baltimore, Rev. Baclav Vanek, has received from Emperor Francis Joseph the Golden Cross of Merit—the only one ever received in this country—and a gift of $3500 in money, because of his service to Austrian immigrants in America.

A radical departure in Y.M.C.A. methods has been the calling of a successful pastor, Rev. Dr. Clarence A. Barbour of Rochester, one of the best known Baptists in the country, to membership on the force of international secretaries. The aim is to help draw closer together the Christian Association and the churches. Dr. Barbour will also assist in the preparation of courses in text-books for association Bible classes.

By the recent passage of the British children's act it has become illegal in England for mothers to drink at public bars accompanied by their children. No child under the age of 14 may now be permitted at the bar of a public house under any conditions. Tobacco may not be sold to any one under the age of 16, and policemen must confiscate cigarettes, paper and tobacco found on any one under the same age. The act also provides separate juvenile courts and separate places of detention for child prisoners. Pawnshops may not do business with children under the age of 14. Summarizing the act, "The Congregationalist" adds: "The effect is to put the children of the poor, and all children of charitable institutions, under inspection by agents of the government."

Seven Sentence Sermons.

Though many guests be absent, it is the cheerful man we miss.—[African Proverb.

We prepare ourselves for sudden deeds by our reiterated choice of good or evil.—[George Eliot.

You never know what life means till you die;
Even throughout life, 'tis death that makes life live.
—[Robert Browning.

The most hopeless barrier to strife is the steady indifference of a man who knows he has work to do, and who goes on doing it irrespective of anybody's opinion.—[Agnes Repplier.

If any man would be first, he shall be last of all, and servants of all.—[Jesus.

That man is great, and he alone,
Who serves a greatness not his own,
For neither praise nor pelf;
Content to know and be unknown,
Whole in himself.
—[Owen Meredith.

AYMOND AUSTIN, the Pasadena diddler, continues to lead in the great race for education. All of rivals for first honors in the con-are still dancing to his tune. He passed the 50,000 mark in the score with over 3000 points to the good his nearest competitor, Dorothy herer who has passed the 50,000 ark, also. Miss Scherer, supported the Elks and Germans, and many rm personal admirers, still has the 0 cash prize in view, and is strain-every nerve to gain first place in he race. She has captured second lace from the Italian champion, Frank Maine, who has retrograded to third place in line. Maine intends to go to s Italian picnic on Sunday, and will probably get enough votes there to ake him to the top again.
Miss Alice Capron and Miss Con-nce Hood remain in fourth and fifth lace, respectively, and must still be onsidered with as candidates for first onors.
Little Anna Bloom has recovered ost of her lost ground by moving up rom seventh to sixth place, while Miss Mary Pearl Pottol, the foothills orite, has fallen back one degree to enth place.
race Wagner, Lela Spencer and urrey Royar are standing pat as
, 3 and 10, respectively.
Miss Florence Pedley, the "Pride of e most popular young ladies of Ornge county, and though starting a ek later than most of her rivals, is dy to make the other aspirants for honors sit up and take notice be-many days more have rolled und.

Miss Florence Lambert, the "Buck-
" girl, who came to Los Angeles recently from Cleveland, O., made first tally, and landed in twenty-place. Miss Lambert is lame as result of injuries received several rs ago, but she is a bright and wine girl, and will do her best to be inner in the race for education.

REMEMBERS FRIENDS IN NEED.

Mrs. Howard Gould Sends Gifts to Court Attaches Who Were Kind to Her.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, July 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Three thousand dollars a month may be a small sum for Mrs. Howard Gould to scrimp along with, as was said when Justice Dowling fixed that sum as her alimony from her husband but she spared enough out of her first month's allowance, received yesterday, to buy some remembrances which she sent today to Courthouse attachés who were courteous to her during the trial of her suit.

The gifts came by messenger from Tiffany's. He had tiny packages for the officers in the trial court, but they were not about, and he would not reveal the names of the lucky ones.

The first to receive a memento was James F. Flock, of the elevator force. When Flock opened his little parcel he found inside a solid gold case which held a gold tipped amber cigarholder.

A price card, left by inadvertance no doubt, in the package, bore the figures $27.50.

MILLIONAIRES ARRESTED.

Trustees of Miller and Lux Appointed in Woman's Suit—Stay of Execution Granted.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SAN FRANCISCO, July 2.—Pursuant to an order made today by Superior Judge A. M. Seawell, deputy sheriffs arrested five millionaires, trustees of the Miller & Lux Company, who have been ordered imprisoned in the County Jail, without the privilege of bail, until a payment of $22,902 is made to Mrs. Melissa A. Potter, holder of 7334 shares of stock in the corporation. The five men, after their apprehension, appeared before Judge Seawell and obtained a ten days' stay of execution.

The men for whom bench warrants were issued are Henry Miller, president of the company, J. Leroy Nickel, Edward A. Allen, Louis F. Monteagle and Gustave Gotsch. Mrs. Potter's attorneys allege that the money demanded is accumulated dividends, but that the trustees have refused payment, offering in lieu thereof stock in the Miller & Lux corporation of Nevada.

Three weeks ago, the order was made for payment of the money, and when Mrs. Potter's attorneys appeared today, and notified the court that the amount was still due, the bench warrants were issued.

RELIGIOUS.

FOR GOD AND THE COUNTRY.

Churches Are to Celebrate the Glorious Fourth.

At First Christian Edifice Mayor Will Speak.

Boyle Heights Pastor Given Vacation Purse.

Many of the churches of the city will take advantage of the fact that the Fourth of July falls on Sunday, and will hold patriotic services of various kinds.

At the First Christian Church, in the evening, Mayor Alexander, J. G. Warren, E. J. Curry and the pastor, Rev. A. C. Smither, will deliver patriotic addresses. The church will be elaborately decorated with the national colors, and the choir will sing patriotic music.

"Patriotism in Song," will be the topic of Rev. Dr. William Horace Day at the First Congregational Church, in the evening. The address will be illustrated by a stereopticon, and the national hymn will be sung.

At the First Methodist Church, in the evening, Rev. Dr. C. E. Locke's subject will be: "The Man With the Flag." The music will consist, in part, of national hymns of the world, including "The Watch on the Rhine," "Land of My Fathers," "Marseillaise," and "Viva Italia."

At Westlake Presbyterian Church a programme will be presented by the brotherhood. The Declaration of Independence will be read by F. A. Paugh, and an address will be delivered by Prof. L. A. Huntley, on "The Price of Liberty."

At the Y.M.C.A. meeting in the afternoon, Rev. W. B. Gantz, pastor of the Highland Park Presbyterian Church, will speak on "Independence Day Ideals," and there will be a solo by Miss Bernice Irwin.

"Patriotism and the Peace Movement" will be discussed by Rev. Stanley R. Fisher, pastor of the Church of the Messiah, Washington street and Van Ness avenue, at 11 o'clock in the morning.

CHRISTIAN WORKERS.

CONFERENCE NEARS END.

The meetings of the conference of Christian workers at the First Baptist Church have been well attended and full of interest. The series will close with two meetings tomorrow, and the workers will go from here to the Twin Lake Assembly, where a similar conference will be held.

This morning Dr. Pritchard will preside, while Dr. Henry will speak on the "Message of God," and Dr. J. R. Pratt on "The Messenger for God." At 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon, the "World-wide Witness of the Church" will be the special theme. Mrs. Mindora Berry Goodwin will conduct the service, and special addresses will be given by Mrs. A. J. Gordon of Boston; Mrs. Dr. George Soltau of London and Mr. Bach, the missionary representative of the New Testament Church in Southern China. Greetings will also be heard from other missionaries and ministers.

Tonight's meeting will be conducted by Dr. T. C. Horton of the Bible Institute, and Dr. Harris will speak.

A meeting will be held at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, at which Dr. Henry will preside, and Dr. Sherman and Dr. Harris will speak. Tomorrow evening the same speakers will be heard.

POPULAR PASTOR.

GIVEN A FAT PURSE.

Rev. Alfred Inwood, pastor of the Boyle Heights Methodist Church, will leave Monday for a month's vacation, first going to Seattle to attend the national convention of the Epworth League. A general reception and social of the members and friends of the church was held last night. There were about 500 persons in attendance, and the pastor was surprised to receive a fat purse. The presentation speech was made by Dr. Corbin, and Rev. Mr. Inwood made a feeling response.

The Boyle Heights Church will celebrate its twenty-fifth anniversary tomorrow, and two former pastors will occupy the pulpit in the morning, and Rev. D. H. Gillan, in the evening. The parish began with twenty-one members, and now has more than 800 enrolled.

JOHN CALVIN DAY.

PRESBYTERIANS TO CELEBRATE.

The Presbyterian Ministers' Association has arranged a celebration of the four-hundredth anniversary of the birth of John Calvin, to take place in the First United Presbyterian Church, on Friday evening.

Rev. Malcolm J. McLeod, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Pasadena, will preside. Rev. T. T. Creswell, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Pomona, will speak on "The Man, John Calvin;" Rev. W. W. Logan, pastor of the First United Presbyterian Church, this city, on "John Calvin and Theology;" Dr. E. S. Chapman, superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, on "John Calvin and Civil Liberty;" Dr. Hugh K. Walker, pastor of Immanuel Presbyterian Church, on "John Calvin and Education."

Pastors and congregations throughout Southern California have been invited to participate in the celebration.

YALE OARSMAN WEDS.

Member of 'Varsity Crew Married Last September, But Keeps It Dark Until Now.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

NEW HAVEN (Ct.) July 2.—The interesting announcement has just been made, following the return of the Yale crew from New London, of the marriage last September, of Frank Albert Baker of Zanesville, O., who rowed No. 5 in the boat, and Miss Mary Quentin of this city.

The marriage took place in Jersey City, when Baker returned to his studies in the Sheffield Scientific School, the only ones knowing about it being the bride's relatives and the young couple.

Baker is a junior in "Sheff," but will not return next year to finish the course. His bride saw Yale go down to defeat from the observation car at New London.

PASADENA.

KEEP 'EM OUT OF POLITICS.

FRIES'S ADVICE UPON HARBOR AND GOOD ROADS.

In Address Before Board of Trade He Gives Views on Recent Events at San Pedro—Does Not Blame Corporations—City Will Be Well Patrolled Elks' Day.

Office of The Times, No. 36 S. Raymond Ave

PASADENA, July 3.—"If you want good harbors and good roads, keep them out of politics," was the purport of the address given by Capt. Amos A. Fries, before the Board of Trade at its regular monthly luncheon, held at La Casa Grande yesterday noon.

The trend of his address showed the aim of railroads and other corporations to be the acquisition of all control of Pacific Coast harbors.

"If San Pedro is ready to take and keep Panama business on the completion of the canal it will get its share. Otherwise, it will be distributed along the coast, and once so diverted will cost ten times as much to bring back as would have been the cost of acquiring it at the start.

"It is the object of Los Angeles to bring about the first condition by consolidation and Los Angeles needs your moral support.

"If on the half-million tons of citrus fruits sent East you could save $1 a ton by having your harbor fees dictated by the public rather than by corporations, you would save to Southern California annually $500,000. And you could save $1 a ton on the other thousands of tons because of the same condition. This means more to the man in the back country than it does to the man in the city. He gets the dollar a ton going and coming. The dollar is saved to him not only on his product, which is exported, but also on his utensils, which are imported.

"The engineering problems of San Pedro harbor are not new problems in engineering. We have not even silt-bearing rivers to fill our harbor, and the problem of providing harbor facilities is an easy one. The real problem to work out in San Pedro harbor is one of the vital ones of Republican government. It is the welded problem of capital and labor, and it has to be solved. When you solve this problem in San Pedro, you have solved the problem confronting every harbor in the United States. It is a question of 'Shall the public or the corporation control?'

"The natural anchorage of San Pedro is one protected in a degree from high winds. The greatest harbors are up-river harbors. All practical features of any harbor are artificial. The most practical feature is the wharf. In the past twenty years government dredges have made it possible to more cheaply dredge to unnatural harbor than to move business to natural deep water. In San Francisco we have natural deep water, but it is too deep. In times of high winds and heavy storms San Francisco harbor is so rough and violent that large vessels have been sunk and more will sink because of the convulsion naturally resulting from the effect of storms on its deep water.

"The problem confronting San Pedro harbor today is how boards of trustees in San Pedro and Wilmington may be safeguarded from donating to corporations all public improvements. In the law governing Wilmington as a city of the sixth class and San Pedro as a city of the fifth class there is nothing to prohibit their boards of trustees from granting concessions to corporations. These concessions will have been paid for by the money of the public and all that is necessary to deed them to the corporations is for the corporations to ask a concession from the board for improvements the corporations desires to make. The Trustees, concurring with the corporation's ideas, deed the public improvements.

"And I do not blame the corporations. If they can get that they desire by asking for it they would be foolish not to ask. The corporations hire good men to transact their business affairs. The public in its division of city and county and State should do the same. The great cry has been that the government could not do things as cheaply as the private corporation. This has been proven false.

"We paid out sixteen and a fraction cents a yard to dredgers for harbor work before we bought the government dredger. Since then it has cost us eleven and a fraction cents, including the cost of the dredger and office expenses. This proves that the government can do work as cheaply as any one else if it keeps its business out of politics and runs it on business lines.

"And you should not forget your highways. I am an ardent admirer of the system of macadamized roads being built in Southern California. You should build them to your harbors and, in case it became necessary, you could successfully compete with steam lines by using traction engines and cars or motor trains, run by gas or steam.

"When the Southern Pacific asked for franchises to run double tracks to Mormon Island it took good care to see that all approaches to the harbor were covered in the request for franchises. The plan was to blockade all entrances to the public harbors and should the public docks fail because of this blockade the railroad would be in a position to acquire the public frontage at terms it dictated.

"I do not mean to say that the corporations should be made to give to the public those rights and privileges to which they now have clear title, but I do mean that the public should control. Let the corporations develop and maintain the frontage they now have. Let the public develop other frontage and let there be competition which would be good for the trade.

"The fortifications at San Pedro must be adequate to protect the harbor from foreign fleets. The appropriation now available is not adequate, and until augmented by other appropriations which will be made by the next Congress there is no necessity to immediately start the work of fortifying. With that appropriation, fourteen-inch rifled cannon will be installed, protecting the coast as far as Long Beach with a chain of torpedoes extending across the harbor to prevent hostile boats entering. San Pedro is the most valuable harbor in the United States unfortified."

At the conclusion of Capt. Fries's address a resolution was introduced and passed expressing the regret of the Board of Trade that Capt. Fries had been relieved of his duties at San Pedro; wishing him good-will wherever duty may find him and thanking him for his address.

TO BE WELL PATROLLED.

On Elks' Day Pasadena is to be well patrolled. Chief Favour returned last evening from a conference with Chief Dishman of Los Angeles. The latter made provision for transferring twenty-five policemen, a sergeant and a lieutenant to Pasadena on Elks' Day. He also presented Favour with a buffalo, emblematic of the convention of the International Association of Chiefs of Police, to which Favour was recently elected a member. A large number of plain clothes men will also be distributed in the crowd on the big day here as it is believed that many of the shrewdest pickpockets and thieves in the country will attempt to operate during the Elks' convention.

LOSES LEG—NEARLY.

"I want that wooden leg back," said Deputy Constable George Thornburg of Los Angeles, as Alpha E. Litts, chauffeur, limped into court yesterday to answer to the charge of violating the speed ordinance.

Litts, it seems, bought a $125 wooden leg, and has not paid for it.

"This ain't the leg you want," said the chauffeur. "The leg you want is up in m' trunk t'home. Blow away. I have other troubles."

Thornburg could not identify the shapely member Litts was wearing, and therefore arranged for Litts to appear in the Los Angeles justice court today. The local case was then taken up. Litts claimed that he was called to Altadena to take a woman who had been overcome with the heat to Pasadena. With five people in his machine, he "made time" on North Raymond avenue, rounding the corner of Colorado and Raymond at an admitted speed of fifteen miles an hour.

The court was not entirely satisfied with the testimony, although the defendant was anxious for sentence to be pronounced at once, and the case was continued until 8:30 o'clock this morning, when other witnesses will be called.

TO OPEN VINEYARD STREET.

Vineyard street is to be opened east from Raymond avenue to the Santa Fé station, a distance of little more than 100 feet. The improvement will be a big one, as the station has almost been inaccessible in the past, and the only entrance was over private right of way.

Samuel Storrow, No. 500 S. Grand avenue, is the owner of the property lying just south of the Hotel Green, and has stated that he intends erecting a handsome business block on the premises in the near future. A report that the place was to be occupied by a garage was, according to report, distasteful to G. G. Green, owner of the big hostelry, and this fact is said to be the reason for the extension of Vineyard street.

PASADENA NEWS NOTES.

Curtis L. Knight, former superintendent of the Valcalde mine at Blair, Nev., and a well-known mining engineer, is visiting in Pasadena.

Drs. Campbell and Malaby, who are attending Guy Findley, aged 14, who was injured while playing with black powder, believe that they will be able to save the sight of the boy's left eye. At noon yesterday he could see daylight, and dimly discern moving objects as something black. The right eye was removed.

Dog taxes became due yesterday and City Treasurer Munson says that licenses are being taken out with unusual rapidity. In this city the owner of the dog is arrested if the license is not paid.

A meeting was held last night at the office of G. D. Francis, secretary of the City and County Improvement Association, for the purpose of discussing the improvement of Glenn avenue, where the storm-water question has proved quite a problem. Residents of Lincoln avenue were principally in attendance and discussed favorably the proposed establishment of a storm drain district, which has met with so much opposition in Altadena.

The Valley Hunt Club will be host at a delightful outing this evening. Eighty-two people, mostly members of the club, will leave Pasadena in special cars at 4 o'clock, transfer to the Redondo line and dine at the Dolphin. The fish dinner will be served early in order that those who care to may go in bathing by moonlight, two hours later. The affair will be one of the jolliest ever given by this popular society organization.

P. L. Auten and his daughter, Miss Cora Auten of No. 119 North Madison avenue, left last night for the North. Miss Auten will be the guest of Miss Angie Holmes at San Rafael for several weeks. Later she will be joined by her mother and go to their summer home at Lake Tahoe.

The police are having trouble in explaining to the carriage and automobile drivers the new ordinance which provides that a team or car, if drawn up at the curbing, must have its head pointed in accordance with the rules of the road for that side of the street.

Rev. Albert Hatcher Smith of the First Baptist Church will return today from McMinnville College, Oregon, where he was granted the degree of doctor of divinity during the commencement exercises. He delivered the baccalaureate address. The return trip was made by way of Seattle, where the doctor attended the Baptist conference as a delegate and was named as one of the board to control the missions of the country.

Wilbur S. McIntyre, deputy City Treasurer, will leave today to visit his father and mother in the State of Washington, not having seen them in twenty-two years. He will be gone a month and will visit the exposition in Seattle.

FLAG WILL FLY HIGH.

Will Be Unfurled at the Summit of Mount Hollywood This Afternoon. New Bell Named.

HOLLYWOOD, July 2.—Tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock the large American flag which has been purchased here on public subscription through the efforts of Mrs. William Senour, will be unfurled at the summit of Mt. Hollywood and presented to the city of Los Angeles. The ceremonies will be held at Willard and Prospect avenue, from which point the mountain top is plainly visible and at the waving of a small flag the big one will be allowed to fly. Three boys, MacLellan Dorsey, Davis Newman and Wilford Taylor, took the forty-foot pole up the trail this week and set it in a base of solid cement and they will be the ones who will unfurl the flag tomorrow.

Addresses will be made by E. D. Taylor, E. Lovie and Prof. L. A. Handley of Occidental College, who will accept the flag for Los Angeles in the name of the park board. Eugene Dorsey, 8 years old, will make the presentation for the local school children who have contributed largely toward the cost of the flag. There will also be a musical programme. The flag measures 12x24 feet and the park board has promised to protect it as far as possible in its isolated position.

At noon tomorrow "Old Peter," the new fire bell which was hung in the tower at the engine-house tonight, will be rung for the first time. The bell is designed for a fire alarm, and has been named "Old Peter" for Peter Brophy, the late sexton at the Church of the Blessed Sacrament, who rang the first bell ever heard here. He volunteered to care for the church and grounds at the time the former was built, receiving nothing in return but his home in the church tower, where hung the bell he rang daily up to the time of his death.

JUST A LITTLE.

LIFT THE LID AT LONG BEACH.

PROHIBITIONISTS DEFEATED BY SMALL MAJORITY.

Long Beach Voters Decide That the Temperance Law Hitherto in Vogue Is a Trifle Too Narrow—Hotel Virginia Will Experience Relief. Hard-Fought Battle at Polls.

LONG BEACH, July 2.—The liberal element here is triumphant tonight, having demonstrated that the sentiment for a narrow, straight-laced policy regarding liquor is no longer favored by the majority.

In a hard-fought battle at the polls today, the initative ordinance was adopted by a majority of 58, the figures being 914 for and 856 against. The Prohibitionists carried four precincts and the Liberals three. The greatest majority was given in the Fourth District, where an attorney of the Prohibition party made enemies by obstructive tactics in challenging voters.

The new ordinance will take the place of No. 52, which has long been regarded as the most drastic temperance measure in the State, although its constitutionality has never been successfully attacked. The old law prohibits a man having liquor in his own house or serving it to his friends. The new one permits this but follows the charter in prohibiting the sale of liquor. It will give relief to Hotel Virginia in that guests will be permitted to have their own liquors served with their meals.

The total vote cast was 1770 out of 2600 registrations. The Liberals are acting decently in their celebration tonight, according to report, distasteful to G. G. Green, owner of the big hostelry, and this fact is said to be the reason for the extension of Vineyard street.

CELEBRATION PLANS.

Preparations for the clebration of Independence Day on July 5 are going ahead smoothly, although the committees have not completed all details. There will be a parade in the morning of floats and business displays; also a baby parade. In the Auditorium there will be a patriotic programme, with Seward A. Simons of Pasadena as the orator of the day. The afternoon will be devoted to sports of all kinds on the beach and Pine avenue, together with band concerts and a display of day fireworks from the pier. At night there will be a display of fireworks and several set pieces of Japanese design. Long Beach always has a crowd of 50,000 or 60,000, and always tries to take care of it, with the result that in five years there have been but two fatal accidents.

ADMITS HE IS DESERTER.

The police made another good capture last night, though the arresting officer thought his prisoner only a tramp. This morning the man was given a floater out of town, when Detective Phillips entering the station recognized the clothing as the same worn by a burglar who is wanted in Riverside county. The young fellow gives the name of E. E. Floyd, but while not admitting that he is wanted for burglary, does say that he is a deserter from the army. He was sent to the county jail, pending further investigation.

For the accommodation of picnic parties the Board of Public Works has installed in the kitchen on the picnic deck of the Auditorium, four big vats or coffee urns, one of fifty gallons and three of eighty gallons each. These, with the gas for heating, will be furnished free, together with thirty large pitchers for pouring.

OVERCOME IN BREAKERS.

M. Salgman of Salt Lake City was overcome in the breakers today and was unconscious when reached by the life guards. He was taken to the Emergency Hospital and given medical attention, being able to leave for Los Angeles an hour later.

At 4 o'clock this morning S. S. Hammett, living at No. 1165 East Ocean avenue, was aroused by a woman, who insisted she was his wife and demanded admittance. The police were called and took in custody a Miss Weir, who is demented and who had escaped from her mother's home. She was taken home by the police.

The figures of the local postoffice for the fiscal year just ended show receipts of $46,482.97, an increase over last year of 11 per cent.

LITTLE ONES PICNIC.

The children of the Belle White Home of Los Angeles picnicked at the beach today. There were forty of the little ones, the eldest but 13 years of age, in charge of Miss White and her assistants. Lunch was served on the lower deck of the Auditorium.

EL MONTE.

EL MONTE, July 3.—This place will celebrate the Glorious Fourth Monday on the grounds of Lexington school. An excellent programme has been arranged. It will begin at 10 o'clock with a parade; a barbecue dinner will be served at 11:30 o'clock; Rev. Dana Bartlett of Los Angeles will give an address at 2 o'clock, after which there will be athletic sports between High School boys and married men. A baseball game between the fat and slim men of the town is looked forward to.

A union patriotic service has been planned for Sunday evening, to be addressed by Andrew Park of Los Angeles. He will speak on "Prohibition in the New South."

AZUSA.

AZUSA, July 2.—Thirty-four members of the Masonic Lodge of Azusa went to Monrovia Wednesday evening and initiated four.

Over thirty girls of the town gathered in the public library yesterday afternoon to hear Rev. R. W. Cleland of Duarte talk on the characters in the "Little Colonel Series" of books. The scene of these books is laid in the Pewee Valley, Ky., which was Mr. Cleland's early home, and some of his relatives figure in them.

Ninety-five dollars has been appropriated by the Trustees for street-cleaning purposes.

AUTOMOBILES CAUSE INCREASE.

Big Jump in Monrovia Assessment Figures Due to Ownership of So Many Touring Cars.

MONROVIA, July 2.—The total of property value in the roll just completed by Assessor Hotchkiss is $2,420,000. In round numbers the increase over 1908 is $335,000. The most notable advance in personal property assessments is $50,000, on new automobiles. About $275,000 of the total increase is due to new business structures and residences. The actual value of building improvements in 1908 approximates $900,000. With few exceptions, 1908 assessments remain unchanged.

LIQUOR CASE.

Te second trial of A. E. Cronenwett for "maintaining a place where intoxicating beverages are sold, distributed or given away," in violation of city prohibition statutes began this morning before Justice Glover of Azusa. A venire of 100 names was exhausted at 5 o'clock, and only five jurors accepted. The defense had used four of the ten peremptory charges allowed, and the prosecution three.

The jury disagreed in the first trial, and the result of the city's second effort for conviction is awaited with much interest. Four members of the Board of Trustees will be called by each side as witnesses. An amusing feature of the case was the very evident desire for business men of the city to escape jury service and finally Constable John Thomas placed a guard on the rear door of any business house when he was prepared to enter it with a summons.

MRS. EVANS DIES.

Mrs. George W. Evans died tonight at her home, No. 734 West White Oak avenue. Arrangements for the funeral service are not complete.

Mrs. M. L. Butts entertained the officers and directors of the Visiting Nurses' Association this afternoon, at her home on Greystone avenue, in compliment to Mrs. W. Judson Smith, the retiring secretary. Mrs. Smith was the founder of the organization, and in appreciation of her work she was presented with a beautiful loving cup, by Msr. John H. Bartle, the president, in behalf of the directors. Mrs. Smith moved to Los Angeles some months ago, and has found it difficult to fill her duties as secretary. Mrs. Alfred Ottaway, assisted by Mrs. Diegelman, Mrs. Haven, Mrs. Black and Mrs. Uhl, served refreshments.

WILMINGTON.

Good Results from Showing of Opposition to the Consolidation. Movement.

WILMINGTON, July 2.—When the opposition to consolidation came out of the bushes and began to put up a fight, it was a good thing for the consolidation cause. It stirred up the friends of the movement and they are working harder than ever. The same selfish interests that fight against a free harbor at San Pedro are getting in their work here and some business men have been enlisted on their side. But the real public sentiment of Wilmington is in favor of consolidating; and if the same energy now displayed by the consolidationists is maintained to the last the measure will be carried without fail in this little city; but it will not do for the enthusiastic supporters of the cause to assume that there will not be a cunning fight, on the part of the opposing elements.

SIERRA MADRE.

SIERRA MADRE, July 2.—It appears that the issue of gas bonds may yet be declared legal and the city in a short time start its plant. City Attorney Madden has been working on the matter and does not accept the opinion of the bond buyers' attorneys as final. He has found several flaws in the opinion which may set it aside, and thereby save the city considerable time, labor and expense. The last Legislature passed what is known as a curative act, which it is thought may cover this question.

This being the seasop for snakes there are many reports of rattlers found in the cañons and underbrush of the foothills. The largest one yet discovered was one that confronted Miss A. Polley, the municipal nurse, while on a visit in the outskirts of the town. The reptile lay in the middle of the road blocking the nurse's passage. She thought it measured ten or twelve feet and called for assistance. A rancher near by hastened to the scene. He dispatched the snake by throwing rocks on it. Its actual measurement was over six feet. It was one of the finest specimens seen here for some time.

A lawn tennis tournament has been arranged for the Fourth, on the spacious grounds belonging to Miss Jenny Lambert, where many professionals have met in past seasons. Miss Lambert has only recently returned after an extended trip through England, Scotland, Ireland and Wales.

WHITTIER.

WHITTIER, July 2.—Members of the Woman's Club are hard at work planning for their second annual flower show, which will be given during the height of the chrysanthemum season, probably during the middle of October. It will be held in the new clubhouse, now nearing completion, and erected at a cost of $5000.

The Trustees have let the contract for the pipe-laying for the new sewer system to N. L. Hostetter of Los Angeles, for $34,593.75.

High honor has come to Leona Mannon, a graduate of the musical department of the Union High School this year. She sought a scholarship in the Fillmore School of Music and successfully passed an examination, which has hitherto been too difficult for any contestant, every previous applicant failing.

The funeral service for Ether E. Smith, who died at the Whittier Hospital as the result of appendicitis, was held at the Holiness Church yesterday morning.

TROPICO.

TROPICO, July 2.—Cards have been received announcing the marriage of Miss Edna Hughes and T. R. Bennett at Santa Ana. The bride, who is the grand-daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Webster of El Centro, and niece of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. Webster of "Ivy Nook," Tropico, was a former resident of this place, and a successful instructor in the county schools. Mr. Bennett is a business man of Lancaster, where they will reside.

Mrs. John Kirkham, a student of the Los Angeles Conservatory of Music and Arts, received the highest score of the school and was presented with honor at the twenty-sixth anniversary commencement concert in Los Angeles.

Many citizens of this place are planning to unite with citizens of Glendale in the Fourth of July celebration which will be held at Verdugo Park, Monday.

ELABORATE PROGRAMME DRAWN UP FOR ELKS.

Six Hundred Who Arrive on the Steamer President from Seattle Will Get Genuine Southern California Welcome—June Made New Shipping Record.

REDONDO BEACH, July 2.—The San Pedro and Redondo Beach Elks are arranging for a joint reception and entertainment in this city on Monday, the 12th inst., for the 600 Elks, who will arrive on the steamship President which has been chartered for the party on the trip from Seattle. To properly welcome the party in true Southern California style the committee has been busy for nearly a week past, altering the interior of the pavilion and preparing an elaborate programme. The Elks of both cities will be present with bands and banners, and will be supplemented in number by a large body of the Los Angeles Elks, who will remain and take an active part in the programme.

NEW RECORD.

Custom Officer Sheldrick has just issued the customhouse report for June, which sets a new record for shipping at this port. Here is the report: Imports, 6,450,000 feet of lumber, 2,600,000 shingles, 28,909 railroad ties, 40,700 barrels of oil, 25,224 lineal feet of piling, 2518 tons of merchandise. Arrivals, 52 vessels, including 48 steamers, 3 schooners, 1 barge, with a total tonnage of 48,610 tons, manned by 2499 men. Arrivals, 1182 passengers. Exports, 17,000 barrels of oil, 364 tons of merchandise. Departures, 49 steamers, 4 schooners, 1 barge, 49,169 net tons, crews, 2909. Departures, 1445 passengers.

ANNUAL PICNIC.

The Knights and Ladies of the Maccabees of Southern California have arranged for their annual picnic to be held at this place on Saturday, August 21. This will be the fourth annual outing of the lodge to be held at this beach, and it is estimated the attendance will exceed that of any former year.

NEW SYSTEM.

The Trustees have ordered a new lighting system for the business section along Pacific avenue and opposite the amusement center. It calls for the installing of a bower of incandescent lights formed by strings woven across the street. There will be about 2000 lights used. They will add greatly to the appearance of the city at night.

HEAVY RECEIPTS.

Since the inauguration of the new passenger boat schedule and the improvement of the service by the addition of the new ships President and Governor, there has been a marked increase in the passenger travel by water, the receipts for the past month showing an increase of $85,000 over June a year ago. The fact that this port is the first to be reached on the south-bound trip and the last stopping point north bound, it naturally gets the bulk of the passenger business, which accounts for the heavy receipts.

Cool, Comfortable, Coronado.

ALHAMBRA.

ALHAMBRA, July 2.—Mrs. J. F. Hall, accompanied by Miss Bott, left yesterday for Long Beach.

The annual alumni banquet of the High School was held in the clubhouse last evening.

Sunday will be the last day of the special meetings held in the grove. There will be appropriate music.

Monday will be observed as a holiday. There will be no special home celebration this year.

Alhambra is in the throes of two campaigns, one for the abolition of "For Sale" and "For Rent" signs, and the other to make it impossible for more than one telephone system to do business in the town.

Mrs. C. E. Whittemore and daughter, Miss Elsie, who has been attending Oberlin College, are now located at No. 114 North Garfield avenue.

Delightfully cool at CORONADO.

BURBANK.

BURBANK, July 2.—The Sunday-schools of this place will hold a union Fourth of July picnic Monday at Griffith Park.

C. B. Fischer will commence the erection of a handsome house on his property on Angeline avenue, the first of the week.

The Burbank Lodge of F. and A. M. held its first stated meeting under the dispensation in the Masonic Hall, last evening.

MEAT MARKET CHANGES.

The Broadway meat market, established three years ago by Woodward and Bennett, has been sold to John C. Lenk, formerly a member of Young's Market Company, and R. H. Jeffries, who has been proprietor of the Second-street meat market for the past few years. Woodward & Bennett will confine themselves to the wholesale trade, with headquarters at Vernon, where they have a plant covering six acres.

LIFE ENDS FOR WAR VETERAN

SUCCUMBS TO THROAT DISEASE AFTER LONG ILLNESS.

Lieut.-Col. Keyes, U.S.A., Retired, Dies—Performed Valiant Service in the Civil War—Elks Make Hit—Imperial Valley Water Companies and Expos Sustained.

SAN DIEGO, July 2.—Lieut.-Col. Alexander S. B. Keyes, U.S.A. (retired), died early this morning at his home in this city. He had been afflicted with throat disease for many months. He passed away in the presence of his wife and daughter, Miss Ethel Keyes. The remains will be sent to San Francisco for interment.

Besides the daughter at home, other children left are Mrs. Howard Anderson, Chihuahua, Mex.; Mrs. H. P. Fiske, wife of Capt. Fiske, U.S.A. Lieut. Edward A. Keyes, U.S.A., stationed in the Philippines; Geoffrey Keyes, a cadet at West Point.

Had he lived until July 28, Col. Keyes would have been 63 years old. He was born in Massachusetts. He enlisted in the Union army from that State and was appointed lieutenant in 1861. He was transferred to the Tenth Cavalry in 1870 and was promoted to be captain in 1873. In 1892 he was promoted to be major of the Third Calvary and was retired with the rank of lieutenant-colonel. During the Civil War Col. Keyes performed valiant service in the volunteer corps.

ELKS MAKE HIT.

With three performances of "A Night in Bohemia," the last given tonight, the local lodge of Elks will clear in the neighborhood of $1000. The cast was made up of local talent and the principals as well as chorus made a big hit. The latest songs were introduced. The money raised will be spent in Los Angeles by the local Elks for the purpose of advertising San Diego at the coming reunion.

SUSTAINS WATER COMPANIES.

In sustaining demurrers to the complaint in the case of A. N. Jones and others against the California Development Company, the Imperial Water Company No. 1, and the Southern Pacific Railway Company, Judge Guy C. Rosenberger upheld the contentions of defendants that no cause of action had been proven in the arguments on the complaint. Jones represents ninety-five other land owners in Imperial Valley whose lands were flooded by the break in the Colorado River levees in 1907. The aggregate amount of damages sued for is $500,000. An amended complaint will be filed.

WILL MEET IN SAN DIEGO.

The State Board of Railway Commissioners will meet here on the 12th inst. for the purpose of hearing petitions or protests from the shippers of this section of California. The meeting will be held in the Chamber of Commerce rooms. W. D. Wagner of San Bernardino is secretary of the board.

TENT CITY TO CELEBRATE.

The usual celebration at Tent City will be held Monday, July 5. A fine programme of yacht races, swimming contests and athletic sports on the beach has been arranged. At night there will be a pyrotechnic display. Ohlmeyer and his band will give two patriotic concerts, afternoon and evening.

LAND AND WATER.

Suits Involving Both Are Started at Riverside—Palo Verde Settlers Are Interested in Outcome.

RIVERSIDE, July 2.—Because of default in making its payments on a contract to purchase a large tract of land near Pedley, the Southern California Real Estate Investment Company is made the defendant in a suit brought in the Superior Court today by the Rogers Development Company to close out the interests of the investment company in the land. The suit involves about $125,000.

The property was purchased three years ago by the real estate company, and the Fairhaven townsite was laid out at Pedley. Near by was laid out the Fairhaven Farms subdivision, made up of little farms. The company made a payment of $5000 on the purchase price, and, it is alleged, failed to meet subsequent payments as they became due.

The courts have been called upon to settle the question as to whether or not the Palo Verde Land and Water Company must furnish water to settlers living outside the tract developed by the company. Alleging that the company made an agreement two years ago to supply water to them, E. E. Schellenger, Harvey E. Mahan and Duane F. Hall began an action in the Superior Court yesterday for an order requesting the Palo Verde Land and Water Company to deliver this water. It is alleged that the water was supplied for two years, according to the agreement, but that the company has failed to deliver any to outside parties for nearly six months. Each of the defendants owns a 160-acre ranch adjoining the property of the Palo Verde Land and Water Company.

BAY CITY.

BAY CITY, July 2.—Great preparations are in progress for the biggest Independence Day celebration this city has known. There will be baseball and tennis added to the attractions at Anaheim Landing, and dancing in the pavilion the afternoon and evening of Monday. In the evening there will be a fireworks display.

The opening dance of the season will be held in the pavilion tomorrow night. Many private parties are being formed for the occasion.

The final survey for the bridge connecting this city with Long Beach was completed yesterday and work will be commenced in a few days.

Speaker Stanton of the Assembly, president of the Bayside Land Company, has completed arrangements whereby the Twelfth Regiment of the National Guard will go into camp here about July 16.

Postoffice receipts show a 50 per cent. increase over June of last year.

Mrs. Mary Moll and daughters, Dahla, Ruth and Martha, arrived yesterday and are established in the Moran cottage for the season.

MARSHAL PLEADS GUILTY.

Ventura Official Fined for Hitting Man He Had Arrested—Railroad Agent Promoted.

VENTURA, July 2.—City Marshal Russell pleaded guilty to a charge of assault and battery before Justice Ortega this morning and was fined $50. He slapped John Nicholson in the mouth while the latter, under arrest for alleged violation of the local liquor law, was talking to City Attorney Rogers in Main street about a week ago. The immediate provocation was that Nicholson called the Marshal a liar.

The charge of challenging to fight a duel, growing out of the Marshal's offer of a pistol to Nicholson with which to defend himself, will be investigated by the grand jury next week.

MOTOR CAR FOR NORDHOFF

Next week the Southern Pacific Railway Company will put one of the new gasoline motor cars on the line between Ventura and Nordhoff, as an experiment. This branch, leading from this town into the Ojai Valley, is fourteen miles long and there is only one train a day each way. The people have been demanding better train service for some time past, especially in view of the fact that it is by this route the Matilija Hot Springs and the trout fishing grounds in the headwaters of the Sespe are reached. If it is found that the motor car can negotiate the grades on the line, the service will beee regularly continued.

FOR MOORPARK HIGH SCHOOL.

A petition for the establishment of a Union High School at Moorpark, in the Simi, will be prepared and presented to the Board of Supervisors at once. This will be the sixth high school to be set up in Ventura county, new ones having been instituted at Nordhoff and at Fillmore this spring. There were originally three in the county, at Ventura, at Santa Paula and at Oxnard.

Philip Gavfert, who has been acting as assistant Southern Pacific agent here for a number of years past, this morning received orders to report for duty at Visalia and take charge of the compaany's station there. This is a decided promotion.

FIND CANNON BALL.

Excavating the bed of the Santa Clara River for one of the caissons of the new bridge across the stream at Fillmore yesterday, workmen came upon a brass cannon ball, perfectly smooth and unmarred. It is about five inches in diameter and weighs twelve pounds, and has a hole in one side as if for the insertion of a fuse. It is not known where the cannon ball came from or how it got into the bed of the Santa Clara River, forty miles from the sea. Presumably it is a relic of old Spanish days. They did not shoot brass balls from cannon in Fremont's time, although it is likely enough that Fremont crossed the Santa Clara River just about where Fillmore stands now. But balls left by Fremont were of iron, as at least one found in this town a long time ago shows, and were of smaller caliber than this one.

There is no record, however, of any Spanish armed body having been in that neighborhood with cannon, although troops might have passed there in the old days on the road between the pueblo of Los Angeles and Monterey.

WILL TRADE SISTERS.

Double Wedding to Take Place at Bolsa Today—Girls Are Both Under Eighteen Years.

SANTA ANA, July 2.—William H. Luntsford of Bolsa and Sylvester Summers of El Modena are going to trade sisters tomorrow. Luntsford, aged 21, will give his sister, Marguerite, aged 17, to Summers, aged 21, to be Summers's wife, and Summers is going to give his sister, Jessie, aged 17, to Luntsford, to be Luntsford's wife. The double wedding will occur at the Luntsford home at Bolsa tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock. The licenses have been issued. S. R. Summers gave his consent to the issuance of the license in which his daughter was concerned, and E. B. Luntsford consented to the one in which his daughter was named, the two girls being under 18.

Bennett Wray of Newport Beach, charged with battery by Elmer Mefford, pleaded not guilty in Justice Smithwick's court today, and his trial was set for next Thursday. Wray is known at the beach as "Shorty," his height being 7 feet 1 inch. Mefford is ready to testify that "Shorty" is good with his mits and long in the reach.

NEIGHBOURS NOTES.

NEIGHBOURS, July 2.—The Colorado River overflow was unprecedented. It went from a foot and a half to two feet higher than ever before recorded. The rising waters went farther up the valley than the oldest settler dreamed of.

The Palo Verde Land and Water Company had every available man in the valley at work on the levees around Olive Lake reservoir to keep the waters from sweeping over the cultivated areas. No actual break occurred.

During the last few days the thermometer has ranged from 90 to 108 deg., and in some places a trifle higher. The days have not been sultry. A cooling breeze has tempered the heat and made out-of-door work practicable at all times. The nights and mornings have been unexcelled for outdoor sleeping.

E. F. Williams, who bought the Fred Myers homestead, has come into the valley.

Mr. and Mrs. Neighbours and children will leave next week for Los Angeles. They will be absent for a month.

Rev. J. W. Martin, a retired minister from Los Angeles, spent a week in the valley and made some investments. He is enthusiastic about the future of this remarkable section.

Keep cool go to CORONADO.

ESCONDIDO.

ESCONDIDO, July 2.—It is reported that the promoters of the electric railway to San Diego will apply to the Trustees, Tuesday evening, for a franchise for the operation of the line within the city limits. The latest report is that the survey was made in the interests of the Santa Fé, which may extend its line to San Diego, by the way of El Cajon.

Before the coming of another season the Escondido Fruit Growers' Association will increase the capacity of its packing-house to at least fifty carloads. Each of the packing-houses have about twenty-five carloads of lemons in the curing houses. The fruit is being shipped at the rate of eight carloads per month.

A question has been raised as to whether the Escondido Land and Town Company will pay the 5 per cent. assessment on the capital stock of the mutual water company for repairs to the system. The company owns 46,000 shares.

CORONA.

SALE OF BIXBY RANCH PENDING.

ANGELENO NEGOTIATES SALE OF PROPERTY.

Farm of Over Two Hundred Acres Is Held at One Hundred and Twenty-five Thousand Dollars. Building Permits Include Permission for Erection of Two Garages.

CORONA, July 2.—The sale of the Bixby ranch at Temescal is now pending, the purchasers being Ben White of Los Angeles and Assemblyman Collier of Corona. The property includes 237½ acres, of which forty are in oranges, seven in lemons, twelve in walnuts and thirteen in eucalyptus. There are a ranch-house, barns and other buildings. The water supply is a gravity flow from the mountains, where there are four tunnels and two reservoirs. The property is highly improved, and is held at about $125,000. Henry Daniels, the present superintendent, will remain.

Engineer H. C. Kellogg has reported to the City Trustees that chain and rodmen here are allowed $2.50 daily, while in Orange county such labor can be procured for $2.

Wallace Griffin has taken the position of Santa Fé freight clerk, to succeed George Drinkwater, who has been promoted to Los Angeles.

James Mayberry was thrown from a rig this morning, striking on his head, the blow rendering him unconscious for a short time.

BUILDING PERMITS.

Building permits just granted include a $5000 garage for A. L. Taber on East Sixth, to be 50x100, reinforced concrete, and a portion two stories: $2000, Russ Lumber Company's garage on West Sixth; $2500 for a two-story house for Mrs. H. A. Wood on Seventh street.

W. H. Jameson and family left today in their touring car for beach resorts, to be absent until after the Fourth.

Andrew Veach has returned from two weeks' vacation to San Francisco and San José. Mrs. Veach will remain two weeks longer in the North.

Miss Sue Birdsall entertained her Sunday-school class last evening.

Mrs. J. E. Hilt was hostess last evening at a gathering of young married people.

SAN BERNARDINO.

"DESERT CHARLEY" REAPPEARS, LEAVING ASYLUM.

Man Who Was Reported Dead Proves He Is Very Much Alive. Carload of Lemons Brings Close to Six Dollars Per Box in Sweltering New York.

SAN BERNARDINO, July 2.—"Desert Charley," leaving a private asylum where his brother, Jeweler Dromgold of San Francisco, placed him, is again walking the Southern Pacific ties between Colton and Yuma. For months he had been absent, but yesterday appeared at Yuma, climbing from beneath a box car.

His return came as a surprise, and news of it was doubted here until confirmed, as some months ago it was reported the man had died in the asylum. He appears to be in his usual physical and mental condition, and says that he will never leave his guard over the Southern Pacific right of way until he drops for the last time.

Charley Dromgold was formerly a track walker on the railroad's desert system. He suffered a sunstroke which left him deficient mentally. This was some years ago, and since then he has been tramping the ties, his first route being between Los Angeles and El Paso.

Hardships and old age finally reduced his tramp between Colton and Salton, and this is the first time in two years he has been so far east as Yuma. During his career he has saved the company thousands of dollars by preventing wrecks. The corporation looks after his wants and has given its trainmen orders to carry him free of charge at any time, and even the limited has orders to stop for him on the desert if he signals for a lift.

SUIT OVER ORANGES.

J. B. Leavens has commenced suit in the Superior Court against the Pinkham & McKevitt Co. of Los Angeles to recover $2800, alleged to be due for fruit sold to the company through its buyer, H. G. Hand. Other suits will follow, as the company is declared to be heavily involved with the orange growers of this valley, especially at Highland.

It is charged that Hand verbally bought the fruit of the orange growers for his company at so much per pound, that the company now seeks to settle with the growers on the consignment plan, that is, claiming that the fruit was merely taken by the company to sell for the growers.

If this contention is sustained many of the growers will lose the returns from their entire crop, which has just been harvested.

LEMONS HIGH.

John Gunderman, a prominent Highland lemon grower, holds the record for high returns in the sale of his crop. Yesterday, according to a wire he received today, from his agents in New York, he sold a car of lemons there for $2023, or close to $6 per box. At the same time he could have secured an increase over this price of $200, had the car been sold at Boston, from which center frantic dispatches were wired for it.

The intense heat of the past few days has resulted in giving this vale the "ague," for since yesterday morning at 5 o'clock there have been frequent temblors, none very pronounced, but severe enough to be felt in all parts of the valley. Reports from the desert country indicate that the same shaky condition is being experienced there.

SEES HIS COLONEL.

Capt. Baker of the San Bernardino company of the National Guard went to Los Angeles today and had a conference with Col. Schreiber, commanding the Seventh Regiment. The captain talked over his domestic troubles. It appeared to be a case of aggravated incompatability between the captain and his wife, as the matter was viewed by the regimental commander. After the conference the colonel stated that he saw no occasion for official action on the part of the National Guard in the matter.

"Hotel del Coronado" leads all.

The Great Chee Foo Extends His Hours at Dean's Drug Store Today to Accommodate the Crowds.

Never in the history of our city has there been a man who has caused so much talk and excitement as the Great Chee Foo, who has been demonstrating his New Life remedies at Dean's Drug store, 214 South Spring street for the last few weeks. When he first came and told the people what his medicines would cure, they were somewhat skeptical, but now the people have confidence in him and his medicines. The cures that his medicines are making daily is positive proof. It is a pleasure to know that his remedies have cured some of the worst cases in Los Angeles, and Chee Foo's reputation has spread like wildfire throughout Southern California. Sick people from all parts of the city and environs crowd Dean's Drug store daily to see Chee Foo. Some come on canes, some on crutches, others are deaf, some rheumatic and others paralyzed: the rich, the middle-class and the poor mingle together. It was announced that tomorrow would be Chee Foo's last day here, but people that his medicines have benefited are requesting him to remain over another week. Although many letters are received by the celebrated Chee Foo from other cities begging him to come and demonstrate the healing powers of his new discovery, Chee Foo says he is infatuated with this beautiful city, and will remain here a little longer. Tomorrow Chee Foo has been requested to be at Dean's Drug store until 9 o'clock at night, and every day next week from 9:30 till 5 p. m.

NURSES GET DIPLOMAS.

Commencement Exercises at Loma Linda Attract Visitors from Redlands and San Bernardino.

REDLANDS, July 2.—Commencement exercises of the Loma Linda Sanatorium College for Nurses, held at the sanatorium, night before last, were largely attended by persons from Redlands, San Bernardino, Colton and Los Angeles. The graduates accompanied by sixty undergraduates of the college entered the hall soon after 8 o'clock. The principal address was delivered by Elder E. E. Andross. The invocation was made by Elder J. A. Burden. A paper was read by Dr. Julia White. Miss Gertrude Johnston gave the valedictory. Afetr singing the class song the benediction was pronounced.

The graduates are: Misses Christine Cantbenn, Lula Darnell, Ellen Arnsey, Gertrude Johnston, Genevieve Lindhal, Mable Striplin, Frankie Stant, Messrs. Charles Arnsey and Leo Yost. The post-graduates are: Misses Edith Moody, Mable McMoran, Anna Nelson and Edith Runnels. The graduation exercises were followed by a reception.

Recent arrivals at La Casa Loma: Z. Horton, H. Gessney, Kansas City; Mrs. N. Abrams, Miss Mildred Abrams, San Francisco; Mrs. B. M. Thomas, Bert Thomas, J. D. Martin, Portland; C. S. Milliken, F. Gillmor, Pasadena; S. J. Johnson, L. B. Moorman, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Jones, C. S. Morse, D. M. Trott, A. G Yone, A. J. Babcock, Los Angeles; A B. Stickney, Mrs. Barney and children, St. Paul; Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Goodman, Cincinnati; Frank J. Cummings, Morristown, N. J.

Louis Alex, an employé of the J. J. Sucss bakery, had a leg broken and his face gashed necessitating several stitches day before yesterday, as the result of a motorcycle accident. He was riding alongside another motorcyclist when he lost control of his machine and ran into the other wheel. Both men were thrown off. The other lad escaped uninjured.

William Henry Lyon, who, in his earlier life was one of the most prominent in this section of California, died day before yesterday at Loma Linda Sanatorium, Mr. Lyon was a past Grand Master of Masons and had attained the thirty-second degree. He was a native of New York and was 92 years old. He came to San Francisco in 1850. In 1883 he went abroad for several years and in 1890 he came to Southern California and had since made his home in Redlands.

The members of the Y.M.C.A. Juniors returned last night from Newport Beach, where they were in camp for two weeks, in charge of General Secretary Hollabaugh.

ANAHEIM SHIPMENTS.

Growers of Potatoes Only Get Half Amount They Expected, But Still Make Profit.

ANAHEIM, July 2.—During the past five days twelve carloads of potatoes were shipped from this city to Los Angeles. The local growers are receiving $1 per sack net, f.o.b. which means that the output this week has brought to the growers here about $3600. Orange county growers expected to get at least $2 per sack on the season's output, but as Texas is supplying Arizona and other large eastern districts, very few California potatoes are going east of the California line. It is admitted that there is a fair profit at $1 per sack net.

City Librarian Armstrong and wife will leave in a few days for a month's visit at Seattle.

A five hundred party was given last night at the home of W. W. Crone. About twenty-five people were present.

J. O. Reed has commenced the erection of a $3500 residence on his place east of town.

Rural Route Carrier Hollingsworth will leave in a few days for a two weeks' visit to the Seattle fair.

William Hales is building a $2000 twenty-five - horse - power pumping plant on his place near town.

The Anaheim Investment Company is arranging to build ten residences in Anaheim and Fullerton.

F. Rodgers of Pasadena, today sold a four-acre improved place one mile east of town to Mrs. Brett for $2000. The property is set to walnuts.

Charles W. Hedges has been appointed rural carrier on route five.

Indisputable Evidence.

You have read our oft-repeated statement, "In use for over 30 years." It was in the early sixties that the prescription now universally known as Castoria was first made use of. With a record of over fifty, under five years of age, out of every hundred deaths, it was the AMBITION OF EVERY PHYSICIAN to discover a remedy suitable for the ailments of infants and children that would decrease this distressing mortality. In Castoria that relief has been found.

Let us take the statistics covering the deaths in the City of New York for the past 30 years, and here we find the benificent effect of a combination of drugs excluding opiates and narcotics so long sought for, namely: CASTORIA.

Of the total number of deaths in New York City in 1870, 50 per cent. were under five years of age; in 1880, 46 per cent.; in 1890, 40 per cent.; in 1900, 35 per cent. only. Just stop to think of it.

Until 1897 no counterfeits or imitations of Castoria appeared on drug store shelves, but since that date Mr. Fletcher has been called upon to suppress a number of these frauds. While the record for 1900 does not come down to our expectation it is owing to the carelessness of mothers when buying Castoria. The signature of Chas. H. Fletcher is the only safeguard.

What is CASTORIA

Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. It is Pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. Its age is its guarantee. It destroys Worms and allays Feverishness. It cures Diarrhœa and Wind Colic. It relieves Teething Troubles, cures Constipation and Flatulency. It assimilates the Food, regulates the Stomach and Bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. The Children's Panacea—The Mother's Friend.

FACTS, FEATURES AND FANCIES FOR WOMEN

BY MISS SYDNEY FORD.

"Little white shoes, side by side like a pair of doves—of very small, slim doves" writes a sentimentalist mooning over the shirt-waisted, linen-skirted summer girl clad in immaculate white.

Those same "little white doves' require lots of cleaning though to keep them spotless. What do you think? A summer girl confessed to me the other day that she had no less than eleven pairs of white canvas shoes in her summer outfit. "And the whole bunch cost me only $4.79," she added.

"Where on earth—"I began.

"Bargain sales" she nodded. "You see 'twas this way. First I bought me a lovely pair for 79 cents—regular $2.25 shoes they were, too, but an odd size—I wear an unusually narrow shoe you see—there's where I have the advantage. Three days later I was down town again and went 'round to the same store to see what other shoe bargains I might pick up and what do you think? They were selling those identical shoes for four bits a pair. I picked out six pairs—all different styles—and hugged myself for joy at the bargain I had. But, listen—the next week I found in that same department store another lot of white canvas shoes—just as good as those I had already bought—at 25 cents a pair. I took a dollar's worth—and wasn't I provoked to think I had paid 79 cents for the first of those eleven pairs of shoes when, if I had waited, I might have had the whole lot for two bits a pair? It's cheaper to buy than to clean them at that rate."

Sleeping in the Open.

Every camper, hunter, convalescent or other person who, by chance or choice, has slept out of doors under canvas or under the starlight, knows the joy and comfort of it. More and more, in this climate, is the custom of sleeping out of doors growing. Scarcely a home in the city now but some member of the household sleeps on a porch or balcony and frequently the whole family acquire this wholesome habit. Heretofore the only difficulty which presented itself was the absence of a suitable porch whereon to place one's cot but that has now been obviated by the new tent-cot which I have before mentioned in this department. I find that these are very much in demand. They can be set up on the lawn, in the back yard or on the sands at the beach. The possibility of snakes or toads or any creeping thing disturbing the sleeper, as sometimes happens when he rolls up in his sleeping bag, is eliminated in the tent cot for it stands on a strong wooden frame two feet above the ground. This cot is covered with a canopy of duck which has end windows and a large side opening.

"We sell a good many to motorists," said the manager of the house where these tent-cots are on sale. "When starting off on long trips which involve several days, one or more of these tent cots are taken along and when night falls are set up under the trees, on the beach or wherever the party happens to stop, and they are like so many individual bedrooms. They fold easily and the whole arrangement weighs less than thirty pounds. I know a railroad man who goes about in his private car inspecting roads and he always takes along a tent-cot so that, wherever he stops, he can pull out his cot and sleep in the open."

To tired mothers who have the care of little ones, the tent cot is an undisguised blessing. She can set it up anywhere on the lawn, drop the side opening and fasten it on the outside, leaving the end curtains up to admit light and air, and there, secure from heat, flies or mosquitoes the little one may drowse or play safely and mother will know just where to find her.

Do You Want to Grow Thin?

The girl who would train down should not starve herself; she should eat plenty of the right kind of food. Most people are fat because they overeat fat-making foods. Here is a diet list that, according to an authority, faithfully persevered in, never fails to take off pounds of superfluous flesh. If you want to get thin you may eat:

Fish. Nearly all fresh fish, boiled.

Meats. Lean beef, mutton or lamb, chicken, game (sparingly.)

Eggs. Boiled or poached on toast.

Farinaceous. Stale bread, dry toast or crusts (sparingly.)

Vegetables. Spinach, lettuce, celery, cresses, asparagus, cauliflower, onions, white cabbage, tomatoes, radishes, olives, [illegible] entirely probable that the neck did grow and wax fat, even in the short time allotted to the rejuvenation process, but do not imagine that you can put on flesh at the rate of a pound a week. It takes time, but, if persevered in, the persistent application of olive oil well massaged, will surly round out the thinnest neck and shoulders. The best results are attained with warm oil. To apply this first wash the neck with warm water and a mild, pure soap; then rinse carefully and apply a cloth or flannel wrung out of hot water and folded several times. This compress should be kept on until it begins to cool, and then another is applied, but do not prolong the treatment more than ten minutes. This softens the skin and opens the pores. The oil, slightly warmed, should be rubbed in, giving especial attention to the hollows, which should be massaged with a firm, rotary motion.

Desserts. Ripe fruits only—acid varieties preferable.

Drinks. One cup of tea or coffee without milk, cream or sugar, or one glass of pure water sipped at the end of the meal.

You must not eat:

Soups, salmon, bluefish, eels, salt fish, pork, veal, sausages, fats, potatoes, macaroni, oatmeal, hominy, spices, rice, beets, carrots, turnips, parsnips, puddings, pies, pastry, cakes, sugars, sweets, milk, cream, sweet wines, champagne, malt or spirituous liquors.

New Wedding Wrinkles.

Do you remember the big, red peonies that grew along the garden path at grandmother's house away back in New England? There is a tremendous fad just now for using these selfsame peonies for wedding decorations in the East. They look not unlike mammoth roses, and, in a land where genuine roses are too scarce to use lavishly, answer the purpose very well.

At the wedding recently of the head master of Eastbourne College, England, the three pages in the bridal procession were garbed as scholars, in black satin knee breeches, buckled shoes, and scarlet silk gowns, with white shirt fronts. Each carried a mortar-board hat and a scarlet-bound prayer book.

To Improve the Neck.

How to get a pretty neck is the problem that is worrying wrinkles in the brow of the girl who wants to wear the popular Dutch neck. This weather, by the way, is certainly giving a tremendous boost to the low-cut neck fad, for what can be more comfortable than a bare neck these warm summer days, sans collar, sans covering of any sort?

But, oh, the scrawny necks that have been uncovered to public gaze by this fashion! It is enough to make angels weep! And the dark lines created by the stiff, high collars! So, milady, fatten up your neck if you have the slightest hope of making even a presentable appearance in the Dutch cut ordained by relentless Fashion.

I have heard some such fairy tale (and probably you have) as this: A girl was invited to a full-dress affair and wanted to wear a low-cut gown, but her neck was literally nothing but skin and bones and mostly hollows, not to say deep ravines. She hied herself to the store and laid in a supply of olive oil and withdrew to the secrecy of her chamber. During the fortnight intervening before the function she spent most of the time massaging that thin, bony neck with olive oil, and when she appeared on the evening of the ball—presto! there was a dear, dimpled fat neck in place of the erstwhile scrawny skin and bones.

Now, all that reads well and it is Frills and Fluffs.

Colored linens are taking the lead this season instead of the white.

Wide embroideries and soutached insets are among much-used trimmings.

White crochet buttons are seen on some of the smart white serge suits.

A chou of ribbon or some flimsy stuff is seen on many a smart parasol.

Closely plaited frills form the trimming on some of the new parasols.

Black willow plumes on a hat of white straw make a striking combination.

Rubberized mohair is among the popular materials for sensible raincoats.

The polka dots are used in stunning designs on hand-embroidered lingerie.

nue. As soon as the accident occurred he jumped out of the automobile and disappeared.

"I was going west on Seventh street. As I approached Alvarado, an automobile going at terrific speed came up from the rear. I was near the center of the tracks. This automobile came past me, almost ran me down as it passed, careenedand swerved near to the gutter in righting itself, and then disappeared in a streak of dust. To avoid being run down by this car I was compelled to throw the wheel over and turn almost to the south curb. It was then my car ran down the two gentlemen who were making a diagonal crossing at Seventh and Alvarado. One of them jumped to avoid the collision. The other was struck, and thrown to the ground. I saw that medical aid would be necessary and I ran west on Seventh street to where Dr. Jahns in his automobile was just turning into the garage. I told him there had been an accident, and he came back with me, but he was too late to do anything for the man. I waited then until the officer arrived. In the meantime a number of people crowded about the car. Some were greatly excited. Others told me that my machine was going at a moderate rate, and that they would give me their names as witnesses in my behalf. I have never had an accident before in all my experience as a driver."

Abrams is about 25 years of age and lives at No. 814 South Broadway.

FINGER MYSTERY.

The police are making a careful investigation of the case. It is believed that a lamp of the automobile struck Lowman. His head was fearfully mangled. Another mysterious incident connected with the case is the disappearance of the little finger of Lowman's left hand. The street was searched but the finger was not found. It is stated by Lowman's friends that he wore a valuable diamond ring on that finger.

Lowman's wife has been very ill lately and his friends are fearful of the result when she learns of his sudden death. He was a pioneer business man of Los Angeles, 45 years of age, standing high in many organizations. He was a great reader and student.

His daughter is a student in the Stanford University.

POLICE INQUIRY.

Soon after Abrams was taken to the Police Station he was taken into the office of Chief of Police Dishman. Abrams gave a statement to the police officers and was then taken back to his cell.

"We will hold Mr. Abrams," said Chief Dishman last night, "pending a further investigation of the case. We wish to secure the names of as many witnesses as possible. Those that will appear at the inquest are the following men: A. M. Brown, cashier American National Bank; J. W. Taylor of the Westlake Pharmacy; R. C. Duke, No. 2102½ West Seventh street; Pierce Thomason, No. 2789 West Eighth street; John Duncanson, No. 1201 Lake street; Gray Pattillo, No. 1201 Lake street, and Walter Holland of No. 720 Coronado street.

FACE DEATH IN HACK.

Family Returning from Funeral Have Narrow Escape When the Team Runs Away.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

STOCKTON, July 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] While returning from a funeral today, J. D. Pridgeon, with his wife and two daughters, had a remarkable escape from death. They were in a closed hack when the driver, Fred Seeley, had a fit and fell from the box, causing the horses to run away. The family made an effort to get out, but it was some time before they could open the doors. Mr. an Mrs. Pridgeon jumped first and both fell to the pavement. The husband was quite seriously injured, his nose being broken and face lacerated. Mrs. Pridgeon struck on the back of her head and suffered great pain for several hours.

The two daughters manager to jump from the vehicle without suffering more than bruises. The horses were captured after a long run without the hack being damaged. The accident created great excitement in the residence district, while members of the family were jumping from the carriage in its wild flight.
